ORGANIZED BOYHOOD KILLS HOODLUMISM

NEW YORK, June 6.—The triumph of "organized boyhood" over street gangs was celebrated here today when 10,000 New York school boys gathered in Central Park and competed in athletic games held under the auspices of the Public Schools Athletic League and the Amateur Athletic Union. The Athletic League games are held annually but today's was staged as a celebration of the tenth anniversary of the league's victory over the lawless juvenile gangs which flourished in the great city ten years ago, and from which were graduated many of New York's notorious gangsters and gunmen. Ten years ago, or even four years ago, the bringing together of 10,000 of New York's boys probably would have resulted in broken window panes and street lamps, torn up shrubbery throughout Central Park, and anarchy in a small way for a mile about the playground. Through-out the program of hotly contested events today there was no untoward happening. Less than a score of extra police were assigned to "cover" the games, and that number was sent to keep the older ones who want to see the games off the field and not to keep order among the 10,000 young dynamo of energy who went through their paces with as much zest and form as any band of miniature athletes ever displayed at Olympic games or less notable affairs.

In the great demonstration of today was found an outlet for that energy which, prior to the organization of the league, went into rock battles in the streets, the chasing of stray cats and dogs and the planning of innumerable forays on gardens and the pestering of go-cart merchants and small goods grocers who had the temerity to display too tentatively their fruits and raw edibles.

FILTHY CAMPS CAUSE LUMBERMEN TO STRIKE

EVERETT, Wash., June 6.—Charging that the lumber camp bunkhouses are more filthy than Anderson prison, members of the I. W. W. have tied up a number of logging camps near here. Just how strong the strike will be, will not be known until Sunday. At present between two and three hundred men are out. They demand sanitary bunkhouses, spring mattresses and clean bedding furnished free, clean towels and soap furnished free, with baths and dry rooms, and for good measure add an eight-hour day with $3 wage in the field and $2.50 in the mills.

EAGLE POINT EAGLETS.

By A. C. Howlett. Corbin Edgell, a prominent orchardist who bought a tract of land off the old Bradshaw place, was a pleasant caller last week. Irvin Daley and a young man by the name of Steward, who had been visiting W. C. Daley on the north fork of Little Butte creek, returned to Medford last Friday.

Memorial day was properly commemorated here, many who have relatives buried visiting the different cemeteries, and quite a number of the old veterans went to Central Point to join their comrades there. Last Sunday morning your Eagle Point correspondent started for Trail to be on hand and join with the people in that section in the children's day exercises on Sunday, June 1. It was planned to have Rev. M. C. Davis and Rev. H. N. Smith, the state Sunday school missionary and state superintendent of the Congregational church of this state of Sunday schools, to be there and conduct the religious exercises, but owing to Rev. Davis having a mishap with a dog while riding on his motorcycle, and having his foot badly bruised, he was unable to come and Rev. Smith was detained in Portland, so I had to go alone and do the best I could. There was a large crowd assembled, about 119 or 120, and after the entertainment by the Sunday school children in the forenoon we had a picnic dinner in the shade of a large ash tree on the bank of the creek, then returned to the hall, where W. H. Merriman led in the Sunday school exercises and then I preached to a large and seemingly appreciative audience. At that time, at the request of quite a number of the citizens of Elk Creek, I announced that I would preach on Tuesday night in the Pencee school house, where I was met by all in the neighborhood except about five or six who could not attend. During Monday and Tuesday I spent most of my time canvassing for the Mail Tribune and collecting what I could from delinquent subscribers, and I found quite a number who seemed to be much surprised to learn that they were in arrears from a few months to a few years—and in some instances they would look for an hour for their receipt for the last payment and finally conclude that they had misplaced it, and in some instances would pay up, while others would say, "Well, I will be in town and see that editor and make him straighten it up." And while I am on that subject will remark that it would be a good idea for all of the subscribers to the weekly and daily Mail Tribune to hunt up their receipts for I expect to visit the most of them who receive their mail in the following postoffices: Wellen, Brownsboro, Lake Creek, Butte Falls, Derby, Sams Valley and Eagle Point, in the near future and try to straighten up their accounts with the paper, and would suggest further that those who know themselves to be in arrears to keep a little cash on hand for the occasion.

two-reel picture and one of the most successful ever turned out by the Thanhouser company.

The story concerns a young sculptor's love for a prominent society woman, a "cat," of the worst order. She poses for him to win his love to satisfy her own vanity. She is successful in spite of the fact that the sculptor is warned to beware of her. In a dream the sculptor thinks he lives in the days of Diogenes, and falls in love with the wealthy Athenian. The statue comes to life, but instead of returning its maker's love falls in love with the wealthy Athenian. The sculptor wakes to find his own love untrue and after wrecking the statue he has made of her, dies himself. The woman meets the just reward of her heartlessness.
