RHODE ISLAND RED CLAIMS CHAMPIONSHIP. Mrs. Maud Partridge of 436 South Evergreen street with an egg about the size of a woodpecker's, now claims the championship in the small hen egg class.

WALLA WALLA, June 2.—University of Washington won the third conference track and field meet Saturday, with 26 points; Washington State 25 1-3; Whitman 27 1-3; University of Oregon 24; University of Idaho 19; Oregon Agricultural college 8 1-3; Clyde of Washington, broke the mile record and finished in 4:21 2-5; Windnagle of Oregon lowered the quarter mile dash to 50 2-5; Clyde equalled the conference record by half a mile in two minutes; McCrosky, W. S. C. negotiated the low hurdles in 25 3-5 seconds, within 3-5 seconds of the conference record.

"DOLL SHOP" TO BE GIVEN BY ODD FELLOWS LODGE. The I. O. O. F. of Medford, being so charmed with the very few specialties from "The Doll Shop" at their vaudeville during convention week, decided at once to produce this very delightful piece at the Page theater, and under their auspices, June 13 and 14, Edger has full charge of the production.

OBITUARY. Theodore Diamond. The funeral of Theodore Diamond will be this afternoon at three o'clock from the son's residence, 15 Ross avenue, Rev. E. O. Eldridge officiating. Interment in I. O. O. F. cemetery, under the auspices of the I. O. O. F. lodge.

DIAMOND.—The funeral services for Theodore Diamond were held Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the home of his son, 15 Ross avenue, Rev. E. O. Eldridge officiating. The Odd Fellows had charge of the services at the grave.

CRYDERMAN.—The funeral services for Mrs. Mary Cryderman who died May 20 at the home of her piece in Oakotoks, Canada, were held Sunday at the Presbyterian church in Central Point.

BUD MAY YET FIGHT CHAMPION RITCHIE JULY 4

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 2.—Mystery injected into the lightweight championship boxing prospect for July 4 makes it more than possible, in the opinion of fight fans here today, that the present situation will take a curious twist before the present week is done.

At present the two big coast bouts eyed are: Champion Willie Ritchie versus Joe Rivers in San Francisco. Bud Anderson versus Leach Cross of New York in Los Angeles.

The way the four fighters may ultimately be paired off, however, may be radically different. The fight card, before the week ends may read:

Champion Willie Ritchie versus Bud Anderson, in San Francisco. Joe Rivers versus Leach Cross in Los Angeles.

If Levy clings to his determination to force timeside weight and the deadlock cannot be broken, Promoter Graney, it is believed, will spring the second string to his bow in the person of Bud Anderson.

Central Point forfeited Sunday's game in the eighth inning to Medford, refusing to continue because of the umpire's decision was not to their liking. The score at the time stood 5 to 5.

With two out in the eighth inning, a Central Pointer on third attempted to steal home. He was declared out by Umpire Wilkinson but the Central Pointers alleged interference with the runner by Medford players and walked out of the game as they had started to do in the game of a week ago.

Batteries for Central Point are: McIntyre and Wilson, for Medford, Hurd and Hill. Umpires, Tom Pauley and John Wilkinson.

RHODE ISLAND RED CLAIMS CHAMPIONSHIP. Mrs. Maud Partridge of 436 South Evergreen street with an egg about the size of a woodpecker's, now claims the championship in the small hen egg class.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—With the white mail clerks demanding separate quarters from negro clerks on all mail cars, Alex H. Stephens of San Francisco, newly appointed general superintendent of the railway mail service, will have a big job on his hands when he reaches Washington. The white clerks also have demanded in a petition to the post master general that the races be segregated.

BEACHEY, MASTER OF THE AIR: WILL NEVER FLY AGAIN

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—"They won't call me the master birdman any more," said Lincoln Beachey, the aeronaut. "I am done. I have flown my last. I wouldn't enter an aeroplane again at the point of a gun. It was a morbid curiosity to see something happen, like it has happened to others—they wanted to see me killed."

Horace Kearney's mother begged him in Chicago last September not to teach her son any new tricks. But he did. Two months later Kearney was killed.

Charles Welsh's wife asked her husband not to do anything like Beachey's spirals. Welsh said that inasmuch as Beachey did them he had to in order to "get the money."

Not long ago Mrs. Eugene Ely wrote to him when he sent her some tickets for an exhibition: "Charlie would have been with me now if he had never seen you fly."

"So I am done," said Beachey. "I am not going to take any more chances myself and I am not going to lead others to their deaths."

CATTLE PRICES SUFFER A CUT

PORTLAND, June 2.—Receipts for the week have been: Cattle, 853; calves, 59; hogs, 2014; sheep, 4576; horses, 26.

Cattle values suffered a severe cut during the week and the market is generally 25 to 50 cents lower. Steers received the brunt of the attack. Best bullocks were selling steady $8.25 to $8.50 toward the close with good grass stuff around 8 cents. Butcher stuff was slow to participate in the slump as heifers brought $8.00 and cows $7.80, although these prices are not in existence today.

Good bulls and stags are steady to a shade weaker, while calves remain unchanged. Heavy liquidation from drought afflicted sections on California and Rocky mountain states, has hurried along the annual advent of the grass cattle run. Beef is not as plentiful as in former years and the trade expects a comparatively steady market all spring and summer.

The hog market displayed strong "come back" qualities from opening to closing and gained approximately 25c. Best light swine sold steady Wednesday $8.50 and $8.55. Demand has been brisk and big enough to absorb receipts which have been better than the average. Uncertainty as to the market status the coming week prevents much speculation.

Sheep house proved an irregular affair up to Thursday and thereafter appeared to be steadier. Killers are satisfied on poor mutton and lambs. Are calling for prime stuff which is fairly firm. Wethers at $6 and ewes at $5.25 and spring lambs $7.00 to $7.25, are price tops in the various sheep classes. Liquidation large and range of prices wide.

MAIL CLERKS SEEK SEPARATION FROM NEGRO

WASHINGTON, June 2.—With the white mail clerks demanding separate quarters from negro clerks on all mail cars, Alex H. Stephens of San Francisco, newly appointed general superintendent of the railway mail service, will have a big job on his hands when he reaches Washington. The white clerks also have demanded in a petition to the post master general that the races be segregated.

BARTER AND TRADE

(By C. E. Whistler.) Chapter 1.

Fortunately for us the experiences of the past are recorded on history's page. Wisdom says, profit by the experience of others, and the prudent do so.

Life is maintained at the expense of life. Labor is the universal requirement and produces the necessities of life. But it is impossible for the individual to supply all of his necessities by his own labor because of his limitations. He must depend upon the labors of others. But others are under no obligations to support him gratuitously. He must labor for others or exchange his surplus products for the surplus products of others.

This reciprocity we call barter and trade, and has been carried on in some form as far back as the page of history records the actions of man. The method of obtaining the fruits of the labors of others has comprised every conceivable device of man. Its physical scope is equal exchange through agreement of both parties. Theft, robbery, piracy and invasion, its intellectual scope is: truthful representation, cunning, deceit, and falsehood.

The science of economics teaches that equal exchange, which can only be effected through truthful representation, is the only justifiable method of meeting man's necessities. To be scientific is to be ever learning, and wisdom takes cognizance of results. History records not only the character but also the results of the experience of man in his endeavor to meet the problem of life through the expedient of barter and trade. The adequacy of method depends upon the complexity of exchange.

If two men are producing in adjoining fields it is not difficult to exchange products by basing values upon the amount of labor required to produce each article to be exchanged.

But distance is an almost impassable barrier to a direct exchange of certain commodities. So while our scope of exchange is being continually widened, expediency forces us to simplify our methods of making equal exchange. In order that producers at widely divergent points of production may exchange that of which they have a surplus, by the employment of a safe and conservative method.

Equal exchange necessitates the art of computation. Computation scientifically speaking is but the science of making equivalents. All computations require a base, which base we call primary, and as the necessities of life are the product of labor, so all computations in exchange accept labor as the primary base.

Necessity gives rise to experiment. New conditions demand new methods. Experiment proves their efficiency. Wisdom discards that which has proven inadequate and adopts that which meets the necessity. Ideas or theories are but an hypothesis until demonstration is made and the success or failure of the attempt proves whether the method was scientific or unscientific.

Failure and success has followed the world's efforts to meet the requirement of human needs through the attempts that have been made to exchange the necessities of life, and a resume of plans and results should be beneficial.

Primitive man employed primitive methods, but was sufficiently scientific to act in accord with the highest needs of the times. The modern intricacies of competitive operation were not known. Exchanges were not computed on such close margins or upon so large a base as is demanded by the exigencies of the present day, and so the following table of comparative value could and did meet the emergencies of equal exchange at that time:

Ten hides equal one sheep; ten sheep equal one cow; ten cows equal one slave.

WOLGAST TO FIGHT RED WATSON JUNE 20

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 2.—In spite of objections by Manager Tom Jones, Ad Wolgast will meet Red Watson in San Francisco June 20 if Jim Griffin, who is bidding for the former lightweight king's services, meets his terms. Wolgast made this declaration today, with the addition that his decision does not mean that he will break with Jones, for the reason that when the time comes Jones will "come around."

"Sure I'll fight Watson," Wolgast said at Doyle's camp, where he is training for a battle at Vernon June 10 with Johnny Dundee. "I would not let anything like that get away if Griffin comes through with the price. That's all I'm waiting for."

HOOD RIVER JOINS CROWERS COMBINE

HOOD RIVER, Ore., June 2.—The success of the North Pacific Fruit Distributors Association today seemed assured through the action of the Hood River Apple Growers Association joining the organization.

The association, which was formed several months ago, will provide a central selling organization, to handle the output of many of the largest fruit growing districts in Oregon, Washington, Montana and Idaho.

H. F. Davidson of Hood River was elected president of the North Pacific Distributors' Association, at the two day session which closed here late last night to succeed W. T. Clark of Wenatchee, who resigned because his district voted against joining the association.

"Father grows younger every day." And his new photograph hits him to a "T."

The old portrait taken twenty years ago, made him look so serious and old-fashioned—not a bit like he really is.

We wouldn't part with it of course. But isn't it splendid to have a picture of him as we know him—just as he looks today.

And father says that he's glad he gave in and had it made—that having your picture taken is far from an unpleasant experience nowadays.

There's a photographer in your town.
