SCHOOL FAIRS AT ROGUE RIVER AND PHOENIX A SUCCESS

The first school children's fairs for Jackson county were held at Rogue River and Phoenix on Friday and Saturday, September 5 and 6. Superintendent J. P. Wells has encouraged this agricultural industrial school work for boys and girls of his county, was present at both these fairs and expressed himself as much pleased with the interest manifested and the exhibits made. At Rogue River there was an exhibit of agricultural products made by farmers and fruit growers independent of the school fair. Some very fine products were shown, particularly in fruit and vegetables, products that would show well at the county fair and do credit to the county at the state fair. The purpose of the fair, however, was to give the schools and the school children a chance to show what they have been doing the past summer. The school garden proposition has been given special attention and it has been proven that children will stick to their garden work if they have encouragement to do so. The lady who has had charge of the gardens deserves much credit for her successful efforts and for the valuable instruction which the young people have received. The prize winners in the garden contest were Lea Colecomb, Mary White, Carl Nigalie, Jessie Martin of Evans Creek, Eva Wilcox, Adolph Welch, Donald Holcomb, Earl Owings, Dulciana Burkhardt, Harry Woods and Florence White.

The business men showed their appreciation of this work by giving some very nice prizes which were distributed by the Ladies Civic Improvement League from the band stand after the exercises were over at the exhibit halls.

The following boys and girls were winners in the school fair contest: Philip Lowd, Carl Negerle, Harry Woods, Donald Dimick, Evelyn Young, Gertrude Young, Viola Myers, Dorothy Starr, Margaret Young, Bessie Seaman, James MeQuint and Ruth Rosser. The exhibits consisted of vegetables, corn, articles of sewing, patchwork, bread, cake, canned fruit and other things made by the young people. A bird house made by a boy under ten and a logging wagon were articles which attracted much attention. After the prizes had been awarded an address was given by L. P. Harrington, industrial field worker for the state. Mr. Harrington is in the county at the present time to assist County Superintendent Wells in the school fair work. He said in part: "We are trying to interest the boys and girls of the schools of Oregon in a great educational movement to make our schools more practical, to impress parents with the importance of common everyday duties of life. These things should be a part in the education of every boy and girl whether the home be in the city or on a farm. Girls should be proud of the fact that they can cook and sew and boys should be glad that they know how to do things and how to be useful. Boys should be encouraged to care for poultry or stock and to work in the garden. 'Back to the farm' has been the call. If we will give our boys and girls the right kind of country schools, if we will make the work interesting, and if we will make the social conditions attractive in country districts we can keep our young on the farm. Oregon is in the forefront in this great educational movement. The work is state-wide and what our schools and the boys and girls did last year has been talked about in every state. Then support your school fair, the county fair and the state contest."

The school fair at Rogue River will become an annual event and an important one in the work of the school and the training of the children.

At Phoenix the school fair was held in the basement of the high school building and the exhibit consisted of the various kinds of garden products, vegetables, pop corn, sweet corn, field corn, canned fruit, articles of sewing, (dresses and aprons) bread, cake and a fine display of the school work done the past year. The products were of excellent quality and the young people used very good judgment in selecting. The canned fruit shown by the girls ranging in age from ten to fourteen years, would do credit to any housekeeper. It should have a place at the county fair and at the state fair. After the prizes were awarded all were asked to go to the assembly room where a program of addresses and talks was given. Principal Azor of the Phoenix schools presided and the first speaker introduced was Superintendent George A. Briscoe of Ashland who gave a short but most interesting and instructive talk on school teachers and school work. He said that we should have more trained teachers in our schools and that any one normal school could not prepare them fast enough. He urged the support of the state university in every voter who had Oregon's best interests at heart. He gave the boys and girls a word of encouragement in closing.

The next speaker was Superintendent Wells who spoke in school fairs briefly and introduced L. P. Honigh who gave a talk on the new educational movement now receiving so much desired attention in Oregon. The speaker said "Give the boys and girls a chance; let them have something which they can call their own and let it be theirs. Make the county school (the union high school) the community center for the activities of the district. Make the school and the school work fit the needs of the boy and girl and do not try to make them fit the school. The school fair is a move in the right direction. Just note the interest manifested here today. Let the good work continue another year."

As at Rogue River the ladies here deserve much credit for the success as also the business men who gave the prizes. All agreed that the Phoenix fair was worth while.

The writer has been unable to secure a complete list of prize winners at the Phoenix fair. There were over one hundred entries and the competition was sharp.

ACKNOWLEDGE IT

Medford Has to Bow to the Inevitable Scores of Citizens Prove It.

After reading the public statement of this representative citizen of Medford given below, you must come to this conclusion: A remedy which proved so beneficial years ago with the kidneys, can naturally be expected to perform the same work in similar cases. Read this:

Mrs. J. H. Baussan, Central avenue, Medford, Ore., says: "I was so bad with kidney trouble that I could not do my housework. My back was weak and painful and in the morning when I got up, I was lame and sore. The kidney secretions were unnatural and my health steadily ran down until I was hardly able to get about. While in that condition, I read about Doan's Kidney Pills and got a box. I felt better from the time I commenced using them and it was not long before I was cured. I am in a position to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to anyone afflicted with kidney complaint." (Statement given September 14, 1907.)

Re-Endorsement. When Mrs. Baussan was interviewed several years later, she said: "My former endorsement of Doan's Kidney Pills still holds good. Since this remedy cured me I have had no further attack of kidney complaint and I have enjoyed good health."

GRANDMA USED SAGE TEA TO DARKEN HAIR

She Made up a Mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to Bring Back Color, Gloss, Thickness

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant, remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, gray or dry, scraggly and thin. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," thus avoiding a lot of fuss.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not shifful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared
