

JOHN MASON IN "ASA MAN THINKS" WORLD CELEBRATES TO PAY AT PAGE 74TH ANNIVERSARY

There is really a great show coming to town later in the month. It is John Mason in a play entitled "As a Man Thinks." Mr. Mason is not generally known to the people of Medford and we would regret to see so worthy an actor fail to receive the recognition he deserves.

The writer is slow to recommend either play or an actor for the reason that we are anxious that the people of Medford should have confidence in the management of the Page Theater, and it is the earnest desire of Messrs. Faison and Gordon to deal very sincerely with the public.

John Mason was for some years leading man with Minnie Madden Fiske. He became famous as a star in a play called "The Witching Hour," which had a long and successful run in New York City and thoroughly established Mr. Mason as one of America's real actors. But he did not reach the height of his popularity until he appeared in this interesting problem play "As a Man Thinks," which deals with the race problem. This play was so popular that it ran for two years in New York and was played throughout the east, after which Mr. Mason appeared in a new play entitled "Attack," by Bernstein, translated from the French. While this play was a success yet its popularity did not equal that of "As a Man Thinks." As a consequence Mr. Mason took up Augustus Thomas' play again and after playing the past season in New York started on the road with it this spring.

Mrs. James Stevens, who is visiting her sister here, Mrs. Conro Fiero, has seen the play several times in New York and says that she considers it one of the great New York productions. The supporting company is exactly the same as she saw in New York so we may be assured of a metropolitan star and a metropolitan production.

Allan Dale, the foremost dramatic critic of this country stated in a recent magazine article that Mr. Mason and Forbes Robinson were our two most scholarly actors.

I can say to my friends that I have taken pains to thoroughly post myself as to the merits of Mr. John Mason and his play "As a Man Thinks," and do not hesitate in the least to recommend it to the patrons of the Page Theater as one of the big productions.

NEW YORK PLAYS TENNIS AT NIGHT

NEW YORK, July 7.—Probably nowhere in the world do folk burn the candle at both ends as they do in New York. Several hundred thousand men and women work all night throughout the city and places of amusement and recreation run half the night. The very latest thing in "night life," though, is tennis by night. Up on Riverside Drive and in several other places they now have tennis courts brilliantly illuminated by electricity and games are played until midnight or later. Players gather there from all parts of Manhattan and there is always a big gallery made up of the apartment house dwellers who seek the drive for a bit of fresh air.

In the hot months thousands of those who go for amusement and sea air to Coney Island remain on the beaches until the wee sma' hours, and it is dawn before they get back to town. The cabarets and restaurants where there is dancing keep open until Inspector Dwyer's men compel them to close. Throughout the entire night, in summer, automobiles are scurrying up and down Broadway through Central, Van Cortlandt and Bronx parks and all over Long Island filled with men and women taking the cool night air.

Even the church has turned night into day after a fashion, several of the downtown Catholic and Episcopal institutions having inaugurated special masses and services at 3 a. m. and 4 a. m. for night workers.

MARRIED FOUR YEARS AND HAVE SEVEN CHILDREN

EVERETT, Wash., July 8.—Julius Steffanson, section hand on the Great Northern railroad at Silvana, Wash., came here today to spread the good news that he was the father of triplets. "But that isn't the best of it," said Julius. "We have had seven children come to us in four years, twins twice and triplets once. I feel kind of proud of it so please publish it," he said to a local newspaperman.

SEES BIG CROWD FOR MEDFORD DAY AT CHAUTAUQUA

CLEVELAND, O., July 8.—Seventy-four years old and the "richest man in the World," worth upwards of half a billion dollars according to his business associates—John D. Rockefeller celebrated his birthday today. There was no elaborate program planned for the anniversary. The oil king spent the morning at Forest Hill. He received hundreds of messages of congratulations from business and personal friends.

Rockefeller's health is better today than it has been in years and Dr. H. F. Biggar, his physician for many years, has assured him that he may count on many more birthdays.

A game of golf, an automobile ride in the country and calls from relatives and friends made up the birthday program.

Despite many stories to the contrary, Rockefeller is unusually health for a man of his age, especially when his early business worries and work is taken into consideration.

For his physical condition of today, Rockefeller gives credit to his personal physician and friend, Dr. H. F. Biggar, aged seventy-two. Rockefeller has kept his health and strength while men his junior by many years have succumbed after winning business laurels not nearly as great as those the oil king has won. Of these perhaps E. H. Harriman and the late J. P. Morgan are the most prominent. He has survived his one time partner, Henry M. Flagler, who recently died at the age of seventy-seven.

A. C. Allen reported compilation of the autoists handbook of Medford tours, comprising rides through the valley and to Crater Lake, with information regarding roads, supplies and hotels. It is the intention to print the data.

C. S. Lebo was appointed a committee of one to gather statistics regarding the production of beans, the varieties adapted to this section, the cost of growing, and the prospects of marketing, with a view to starting a campaign for extensive bean culture next year as one of the largely neglected resources of the section.

Dr. Biggar attributes the health of both his wealthy patient and himself to his always followed "system of living." This system he describes in a recently issued pamphlet which he has distributed among some of his friends. Its keynote is simplicity. Strict study of personal needs and constant watchfulness also are among the essentials of longevity, according to the pamphlet.

Two meals a day, one entirely of uncooked fruit; an occasional day of fasting from all foods but fruit; sponge salt baths frequently and a few Turkish baths with vigorous massage at least every two weeks are some of the recipes offered with the solid backing of their eminent success in the case of the doctor and his famous friend and patient.

OBITUARY.

Donald A. Helms.

The funeral of Donald A. Helms, who was killed in an auto accident on the Fourth of July, was held at the residence of his parents, 219 Central avenue, yesterday morning, the Rev. E. Olin Eldridge officiating.

Bonald was born in Gold Hill, Ore., October 10, 1892, and was 21 years, 8 months and 24 days of age. He was a young man of noble and generous impulses, and devoted to his parents and home. The sad accident which has so suddenly cut short this young life, has cast a gloom over the entire community, as he had a wide circle of friends, especially among the young, and his parents are held in high regard being among the early settlers in this county.

His funeral was largely attended, and the many and beautiful floral offerings gave evidence of the esteem in which he was held. Grief and sorrow was manifest upon every countenance as the remains were tenderly borne by his young companions to their last resting place in Rock Point cemetery, where embosomed amid the majestic hills, he sweetly rests awaiting the Resurrection morn.

"I cannot say, and I will not say, that he is dead. He is just away! With a cheery smile and a wave of the hand,

He has wandered into an unknown land. And left us dreaming, how very fair needs must be, since he lingers there.

And you—O you, who the wildest year For the old-time step and the glad return.

Think of him faring on, as dear in the love of There as the love of Here.

Think of him still as the same, I say: He is not dead—he is just away!"

The pall bearers: Robert and Herbert Strang, Alex Pellet, Floyd Corey, Earl and Rolland Hubbard.

Music was rendered by members of the Methodist choir, F. C. Edmunds, leader; D. T. Lawton and Mrs. Wines, Mrs. Banker, Mrs. Blinton, Miss May Dromon, pianist.

Philip Bartholomae, author of "Over Night," one of the best farces ever written, has written a new comedy called "The Bird Cage" which will be produced early in September. The scene of the play is laid at Coronado Beach, Cal.

addition thereto, within the corporate limits of the city of Medford unless the same shall be in conformity with the rules and regulations set forth in what is known as the National Electrical code, being rules and requirements for the installation of electrical wiring and apparatus for electric light, heat, and power, as the same are now established, together with any amendments, and changes made from time to time, are hereby adopted and approved. Before any such electric wiring shall be commenced in or on any building, awning, structure or addition thereto, a written permit must be obtained from the Electrical Inspector of said city, authorizing the person or persons, firm or corporation, therein named to do and perform the said electric wiring and designate the location where the same is to be performed. No such electric wiring shall be commenced as aforesaid until such permit has been obtained. Before such permit shall be issued, the person or persons, firm or corporation making application for the same, shall pay an annual license fee of ten dollars, and pass satisfactorily such an examination, based upon the National Electrical Code, as said Electrical Inspector may require. And any sheet metal worker or other person or persons, desiring to construct or install any electrical apparatus, or lining of any moving picture booth, shall first obtain a permit to perform such work, as herein required.

That Section 5 of Ordinance No. 727 be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 5. The said Electrical Inspector is hereby empowered to inspect or reinspect all wiring in or on buildings and apparatus conducting electric current for light, heat and power, and when said conductors or apparatus are found to be unsafe to or property, or are not in accordance with the codes of the National Electrical Code, he shall issue to the person or persons, firm or corporation, using or operating them, or any person or persons having installed the same, to place the same in a safe and secure condition within forty-eight (48) hours. Any person or persons, firm or corporation failing or refusing to repair, change, or remove the same within forty-eight (48) hours, after notice, or within such further time as the Electrical Inspector deems necessary, shall be subject to the penalty hereinafter provided.

That Section 7 of Ordinance No. 727 be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 7. Any person or persons, firm or corporation, who shall violate any of the provisions of this ordinance shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof before the City Court of said city shall be punished by a fine not exceeding fifty dollars ($50) or by imprisonment in the city jail not to exceed twenty-five (25) days, or both such fine and imprisonment, or the judge of said court may at his option revoke the license of such person, firm, or corporation, or may suspend the same for a period within his discretion.

The foregoing ordinance was passed by the city council of the City of Medford, Oregon, on the 1st day of July, A. D. 1913, by the following vote: Porter, aye; Mitchell, aye; Stewart, aye; Campbell, aye; Summerville, aye; Miller, aye. Approved July 2, 1913.
