

CAMINETTI SIRE BRANDED UNFIT, MANN AROUSED

Kahn of California Asks Transmission of Papers in National Scandal—Minority Leader Fires Broadside.

North Carolinian Declares McNab Office Seeker—Mann Declares Father Disqualified to Serve.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—Asserting that Anthony Caminetti is unfit to act as commissioner general of immigration and to assume charge of the government's work of running down white slavers among aliens because of his connection with the McNab-McReynolds' controversy, Congressman Mann, minority leader in the house, this afternoon demanded a separate investigation of the whole affair.

Representative Kahn appeared before the committee. He denounced Attorney General McReynolds, commended McNab for resigning when he was ordered to postpone the trials, and insisted that President Wilson's explanation of the affair was not satisfactory. Kahn, however, consented to an amendment to his resolution inserting the words "if compatible with the public interest" in the clause "instructing" the attorney general to transmit the papers in the cases. These words were inserted so that the government might not be forced to publish evidence on which it bases its demand for sentence upon the alleged white slavers and the officials of the so-called fuel trust.

Kahn's statement before the committee was devoted mostly to a review of the Caminetti case. He pointed out McNab's statements that he had warned Attorney General McReynolds three times against delaying action.

"The people of California," Kahn declared, are worked over these cases as they have not been in years. My resolution is not an unusual measure—similar procedure has been taken many times. This committee owes it to itself, to the house and to the country at large to report the resolution favorably and place the entire correspondence before the people.

"McNab was willing to do his duty, but he was frustrated. Now the administration proposes to do the very thing which McNab wanted to do, but by employing special counsel at a large fee."

At this point, Kahn clashed with Representative Webb of North Carolina, who asserted that McNab is a candidate for governor of California and was "playing politics" by "rushing into print to secure cheap notoriety."

Continuing Mann attacked the president and the attorney general for discharging McNab, and for what he called "seeking to distort McNab's motives." He compared the president and McReynolds to "frightened rabbits" in their haste to direct the trial of Caminetti and Diggs.

ICEMEN WALK OUT; EAST SWELTERS

CINCINNATI, Ohio, June 26.—Suffering here as the result of an ice famine caused by a strike of the wagon drivers, is acute and the temperature is high and rising. Secretary Sullivan, of the state board of arbitration, is here trying to settle the strike. The city continues to buy and distribute ice in an attempt to ameliorate the miseries of the poor.

GLENDALE BANK ROBBER CAUGHT; LOOT RECOVERED

Ray Diamond, Tamed by Mountains Hardship Held at Gold Beach—Hot Search Balked His Surrender any Sooner.

Ten Days' Flight Ends in Village Jail—Bravado all Gone—Money is Hidden Along Trail.

GOLD BEACH, Ore., June 26.—Staggering out in the open trail near here at noon today, Ray Diamond, the young man who robbed the Glendale State Bank of nearly $3000 last week, was arrested by the sheriff here. He made no resistance, declaring he was exhausted and could no longer stand the hardships of the mountains.

"I intended to give myself up several days ago," Diamond declared, "but was afraid to come in while the search was hot."

Almost all the money taken from Assistant Cashier Smith was found on Diamond. The rest, it is thought, is hidden somewhere on the trail.

It was a week desperado indeed who stood handcuffed in the little lockup here. All his bravado was gone and he appeared to be thoroughly worn out by his ten day flight through the timber.

Diamond, who is about 22 years old, walked into the Glendale State Bank a week ago last Monday, engaged Assistant Cashier B. D. Smith in conversation and then pointed a rifle at him, ordering him to throw up his hands. Diamond then helped himself to the money which Smith had just taken from the safe to begin the day's business.

Fleeing with the booty, Diamond exchanged shots with Smith, none of the bullets taking effect. Sheriff Quine at once started on the trail, but withdrew the bloodhounds when he found Diamond had fled into the mountains and had probably making his way toward this place.

WHITE GIRL'S BLACK FIANCE SELF SLAYER

OAKLAND, Cal., June 26.—Lacking the moral courage of the hero of the "Nigger" Charles M. Sheldon's sensational novel on the negro problem to give up the world of the whites, in which he had been reared, and return to his own race, and fearful lest the girl he loved, a white nurse of San Francisco, would yield to race repugnance and falter on the wedding day, Rosecoe C. Galbraith, a barber, whose mother was an octonero, shot himself fatally here today.

Galbraith stood in the doorway of his room in a Telegraph avenue lodging house and shot himself through the stomach, dying half an hour later. He left two farewell notes, hinting at the dread burden which had become too heavy for him. One of these notes was simply addressed to "Anna," presumably the girl to whom he was engaged. She is believed to be in a San Francisco sanitarium, from remarks Galbraith made to friends.

Galbraith had passed as a white man among his friends, but it is said to have recently informed his fiancée of the fact that negro blood coursed in his veins.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 26.—The number of women entitled to vote in the United States was doubled today when Governor E. F. Dunne at 9:55 o'clock signed the suffrage bill recently passed by the state legislature. The new law enfranchises 1,600,000 women in Illinois.

MONEY LENDER'S WIDOW OFFERS $5000 REWARD

Police Think Borrower May Have Murdered Rich Los Angeles Man—Robbery Theory Advanced as the Motive.

Failure to Return Home Aroused Wife's Suspicion—Missing Account Book Clue.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 26.—Five thousand dollars reward was offered here today for the arrest and conviction of the murderer or murderers of Charles E. Pendell, wealthy realty and loan man, who was done to death in his office in Temple block late yesterday. Mrs. C. E. Pendell, the murdered man's wife, offered the reward, through Sheriff W. A. Hammell, who was a friend of the dead man. In making the announcement, Sheriff Hammell told the newspapermen:

"In order to ascertain as soon as possible the exact hour of Pendell's death, an additional reward of $100 will be given to anyone who visited Pendell's office between the hours of 12 and 2 o'clock yesterday. A reward of $1,000 will be paid for information that will lead to the identity of the murderer, whether he is arrested or not. For the arrest and conviction of the murderer or murderers, Mrs. Pendell offers $5,000."

When Pendell did not come home for dinner last night, Mrs. Pendell became alarmed, and telephoning J. L. Martin, a lifelong friend of the murdered man, had him accompany her to Pendell's office. They found Pendell's body lying on a couch, while the whole room was in disorder.

Two theories are advanced as to the probable motive for the crime, one being robbery. The small safe in Pendell's office was rifled. Two diamonds, valued at $4,000, worn by Pendell, were missing, as was a book in which he kept notes of money loaned out.

The missing book leads to the theory that some borrower might have quarreled with the murdered man and struck him down out of revenge. The weapon with which the murder was committed was not found. Pendell was the bondsman of Sheriff W. A. Hammell, and was prominent in several fraternal societies here.

MARKET IRREGULAR; STOCKS TAKE DROP

NEW YORK, June 26.—After large buying orders had been executed early trading in the stock market today turned downward. Canadian Pacific, Union Pacific and Northern Pacific all rose a point in the first hour. On the belief that the recent rise in London was manipulated from here, losses of from one to two points were scored against several leading speculative issues before noon. Some selling was brought out by the decision of the inter-state commerce commission to restrict the hearing on the rates of the eastern railroads.

Bonds were heavy. The market closed irregular.

QUEEN MARY'S TABOO ON RIDING ASTRIDE

LONDON, June 26.—Queen Mary exploded a bombshell among the women exhibitors and riders at the international horse show in Olympia today when she issued an edict forbidding women to ride astride. Great indignation was expressed among the women riders.

American women riders were especially sore. Ruth Boyd, of New York, said she had never learned to ride a horse with a side saddle and that the edict would cost her a chance to win any ribbons.

The edict applied only to this afternoon's performance, when King George, Queen Mary and President Raymond Poincaré, of France, attended the show.

Mrs. Edith Wilson, a young and charming New York woman of great wealth, recently expressed her willingness to contribute $60,000 toward a fund to be used in establishing in New York City a permanent home of healthful and inspiring entertainment and training for children. What she proposes is a children's house, to embrace a theater, library, reading and rest rooms and a training school for promising talent—such an enterprise to be self-sustaining after the needed working capital is provided, with its benefits and service within easy means of even poor families.

WEALTHY PARENTS FEAR DAUGHTER SLAVER'S VICTIM

NEW YORK, June 26.—Fear that Helen McCarty, 16-year-old daughter of John McCarty, a wealthy newspaper broker, may have fallen a victim of white slavers, increased today when the girl's absence was still unexplained. She disappeared Tuesday from the Hotel Hargrave, where her parents reside, and vanished as utterly as did Dorothy Arnold, whose fate is still a mystery.

Miss McCarty returned recently from a convent at Torresdale, Pa., where she had been a pupil. Her father sent telegrams to all her girl chums. All replied that they had not seen her.

Mrs. McCarty sent Helen on Tuesday to a nearby store on an errand since when she has not been seen. Every hospital in New York has been visited without finding trace of the missing girl. Miss McCarty when last seen wore her hair in two braids. She is five feet, four inches tall, weighs 128 pounds and has dark brown hair. Her mother is prostrated with grief and apprehension.

JACK JOHNSON FLEES COUNTRY; GONE TO PARIS

TORONTO, Ont., June 26.—Jack Johnson, the negro prizefighter, under sentence in the United States for violation of the Mann white slave act, has fled. Johnson, it is declared, was in Toronto last night and left here via Montreal for Paris.

CHICAGO, June 26.—United States officials here are investigating a report from Toronto, Ontario, that Jackson Johnson has fled to Canada, en route to Paris to escape the "unpleasant notoriety" of a year's sentence in a federal prison for violation of the white slave act.

Johnson was not at home when the federal officers arrived, and his relatives said he was fishing at Clearlake. His wife cannot be found.

United States Judge Carpenter last Monday reduced Johnson's bail from $30,000 to $15,000 pending an appeal against sentence by the negro's lawyers.

WHITES DRIVE JAPS FROM ORCHARDS

RIVERSIDE, Cal., June 26.—Driven from Hemet, Cal., where they were under contract to pick fruit, a large contingent of Japanese are returning here today. The Japanese were met at Hemet station by a crowd of white laborers, herded into a baggage car and forced to leave town in the next train. None of the Japanese were harmed but it was seen that the white laborers were in earnest and no resistance was offered.

MULKEY'S ROLE SILENCE, SAYS JUDGE KELLY

Leading Figure in Clay Hearing Controversy Unable to Understand Attitude of Predecessor—Brands It "Cowardice or Carping Littleness."

Calls Morning Paper Reply Attempt to Discredit His Office and County Court—Minimizes Dangers.

Prosecuting Attorney E. E. Kelly, Thursday submitted the following vigorous retort to the printed contentions of his predecessor, B. F. Mulkey, agent the Mrs. Clay insanity hearing:

Editor Mail Tribune:
Mr. Mulkey's further contribution to the Clay hearing, published in the Morning Sun, fails to explain his reason for injecting himself into this case and by cheap innuendo criticizing public officials in discharge of a most unpleasant duty.

Replying to Mulkey's personal allusion that I have muddled the procedure in this case will say that there has been no muddled procedure in this office since the sixth of January. That the complaint filed against Mrs. Clay was in all respects regular and that upon the evidence adduced she was properly committed to the proper institution, but that the office of the district attorney has no power or disposition to suspend the right of appeal.

I submit that Mr. Mulkey is not the most competent individual to pass upon technical legal procedure and that if he were, in view of the number of criminals that escaped trial through his muddled indictments while in the office of district attorney, he ought to maintain a most discreet silence on that subject.

The fact remains that Mr. Mulkey after publicly declaring that the action of this office should be directed against Mrs. Clay, and after furnishing reasons for such action, either through cowardice or carping littleness attempts to evade his share of the responsibility therefor and to discredit the action of this office and the county court.

Mr. Mulkey need have no fear of being shot, there is nothing about him that anyone but the most expert marksman could hit, save possibly his conceit, and a few punctures in that would be no great public calamity.
E. E. KELLY.

CAMINETTI'S WIFE PRAISES M'NAB; DENOUNCES MATE

JACKSON, Cal., June 26.—"Mr. McNab could not be a true American and do otherwise than he has done." This was the declaration here of Mrs. Elizabeth Caminetti, wife of F. Drew Caminetti, who is living in seclusion with her two children as a result of the escape of her husband, F. Drew Caminetti, Maury I. Diggs, Marsha Warrington and Lola Norris, of Sacramento, the political consequences which have convulsed the nation as a result of the resignation of District Attorney John I. McNab, of San Francisco.

"I want to see the men punished," continued Mrs. Caminetti, who is just 22 years of age, as she sat with her two children. "Both of them deserve it and I believe that will be the outcome. But the children—they are the ones who must suffer. There is the tragedy. What does all the national entanglement, explanations by cabinet officers and the president and the jeopardizing of political fortunes amount to beside the welfare and the future of these two babies?"

CHICAGO, June 26.—H. A. Gregory, 35, was killed and Miss Minnie Bristol is believed to be at the bottom of the lagoon in Lincoln Park here through an automobile in which they were riding crashing through the railing of a bridge early today.

JUNE RAINFALL ABNORMAL; 1.94 INCHES TO DATE

Precipitation This Month Twice Normal and Close to Extremely Wet Year Records—35 Inches Fall on Thursday Morning.

Insuring Heavy Secondary Alfalfa Crops, With Less Irrigation and Cultivation—Ranges Green.

PAST WET JUNES
Year	Precip.
1898	2.30 in.
1900	3.79 in.

PAST DRY JUNES
Year	Precip.
1901	.04 in.

Precipitation for the month of June up to noon today was 1.94 inches, nearly twice the amount of normal rainfall for the month at .98, and placing 1913 in the list of abnormally wet months in Southern Oregon. The total precipitation for June last year was 2.19 inches, a quarter of an inch more than has fallen so far this year.

In the early hours of Thursday morning one of the heaviest downpours of the year fell, totaling .35 of an inch. Between six and seven o'clock the heaviest fall was noticeable the drops spattering from the pavements in the eastern style.

According to Professor O'Gara the rainfall is a blessing to the farmers, fruitgrowers and stockmen. To the first named, it means less irrigation and cultivation, thus bringing a saving in expenses, and insuring a thorough saturation of the ground. To the stockmen, it means a heavy growth of grass on the ranges. It will also bring a heavy growth of weeds, causing worry to the truck gardener, and Street Commissioner O'wney Patton in enforcing the anti-weed ordinance.

Bumper second and third crops of alfalfa will follow the abnormal June rains. The first crop cutting of alfalfa is out of the way, but the timothy oat hay did not fare so well, much on the ground being highly discolored. Cereals standing in the fields were not damaged by the downpour though pessimistic souls predicted that the standing grain would be beaten down in the fields.

Indications point to continued cloudiness and showers until the end of the week, with prospects of clear weather by Sunday. A number of street corner weather prophets predicted that a wet summer would be the order, with abnormal precipitation in July and August, and no autumn to speak of.

The wettest June was in 1900 when 3.79 inches of rain fell. Other decidedly rainy months of brides were 1894 when 3.15 inches fell, 1898 with 2.30 inches, and 1912, the lowest of the lot with 2.19 inches.

On the other extreme, there were two very dry Junes. In 1895 but .02 inches of rain fell and 1901 only .04 inches. The weather records show abnormally wet Junes were followed, in course, by one just as dry.

RUSS THRONE HEIR TO SAKKI BATHS

ST. PETERSBURG, June 26.—Arrangements were completed today to send the young Czarevitch to Sakki, in the Northern Crimea, where he will undergo a course of treatment in the famous salt mud baths.

Besides the mysterious ailment with which the heir to the Russian throne has been afflicted since last fall, and which is said to be incurable, he has been suffering recently from a hardening of the tissues of the left knee, which the court doctors believe the Sakki baths will relieve.
