Federal Judge Aldrich Issues Writ of Habeas Corpus Returnable Next Tuesday—Both Sides Enjoined From Kidnaping Prisoner.

Long Stay in New Hampshire Now Assured—Governor Considers the Question of Honoring Requisition.

CONCORD, N. H., Sept. 13.—Federal Judge Aldrich this afternoon issued a writ of habeas corpus for Harry Thaw on the application of the latter's lawyers.

The writ was made returnable at Middletown at 1 o'clock Tuesday. It was said it will insure Thaw a long stay in New Hampshire.

Simultaneously with the issuance of the writ, Judge Aldrich enjoined either side from kidnaping the Pittsburger.

CONCORD, N. H., Sept. 13.—Sheriff Hornbeck of Dutchess county, New York, arrived here today with a requisition for Harry K. Thaw. He telegraphed to Attorney Jerome at Colebrook announcing his arrival.

COLEBROOK, N. H., Sept. 13.—Justice of the Peace Carr continued until next Thursday the hearing of the case against Harry K. Thaw as a fugitive from justice. In the meantime Governor Felker will consider representations why he should and should not honor New York's requisition for Thaw. It was not known whether Attorney Jerome had accepted the Thaw lawyer's offer to agree to an argument of the requisition proposition before the governor if he, Jerome, would promise to give them five days for the institution of habeas corpus proceedings, in the event of an adverse decision by the governor.

DETENTION TALK DOES NOT WORRY MILITANT LEADER

PARIS, Sept. 13.—"I am not worried about my reception by the American immigration authorities," said Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the English militant suffragette leader, in an interview at her hotel here today. "I have visited the United States twice before and have the pleasantest recollections of the kindness with which I was received."

"After your English prison experiences, Ellis Island ought not to have many terrors for you anyway," the reporter suggested.

"I assure you I don't like discomfort," replied Mrs. Pankhurst, "but I believe the American immigration officers, will decide, as the Canadian authorities did, that I have been guilty of no act of moral turpitude."

"I am to sail on La Provence October 11, and shall speak twice, soon after my arrival in America in late November, just before I return to England, where I must fill several engagements early in December. I shall also visit as many American cities as possible. I am sorry I shall not have time to go far west."

"My plan is to describe to Americans what the English suffragettes are doing and why their success is much to be desired."

It was learned here that the nature of Mrs. Pankhurst's reception in New York depends on the result of investigations the American immigration authorities are making in England. If not found guilty of moral turpitude she will not be detained.

COMPLAINT FILED AGAINST SECRETARY POST WHEELER

BIG TIM'S BODY FOUND MANGLED ALONG RAILROAD

Congressman Timothy Sullivan Killed at Pelham Bay—Suffered Complete Mental and Physical Breakdown Year Ago.

Was Famous Friend of the Bowery and Benefactor of New York's Poor and Friendless.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Representative Timothy J. Sullivan's body, badly mangled, was found at Pelham bay beside the railroad tracks. Sullivan was struck by a railroad train.

First word of Sullivan's death was received here by Attorney William Ellison, a close friend. Relatives of the former politician and theatrical magnate identified the corpse at Pelham Bay's morgue.

"Big Tim" had been staying at the Pelham bay home of a brother for months in care of attendants. He suffered a complete physical and mental breakdown about a year ago. A trip to health resorts abroad failed to improve his condition. Specialists were unable to give him relief.

Bowery Mourns Loss

New York's famous Bowery was hit hard by the news. It was here that "Big Tim" was best loved. Thousands of residents of this section of the city had profited by his generosity. If a family was in need "Big Tim" always seemed to know about it first, and he always gave first relief.

"I love them all," he used to say, "and when they suffer I suffer, too. My Bowery friends shall not want as long as I have a dollar."

Friend of Poor

The one thing that always seemed to afford Sullivan the most pleasure was an annual winter event. With the coming of the first snow "Big Tim" called a general meeting of needy Boweryites. Those in need of shoes got them. If others needed overcoats they got them, too. He gave away thousands of dollars in this way.

The body now lies in the morgue on East Twenty-sixth street here. It was besieged today by men, women and children. Most of them wept. "It ain't him," they were heard to say. "Big Tim couldn't die. He was too good. They've found some other guy."

Bowery in Tears

The police kept the crowd in check, but the people lingered throughout the afternoon. Lawrence Mulligan, Tim's half-brother, identified the corpse. He emerged from the morgue, weeping. The crowd then realized that the reports were true.

Mulligan and Attorney Ellison denied this afternoon that "Big Tim" was near bankruptcy. They admitted, however, that financial difficulties had caused him some worry. They said numerous forged notes, executed by people whom he had helped were found among his accounts.

Sullivan disappeared at 4 o'clock in the morning of August 31. Employees of the New Haven railroad found his corpse, where it had evidently been thrown by the train, which must have struck him at 4:45.

For twelve days the body lay in the Fordham morgue, unrecognized. It was not until it was sent to the Bellevue morgue for interment in the Potter's field that it was seen and recognized by a policeman.

IDENTIFY BODY OF DECAPITATED WOMAN AS BROOKLYN GIRL

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Basing his identification on a birthmark on the shoulder, Francis Day, a Brooklyn real estate dealer, is positive here today that the decapitated body found recently at Cliffside, N. J., is that of his sister, Antoinette Day, aged 22 years. The police are inclined to accept Day's identification. Day was closeted with police inspectors for several hours today. He told of his sister's acquaintance with a young physician who graduated two years ago from the Long Island College of Physicians and Surgeons. In August, Day declared, members of the family learned that Antoinette was facing motherhood. Two days before the finding of the corpse at Cliffside, Day said, his sister disappeared. The police are searching today for the physician.

Several months ago the physician is reported to have gone to California, returning to New York only recently. A group photograph of medical graduates, including that of the suspected physician, today was shown Druggist Hurwitz, from whom a disheveled man bought tar paper similar to that found wrapped about the corpse. Hurwitz was uncertain of identification, but said he looks like the man.

GAYNOR'S REMAINS LAY IN STATE IN LIVERPOOL HALL

LIVERPOOL, Sept. 13.—The remains of the late Mayor William J. Gaynor of New York were taken on board the steamship Lusitania today. The ship was scheduled to sail at five p. m. The body was taken from the town hall, where it lay in state last night, to the pier under escort of a detachment of mounted police and placed in an especially constructed mortuary chapel. It was met at the gangplank by the officers of the Lusitania and a guard of honor consisting of the liner's quartermasters. The ship's flags were at half mast and the mortuary draped in mourning. There were no crowds and no excitement.

Before the body was removed from the town hall, the Rev. Theodore Howard vicar of St. Matthew's church, held a brief service according to the Anglican ritual. The late mayor's son, Rufus, was absent, and the only persons present, were the American correspondents, the undertaker and a few city hall attendants.

The metallic casket in which the body was enclosed on board the Baltic had previously been opened and the body re-embalmed, the undertaker declaring this necessary.

On the pine box in which the casket was enclosed was the plain inscription: "William J. Gaynor, September, 1913."

The Lusitania will reach New York next Friday.

URGES PUBLICITY FOR MEDICAL DISCOVERIES

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Sept. 13.—Publicity for medical discoveries was strongly urged by J. Scott McNutt of Orange, N. J., at the health association convention here today. "By all means let us have publicity, tempered by accuracy," he said. "We should strike to make the remedy as well known as the disease. The power of publicity was strikingly illustrated by the widespread interest which the newspaper created in the Friedmann treatment. "If the country's health authorities give the same prominence to a single important principle of hygiene that that treatment received, the saving of life and the improvement in the public's health would be incalculable."

NO FREE SPEECH PERMITTED BRYAN AT SEATTLE FAIR

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 13.—Congressman J. W. Bryan, who came all the way across the continent by invitation to make a speech at the King county fair, refused to comply upon his arrival here today because demand was made before he would be permitted to mount the rostrum, that he expurgate his remarks. Upon leaving the national house of representatives last week, after he had been denied the privilege of speaking to resolutions calling for a congressional investigation of the Seattle I. W. W. riots, Bryan announced that he was going to Seattle and there at the King county fair, he would exercise the right of "free speech," denied him in the halls of congress. Bryan was in the midst of a vitriolic attack on the editor of the Seattle Times, when stopped in congress, and it is understood that he intended renewing that attack today, and that the refusal of the fair association to permit this caused his refusal to speak on any subject.

CALIFORNIANS LOSE FIGHT FOR TARIFF ON WINE

Conferees Agree to Drop Pomerene and Stone Amendments Taxing Brandy Used in Fortifying Wines and Taxing Spurious Wines.

Wiley Asserts Amendment "Another Attempt to Shoot Pure Food Law Full of Holes."

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—The Pomerene amendment taxing brandy used in fortifying California wines at the rate of $1.10 per gallon and also taxing spurious wines, was stricken from the tariff bill in conference between the senate and the house today.

The democratic conferees agreed to drop the Pomerene amendment following a statement by Dr. Wiley, in which he bitterly attacked the senate's attitude.

Wiley characterized the Stone amendment to the tariff bill, exempting from taxation wines "made from grapes, berries or other fruits" if sugar and not more than 25 per cent of water are added, as "another attempt to shoot the pure food law full of holes and an outrageous effort to debauch the wines of this country."

He declared it impossible to detect the adulteration of such wine. The Stone and Pomerene amendments were both eliminated.

ECCENTRIC SUICIDE USED TREE HE PLANTED

PARIS, Sept. 13.—Tired of life, a former official of the Paris-Lyons-Mediterranean railway hanged himself to a branch of an acacia tree which he had planted many years ago, with the intention, it is said, of committing suicide therefrom. Before he climbed the tree he placed on the trunk the following invocation: "Tree, which I straightened and tended in thy young days, sustain me in my old age."

This eccentric suicide left $20 to a carpenter to provide a plain coffin, $20 to a grave digger and $20 to a skittle club to be distributed in prizes for a bowling match to be played over his grave. He also left money to eighty of his friends to be expended on a banquet to be taken round his coffin.

The Brigandia is in no danger and will probably be pulled off at the next high tide.

The Alcoa went aground Wednesday and a dredge has been working to get her back into deep water since that time.

Straw of Marshfield, lieutenant commander of the Oregon Naval Militia is to be tried before a court martial for his alleged connection with a mob that several months ago drove three members of the I. W. W. from Marshfield, was the report current here today. It is known that Governor West has conferred with Adjutant General Finzer with this end in view. The civil authorities are now making an investigation of the deportation cases.

JOHN D.'S PASTOR SPANKED FATHER FOR ABUSE OF WIFE

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 13.—The Rev. Elijah Hanley, president of Franklin (Ind.) college, and John D. Rockefeller's former pastor, signed a statement today admitting that he chastised his father, Calvin Hanley, 65 years of age, with a switch, and, when the switch broke, spanked him.

The son maintained, however, that the older man's abuse of his wife justified strong measures.

"I owe everything to my mother," said the Rev. Hanley's statement, "and I have seen her deprived of all reasonable privileges until she wished for death. I have offered repeatedly to take her into my own home, but she considered it her duty to remain with my father until death separated them."

"For twenty-five years I have kept my hands off my father, but when he called my mother an un-speakable name and wished her in hell, I could stand it no longer."
