

PREDICTS NEW AREA OF PROSPERITY WITH OPENING OF CANAL

SAN FRANCISCO, June 20.—That a new era of prosperity on the Pacific Ocean is dawning to be further stimulated by the opening of the Panama Canal, is the prediction today of Sir Edgar Vincent, chairman of the Royal Commission on Trade Conditions, who is here, after spending six weeks in New Zealand and three months in Australia.

Sir Edgar is accompanied by Commissioner Bowring, of New Zealand, Secretary E. J. Harding, assistant secretary A. H. Bridgman and W. Howe Green, the party forming part of the commission of eleven members appointed, one for each of the British dominions and six for the home country.

"Trade conditions in Australia," Sir Edgar said, "look particularly hopeful and the possibilities of development of commerce with the United States are immense. The transportation of cold storage meats to America will be one of the features of the increased trade that is bound to come. Already a number of American meat firms are locating in Australia. A large part of the traffic between the Antipodes and America, in my opinion, will be carried through the Panama Canal."

After a brief stay in the United States, the party will sail for London, where the full commission will meet in October. Later South Africa will be visited, and following this trade conditions in Canada and the United States will be exhaustively studied.

A Correction.

Through a mistake Dr. Rickert's ad in last evening's issue of this paper was made to read "over Daniels."

It should have read "over Deuel" as the doctor is still to be found at the same location over the old Kentner store on East Main street, the firm name of which has recently been changed to F. K. Deuel & Co.

Pitcher Nap Rucker of the Superbas is still mowing down the heavy sluggers. When the old boy is right and he turns on the heat, it's whiff, whiff for the timber pushers' union.

MALE SUFFRAGETTE STILL ALIVE BUT CANNOT RECOVER

LONDON, June 20.—Harold Hewitt, the "male suffragette" who flung himself at the head of Tracer, August Belmont's entry in the Gold Cup race at Ascot yesterday, is still alive today, but has no chance of recovery. He is in Cottage Hospital at Ascot, the physicians there fearing that to move him elsewhere might cause immediate death.

Friends of Hewitt, who is a student at Cambridge University, deny that he is connected with any suffragette organization, but admit that he is an ardent advocate of equal suffrage. One of those friends said today that Hewitt recently told him: "I expect to go out (meaning to die) soon, and when I do, I hope to do something useful, like Emily Davidson."

A diary was found in Hewitt's room, the final entry in which read: "If I fall in my intention to stop the Gold Cup race, I hope I shan't hurt the jockeys. Oh, the weariness of these races and the crowds they attract! They bring out all that is worst in humanity."

NAVY AVIATOR KILLED FALLS 1600 FEET

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 20.—Ensign William Billingsby, a navy aviator, was killed today while making a hydroplane flight over Chesapeake Bay. Flying at an altitude of 1600 feet over the water, he fell from the machine and was dead when picked up.

FOURTEEN VICTIMS OF VALLEJO WRECK

VALLEJO, Cal., June 20.—Fourteen, possibly fifteen, lives probably will be the total of death taken before night as the result of the head-on collision between the Calistoga-San Francisco flyer and the regular southbound train on the Napa Valley electric railroad near here. Investigation into the cause of the wreck is in progress today, but whether the wholesale tragedy was due to a misunderstanding of orders or to neglect has not yet been determined.

Most of the twenty-four injured, who were brought to the general hospital here, are doing as well as could be expected. Only two of the sufferers are believed to be in a dangerous condition, and it is their names which are expected to swell the original death list of thirteen.

Mrs. A. Gail, of San Francisco, is suffering from a possible fracture of the spine, and is partially paralyzed. Louis Silverman, also of San Francisco, has a fractured skull, and may also die during the day.

others before he could be overpowered. Herr Moltman, one of the teachers, attempted to disarm the maniac and was fatally shot.

The insane man then stood at a window and poured a volley of shots into a group of boys playing outside, wounding five. His lust to kill apparently satisfied, the lunatic fled, but was captured by a mob and almost beaten to death before he was rescued by the police. When he was searched six revolvers were found in his pockets. Papers on his person bore the name of Enrich Schmidt.

WIRELESS SCANDAL CLOSED BY COMMONS

LONDON, June 20.—The Marconi Wireless scandal involving Chancellor Lloyd-George and Attorney General Isaacs, is closed today, following the adoption by the house of commons of a resolution accepting the expression of regret on the part of the two officials that they had made purchases of wireless stocks. The resolutions also repudiate the charges of corruption against the ministers which proved to be absolutely false.
