

FAMOUS BOTANISTS CHARMED WITH LAKE DESPITE WEATHER

Despite the fact that it rained most of the time they were at Crater Lake, the American Phytogeographic excursion returned delighted with the lake, full of enthusiasm over its beauty and of admiration for the country traversed. Especially were the distinguished botanists pleased with the opportunity to study the flora and fauna of the Cascade summit. Above all else, however, were they charmed with the Medford spirit and the hospitality shown.

At a banquet given the scientists by the University club Friday evening, their appreciation of the entire program was expressed. The Crater Lake excursion was unanimously declared the crowning feature of the entire trans-continental trip. Crater lake was declared to be the greatest object of interest to scientists in the world and alone worth the entire journey, and the spirit in which they were welcomed and entertained was declared impossible of duplication elsewhere.

In the excursion were most eminent and world famous botanical scientists on the globe today. Two years ago a similar expedition was made through the British Isles, and it was because of the success that attended that excursion, that a similar one was organized for the purpose of studying the flora of the United States. That of Crater lake held a great deal of interest and the botanists all urged that no foreign flowers or trees be imported, but that efforts to beautify consist in restoring the natural vegetation.

The masculine members of the Phytogeographic society were given a banquet at the University club last night while the ladies of the party were entertained by the College Women's club at the Hotel Medford. Both occasions were distinguished by a cordial welcome on the part of the Medford hosts and enthusiastic appreciation on the part of the visitors. With P. W. Hamill, president of the University club presiding, Professor Adolph Engler of Berlin, Prof. Carl Schroeter of Zurich, and Prof. C. von Tuenen of Munich, the three most distinguished scientists in the party, all spoke expressing their surprise at the hospitality accorded them by Medford citizens and appreciation of the same with the wish that they might be given the opportunity to return the courtesy on their foreign shores.

Dr. Alfred Dachsenowski of the Ohio university, Columbus, Ohio, acted as interpreter and followed the foreign speakers with elucidating remarks but the frequency with which the English language was used made most of the talks intelligible to most of the members present and all the speeches were frequently interrupted with laughter and applause.

The members of the party were given an auto tour through the valley and shown the orchards leaving at 10:52 for San Francisco and the Yosemite. Prof. Henry C. Cowles of the University of Chicago, is in charge of the party and in a brief and graceful speech thanked the members of the Commercial and University clubs for their cordial welcome and expressed the belief that when the journey was completed Medford would remain in the minds of the members as the brightest spot in their entire itinerary.

SUCCESS ATTENDS GOOD ROADS RALLIES

Citizens of Butte Falls, Central Point and Jacksonville will hear good roads and highway bonds discussed Saturday evening. At Butte Falls, Porter J. Neff and County Judge Ton Yelle will hold forth; at Central Point, B. F. Mulkey, Gus Newbury, W. C. Leever and W. M. Colvig; at Jacksonville, W. H. Gore, who spoke Friday at Griffin Creek. This is the second Jacksonville meeting and it is held at the request of citizens of the county seat.

Good Road rallies will be held at Sam's Valley and Ruch Monday evening. Gus Newbury and W. H. Gore will speak at Ruch, and B. F. Mulkey and Porter J. Neff at Sam's Valley.

Other meetings for Monday evening are being arranged and the program of speakers is subject to change. Everywhere widespread interest in bonds is shown and indications are that the bonds will carry by a larger vote than those voted two years ago.

200 CARS PEARS SHIPPED TO DATE AT FANCY PRICES

Two hundred cars of pears, principally Bartletts, have been shipped from Medford already, and none of the late pears have gone forward. Ten cars of pears go Saturday, including Howell and Bose. The bulk of the crop was sold at good prices before shipment.

Pear shipments have caused an ice famine in Medford, the refrigerator cars taking the entire output of the local factories. Two cars of ice for local consumption reached the city Saturday.

Dillon Hill has shipped three cars of Bose and will have eleven cars of this variety. He will have four or five cars of the fanciest Comice. Altogether his pear shipments will total 20 or 21 cars, and his apple crop will be 12,000 boxes, making 45 cars the orchard's output. They will net at least $1,000 a car—which is some income.

S. Clemens, foreman of the M. F. Bingham orchard, a part of the old Rurrell tract, states that the orchard's output will be 21 cars of pears and 20 cars of apples. Seven acres of Clargean averaged 1100 boxes to the acre. Two of the pear cars sold for $1.65 a box, a. b. orchard before picking. The net profit on this orchard promises to exceed $20,000.

LARGEST FUNERAL MEDFORD'S HISTORY

The last rites over the late Mayor W. W. Eifert were held Friday, in the presence of over a thousand fellow citizens and friends. At the Elks services in their hall many were turned away, where the ritual of the lodge, was read, and the eulogy and sermon given by B. F. Mulkey and the Rev. Shields. The funeral procession, embracing the entire membership of the Elks and K. of P's was the largest in the history of the city.

At the grave the impressive ritual of the K. of P. lodge was read and the last resting place banked high with flower tributes.

During the services every business house in the city, with the exception of the hotels closed.

The business affairs of the deceased will be closed up next week as far as possible. It is understood that a buyer has been secured for the tailor shop, where considerable unfinished fall work is on hand.

Mrs. Eifert, for whom fears were felt, is reported resting easy, after the trying ordeal, though still under a doctor's care.

COUNCIL FAILS TO ELECT A MAYOR

The selecting of a successor to fill the vacancy in the mayor's chair has been taken under advisement by the council, who took no steps in the matter at the Friday night meeting. C. E. Gates looms as the strongest choice backed by popular sentiment, which protests against filling the vacancy from the council's own ranks. Col. H. H. Sargent, J. E. Watt, W. H. Canon, and Porter J. Neff also have supporters for the place. All the councilmen have lightning rods up, hoping the lightning will strike.

The council gave Councilman Miller $11 for expenses during the immorality charge trial, and Col. H. H. Sargent, who donated a strip of land to make Dakota avenue of uniform width received a vote of thanks. The gift provides paving on the street within 75 days, and paving commences Monday.

The recommendation of Health Officer Thayer to take steps toward preventing the contamination of Fish lake, source of the water supply, resulted in the ordering of all refuse near the intake to be burned.

Resolutions of condolence on the death of Mayor W. W. Eifert will be passed by the council and framed.

B. S. Radcliffe was granted a saloon license renewal, and the regular monthly bills allowed.
