THE DIAMOND MYSTERY AT ISIS THEATER

"The Diamond Mystery, a two-part Vitagraph drama which will be presented today and Wednesday at the Isis is a gripping photoplay of unusual interest. It tells the story of the alleged discovery of a method of making diamonds artificially by an insane man, who fools everybody up to the last minute. His daughter is the first to make the discovery that her father's mind is unbalanced.
In producing the play the mystery is added to in a remarkable manner. Motives are established whereby several persons might have been interested in the old man's disappearance and in the destruction of the machine. No one watching the screen can gain any idea of the solution of the mystery until right at the end, where all is explained in an unusually clever and artistic manner.
The solution is that the old man had himself destroyed the machine, and that, when leaving the house, which he hid by means of a window, he was captured by a gang of counterfeiters, who hoped to wrest the secret of from him and sell it for their own benefit. The counterfeiters had already been able to obtain the details of the machine themselves, but were at a loss to discover the formula used in the old man's mixture. They succeeded in getting some money on account of the invention but are finally nailed by the police when the old man is discovered in their cellar, after some clever work by a detective and police dogs.
"The Diamond Mystery" is an extremely clever conception and has been uncommonly well worked out and produced. It is a clever play produced by clever players and cannot fail to make a hit with all the patrons of this popular picture house.

etti and I to another—that this was merely to divert suspicion and that we would change our rooms as soon as the clerk left. I thought we girls would be together.
"I knocked for an hour on the door of the room occupied by Marsha Warrington and Diggs, but got no answer. Maybe they didn't hear me. Finally Caminetti told me we would all be put out if I didn't stop making a noise."
"Did Caminetti ask you to retire that night?" asked Roche.
"Yes."
"Did you?"
"No, I refused. I didn't sleep all night. I only took off my shoes. From there we went to San Jose and stopped over night at a hotel. Caminetti and I occupied one room, Diggs and Marsha another."
"Did you submit that night?" asked Roche.
She shook her head.
"You are positive?"
"Yes," she sobbed.
W. E. Norris, father of the girl, a mild-mannered retired railroad man, did not remain to hear the details of his daughter's shame, but left immediately after he had testified regarding Caminetti's visits to the home.

MASONS GIVE SKIN TO SAVE STRICKEN BROTHER

PAYETTE, Idaho, Sept. 2.—With five hundred strips of skin, taken from the arms of one hundred brother Masons, grafted onto his body and arm, C. O. His arm and chest and back were burned so severely that practically all of the cuticle came off.

PARISIAN SAGE FOR THE HAIR

If your hair is too dry—brittle—colorless—thin—stringy—or falling out—use Parisian Sage—now—at once.
It stops itching scalp, cleanses the hair of dust and excessive oils, removes dandruff with one application, and makes the hair doubly beautiful—soft—fluffy—abundant. Try a 50c. bottle to-day.
It will not only save your hair and make it grow, but give it the beauty you desire.

Chicken Pot Pie

The Chef's Favorite
By Mrs. Janet M. Kenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine

One fowl cut in joints; 1/2 cup flour; 1/2 teaspoonful salt; black pepper; 1 cup butter; 3 level tablespoons K. C. Frying Powder; 1/2 teaspoonful salt; 1/2 cup shortening; milk or cream.

Cover the fowl with boiling water and let simmer until tender, then remove to a baking dish. Mix the 1/2 cup flour, salt and black pepper with cold water to a smooth paste and use to thicken the broth. Remove the fat from the top of the broth if necessary before adding the thickening. Pour this gravy over the fowl, until it is nearly covered, and reserve the rest to serve apart. Stir together the flour, baking powder and salt, three times; into this work the shortening and use cream or milk to make a dough, less stiff than for biscuits. Put this by spoonfuls over the fowl in the dish, which it should rest upon and completely cover. Let bake about 35 minutes.

When young tender chickens are scarce, this presents a most satisfactory way of serving old fowls. A lot of lard preserved in this manner is more appetizing than when served as a stew. Try this and the other delicious recipes in the K. C. Cook's Book, a copy of which may be secured free by sending the enclosed certificate to the K. C. Baking Powder Co., Chicago.

Children's Eyes

require careful watching, especially in the case of studious scholars. At the first sign of weakness they should have their eyes examined, and, if necessary, glasses should be worn. But any kind of glasses will not do. Bring the child to me and I will guarantee to fit the right lenses so as to improve the vision and remove any headaches that may result from eyestrain.

Hooray! Baby To Rule the House

No Longer Do Women Fear the Greatest of All Human Blessings.
It is a comfort to know that those much-talked-of pains that are said to precede child-bearing may easily be avoided. No woman need fear the slightest discomfort if she will fortify herself with the well-known and time-honored remedy, "Mother's Friend."

This is a penetrating, external application that at once softens and makes pliant the abdominal muscles and ligaments. They naturally expand without the slightest strain, and thus not only banish all tendency to nervous, twitching spells, but there is an entire freedom from nausea, discomfort, sleeplessness and dread that so often leave their impress upon the face.
The occasion is, therefore, one of unbounded, joyful anticipation, and too much stress cannot be laid upon the remarkable influence which a mother's happy, prenatal disposition has upon the health and fortunes of the generation to come.
You will find it on sale at all drug stores at $1.00 a bottle. Write to-day to the Bradford-Regulator Co., 230 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for an instructive book.
