MULKEY DENIES ANY ATTEMPT TO DISCREDIT OFFICIALS

Medford, Ore., July 1, 1913.
 To The Editor:
 On my return to Medford after a few days absence, I find that Prosecuting Attorney Kelly "retorts in a vigorous manner" to my alleged attempt to discredit the county officers in the commitment of Mrs. Clay to the asylum.
 In all this controversy I do not attempt to discredit Judge Tom Velle, and the physicians who committed Mrs. Clay. I know nothing of what occurred at the hearing. Neither can any such construction be placed upon my utterances. I simply stated in a letter to the Sun that the report that Mrs. Clay had been threatening me was an error. It she threatened one other or many that fact must have appeared at the hearing, but she had not threatened me and I thought it proper and just to all parties to so state.
 Mr. Kelly, in this "vigorous retort," takes a fling at my record as prosecuting attorney. I tried nine men charged with murder and convicted all of them and I believe I steadily adhered to a determined policy of law enforcement. Seven thousand dollars in fines imposed by the courts of Josephine county for the illegal sale of liquor during my term may afford some proof of the fact that I did my utmost to enforce the law. I also made mistakes. I sincerely hope Mr. Kelly will have a record unbroken by a single error. He is entirely mistaken if he thinks the writer would do anything to discredit those who would enforce the law.
 I shall and do reserve the right, however, to correct any errors that may creep into the published reports of court proceedings where I am given undue credit, blame or prominence. Very respectfully,
 B. F. MULKEY.

SOLDIERS SUPPRESS OPIUM INDUSTRY

LONDON, July 1.—More than 600 poppy planters and their employes in China have been killed by soldiers in the last twelve months as the result of the new republican government's energetic efforts to eradicate the opium curse, according to latest reports reaching the British foreign office.
 In a number of districts, where troops were sent to uproot poppy plants which had been set out after the issuance of Yuan Shi Kai's anti-opium edict, pitched battles have been fought.
 It is admitted that the action of the American government in refusing to support the demands of American banks or traders in China for reimbursement on account of the destruction of opium on which they held liens, has greatly strengthened the general crusade against the evil.

LAST FEDERALS DRIVEN OUT OF STATE OF SONORA

DOUGLAS, Ariz., July 1.—Guaymas, Sonora, where the last stand of General Ojeda's shattered force, was made, is today in the hands of General Obregon's invading constitutionalists. Driven back to the sea, General Ojeda, with but a scant thousand of the 3500 army which set out for Hermosillo several weeks ago, has gathered the remnants of his force together, boarded a transport and sailed for the south.
 A large number of wealthy Mexican citizens also took refuge in flight. Aristocratic Guaymas looks sullenly on this democratic victory.
 After investing Guaymas, Obregon, commanding the rebels, took immediate steps to prevent pillage.
 It is believed in Douglas that peace has been expedited by the sweeping rebel victory.
 General Barron, who commanded the federal garrison in Guaymas, preceded Ojeda in his flight.

MEDFORD FAN BETS $1000 TO $800 ON ANDERSON

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 1.—Lench Cross and Bud Anderson have settled their differences as to the rules governing their July 4, twenty-round bout, posted forfeits, and nothing now stands in the way of the contest.
 Cross insisted that there should be no hitting in the clinches, while holding with one arm. Referee Charley Eylon assured the New York fighter that Anderson did not resort to this style of milling but did hit in the clinches while his opponent was hanging on, this being allowed by the rules.
 "All I want is a fair break," said Cross. "I am assured I shall get it and I am satisfied."
 Betting on the bout is in full swing, with first one boy and then the other a favorite. One bet was registered yesterday at $1000 to $800 that Cross would win, and an hour later a Medford fan laid $1000 to $800 on Anderson.
