MRS. KNEUTZEN HELD TO GRAND JURY FOR ASSAULT

Mrs. Owen Kneutzen, wife of Jake Kneutzen, and a resident of Thompson creek, was held to the grand jury in Justice Taylor's court yesterday afternoon on a charge of assault with intent to kill, committed on the person of Mrs. Philo Blivens. On account of five small children Mrs. Kneutzen's bond was fixed at the nominal sum of $500, although the evidence submitted by the state made out a very grave case against the defendant. The defendant's bond was given by Lee Harrington and Oscar Knox.

Mrs. Blivens, a frail and aged woman was on the witness stand nearly two hours and told the story of the assault in detail and in a manner that carried conviction. According to Mrs. Blivens, Mrs. Kneutzen, who lives just across the road from the Blivens' place, had been quarrelsome and threatening for some days prior to July 13th.

On July 13th when Mrs. Blivens was returning from a place in the timber where her husband was engaged in slashing poles, she suddenly heard a voice behind her, which she recognized as Mrs. Kneutzen's saying "I have waited a week to get you and now you'll kill me, at the same time she felt a stunning blow on the back. Before losing consciousness she saw Mrs. Kneutzen seize her by the left hand and felt the crunching of the bones that bereft her of consciousness. When she recovered, she saw Mrs. Kneutzen at some distance hurrying through the gate into the Kneutzen place.

Realizing that she had been seriously injured, she started for Elmore's a nearby neighbor, to telephone for a doctor. Holding her broken arm upright, with the blood oozing through the fingers that held it, and with the bone protruding through the flesh. She was again accosted by Mrs. Kneutzen, this time accompanied by her husband, and again Mrs. Kneutzen threatened to kill her. Kneutzen tried to pacify his wife, but the frenzied woman threatened to knock him down. Both followed her to Elmore's gate, where Mrs. Kneutzen would not permit her husband to open the gate for the injured woman, saying that she might lay in the road and rot before she would permit him to render her any assistance.

Mrs. Blivens was corroborated by Joe Elmore who heard Mrs. Kneutzen threaten to kill Mrs. Blivens on July 10th and by two young ladies who heard part of the obscene, abusive language and threats directed at Mrs. Blivens after the assault had been committed.

Mrs. Kneutzen, a strong and husky appearing young woman, seemed inclined to regard the proceedings with some levity at the outset, but as the state's case against her unfolded this was dissipated and at the conclusion of the trial she broke down in tears. She was represented by Gus Newbury.

Rev. Edgar G. Murphy, noted as the founder of the National Child Labor committee, died recently at his home in New York.

JOHN DEERE SPREADER

The Spreader with the Beater on the Axle

The Simplest Spreader Made

Entirely New .. Nothing Else Like It

THE JOHN DEERE SPREADER—The Spreader with the Beater on the Axle—is as much of an improvement in spreader manufacturing as the self-binder was over the old reaper. It is made along entirely new and different lines from the ordinary spreader.

The first manure spreader ever made was built in 1878 by the Kemp & Burpee Manufacturing Company. Up to the time of the John Deere Spreader every spreader has been made along the same general lines as this first machine. Power was taken from one end of the main axle and transmitted, either through chains or gears, to the beater, mounted above and in the rear of the axle. Heretofore the only improvement in manure spreaders since the first one was made in 1878 has been in the refinement of details.

The John Deere Spreader is a radical departure from the old method of construction. It is made along entirely new lines and is a great improvement over the old style spreader. Come in and examine the machine and you will readily see why the John Deere Spreader is so far superior to any spreader heretofore constructed.

Even if You Don't Need a New Spreader Now come in and get one of our spreader books. They contain a number of articles on why farm manure should be used on the land, how it should be applied, how it should be stored, the value and effect of using it in various ways. In addition there is a detail description of the John Deere Spreader with illustrations in colors of this spreader working in the field.
