ROAD TO COAST FROM GRANTS PASS SOON A REALTY

GRANTS PASS, Or., July 19.—That the Grants Pass & Crescent City railroad is soon to become a reality is the assertion of Franklin Helin, the San Francisco promoter, who represents the California financiers interested by Dr. J. F. Reddy in the project.

The California-Oregon & Eastern is the name of the new link of steel which will connect Grants Pass and Crescent City and develop an inland and coast empire. Inasmuch as the road is one doing interstate business, it has been necessary to effect incorporation in both California and Oregon, which has taken some considerable time.

Construction Company Ready
A construction company, said to represent over $5,000,000, has been organized to build the road, with William Loftus, oil operator, as president; George C. Beckman, mine owner, as vice-president, and John C. Shepherd, a merchant of Boston, Mass., and Pasadena, Cal., as treasurer.

Offices for the company were rented yesterday in the Conklin building and construction has actually commenced. The first work will be on the ten-mile unit from Grants Pass to Wilderville, spanning both the Rogue and Applegate rivers. The right of way, a mile of track, preliminary trestle and rolling stock of the Riggs railway has been bought. It is announced, for carrying construction materials from Grants Pass and across Rogue river and a crew of men will begin throwing dirt on the grade this week.

Grants Pass Votes Bonds
The city of Grants Pass has voted bonds to the extent of $200,000 to build the first unit of the road and these bonds will be taken over by the new company as soon as their legality is passed upon by Maschell & Reed of New York City, their decision hinging only on a friendly suit now under consideration by the state supreme court, from which a favorable decision is expected at an early date. Ten miles of right of way have already been cleared by the city for trestles and switches and twenty miles of right of way are owned by the city.

Timber and Copper Opened
Money is on hand, it is announced, from the sale of a block of city warrants to the California builders to finance the first unit and the whole construction will be pushed without delay. It is estimated the road will cost in the neighborhood of $5,000,000 and will open up over 20,000,000 feet of the finest sugar pine, fir and redwood timber in America, as well as develop a copper belt rivaling the famous Anaconda and Super-

BOGGS TO ARGUE MILLAR CASE IN COURT AUGUST 1

The case of George H. Millar vs. the City of Medford was continued until the 1st day of August, this morning, when Attorney O. C. Boggs appeared in court with a request to be heard on the case. Mr. Boggs at the time of the first presentation of the case to Judge Calkins appeared in court without authority from the city or request from City Attorney McCabe and insisted to the court that the service of the writ of review was not good and argued that question to the court. The city made its answer and filed it in the court, which cured any defects of service, when Judge Calkins announced his intention to render a decision in favor of the plaintiff Millar.

Boggs requested time in which to present the case to the court and the time was granted until Monday of this week. No presentation of the case was made and the court stated that unless the city attorney or Mr. Boggs appeared this morning to show the court wherein it was in error in its announced opinion there would be a decision of the case made today. But at the opportune time Mr. Boggs appeared and requested permission to argue the case to the court.

Some comment was caused as to why the city in this case should be represented by Mr. Boggs, when it has a city attorney to appear for it.

DEBATE ON TARIFF OPENS IN SENATE

WASHINGTON, July 19.—The debate on the Underwood tariff bill was opened in the senate this afternoon by Senator F. M. Simmons of North Carolina, chairman of the senate finance committee. The debate is expected to continue for several weeks. Simmons asserted the measure was fair, a just interpretation of the will of the people and a fulfillment of democratic pledges.

The line will be 85 miles long and will eventually be pushed to an eastern connection.

A subsidiary company has been organized to develop a harbor at Crescent City second to none on the coast, while an industrial department for the promulgation of new industries is also planned. The Blinn's valley of 50,000 acres of irrigated lands lies along the proposed route and will be opened to the development of commerce.

JOHN DEERE SPREADER
The Spreader with the Beater on the Axle
The Simplest Spreader Made

No Clutches No Chains No Adjustments

Easy to Load Roller Bearings Light Draft

Entirely New .. Nothing Else Like It

THE JOHN DEERE SPREADER—The Spreader with the Beater on the Axle—is as much of an improvement in spreader manufacturing as the self-binder was over the old reaper. It is made along entirely new and different lines from the ordinary spreader.

The first manure spreader ever made was built in 1873 by the Kemp & Burpee Manufacturing Company. Up to the time of the John Deere Spreader every spreader has been made along the same general lines as this first machine. Power was taken from one end of the main axle and transmitted, either through chains or gears, to the beater, mounted above and in the rear of the axle. Heretofore the only improvement in manure spreaders since the first one was made in 1878 has been in the refinement of details.

The John Deere Spreader is a radical departure from the old method of construction. It is made along entirely new lines and is a great improvement over the old style spreader. Come in and examine the machine and you will readily see why the John Deere Spreader is so far superior to any spreader heretofore constructed.

Even if You Don't Need a New Spreader Now come in and get one of our spreader books. They contain a number of articles on why farm manure should be used on the land, how it should be applied, how it should be stored, the value and effect of using it in various ways. In addition there is a detail description of the John Deere Spreader with illustrations in colors of this spreader working in the field.
