The federated clubs of Ashland were hostesses Tuesday to the clubs of the Rogue river valley, and club members from most of the towns were present. Luncheon was served in the park cafeteria style, and it proved to be an idea way of taking care of the company.

After luncheon a program was held. Mrs. Gard, president of the Ashland Federated Clubs, gave the address of welcome which was responded to by Mrs. E. E. Gore, president of the Greater Medford Club. Mrs. Walters of the Portland Parents Educational Bureau gave a most interesting talk on the work of that organization. This was followed by reports from the various clubs concerning their plans for the coming year.

After a brief talk showing the advantages of federation by Mrs. W. G. Davidson of Medford, a discussion was held, which resulted in a motion that steps be taken to federate the women's clubs of southern Oregon, which motion was unanimously carried. Mrs. W. G. Davidson of Medford was elected president; Mrs. Arthur Conkin of Grants Pass, secretary; Mrs. Gard of Ashland, Mrs. Gillmore of Rogue River, together with representatives which are to be appointed from each club in the valley, and the two officers elected, are to form a committee on organization. A motion favoring good roads was passed and a resolution introduced thanking the Ashland ladies for a most enjoyable day.

The marriage of Miss Alice Catherine Wehrung and Roy H. B. Nelson occurred Wednesday evening in Portland. Miss Wehrung is well known among the younger set in Medford, where she has visited as the guest of Miss Fern Hutchinson. The following is from the Portland Oregonian:

"The wedding of Miss Alice Catherine Wehrung and Roy H. B. Nelson was solemnized last evening at 8 o'clock in the parlors of the Hotel Portland. Fully 100 guests witnessed the pretty ceremony and about 400 attended the reception that immediately followed.

Pinks and masses of pink asters with an additional ornament of pink tulle bows were used in decoration. Promptly at the appointed hour, Joseph Mulder, accompanied by Clarence Alstead, sang "All Mine Alone." The solo was followed by the wedding march from "Lohengrin," played by a stringed orchestra. The bride party were grouped before an improvised altar of roses and palms. Here the marriage lines were read by Rev. Evan P. Hughes of Ridgefield, Wash., who was pastor of the church attended by the bride when she was a little girl.

"White chamoisee elaborately trimmed with real lace caught up on the train with garniture of pearls, made a most becoming bridal gown. The long, filmy veil was gracefully arranged with pearl banding. The only jewel worn was a handsome diamond pendant with platinum setting, the gift of the bridegroom. The bride carried a shower of roses and orchids.

"Miss Fern Hutchinson, maid of honor, wore a stunning gown of pink crepe meteor brocaded and trimmed with pearls. Miss Willow May Fields and Miss Sallie Sterrett attended as bridesmaids. Miss Fields was attired in Dresden marquisette over pink silk, trimmed with Chantilly lace. Miss Sterrett wore pink chamoisee draped with a scarf of Spanish lace. Trimming of pearls and tulle were effectively used. The attendants all carried beautiful arm bouquets of pink roses. Robert Walker was best man and the guests were ushered by Raymond Redmond and Edward R. Morris."

About thirty women were present and all were unanimous in declaring this a most informal and altogether enjoyable evening. The table was beautifully decorated with Caroline Test-out roses which called forth many praises from the guests who had not been traveling through the land of sunshine and roses. The roses with the tasty pink candle shades, and hand-painted place cards made a most attractive table. At the close of a most sumptuous and satisfying dinner, each of the visiting ladies, in a few words, told her impressions of the west. Mrs. Tansley, of Cambridge, expressed the general sentiment of them all when she said this was the climax of a most wonderful trip. She also scored a point for good roads and was greeted with great applause when she said that she never heard of such hospitality as was shown here. "Think," she said, "of people loaning their automobiles—and over such roads, too!" After the dinner, a social hour spent on the mezzanine floor closed a most happy evening.
