

100 BOSC TREES YIELD 700 BOXES IN SEVENTH YEAR

That the timber land of the Butte creek section, when cleared, makes the finest of orchard land has been demonstrated by Mike Hanley.

Mr. Hanley has a small family orchard on his Little Butte ranch, which never fails to produce abundantly. As an experiment, he planted 100 Bosc pear trees seven years ago. He has just shipped the crop harvested from these trees, 700 boxes from the 100 trees, or an average of seven boxes to the tree. The pears are good sized, averaging fifty to the half box. As Bosc are netting $2.50 a box and better, the 700 trees provide quite an income.

The making of butter, cheese and other dairy products is also included in the powers of the company and also the manufacture and sale of ice and distilled water. The company will also pack and ship fruits in the natural state during the proper season.

An election of directors resulted in the choice of P. S. Ransby, William H. Johnson and George Lampebach to serve for the ensuing term of one year. A set of by-laws outlining a plan of government for the concern were submitted and on motion adopted. It is expected that the directors will hold their first meeting today, when the president, secretary, treasurer and other officers will be chosen and steps taken to begin operations in a few days.

The theatrical season in Medford will open next Monday with one of the most pronounced comedy successes of last season in New York City, "Officer 666," which will be presented at the Page Theater, Monday, October 6th.

This comedy by Augustin MacHugh, in three acts and was first produced at the Gaiety Theater, New York, where it ran the entire season to a continual fusillade of laughter, which, it is said, eclipsed all other comedy offerings during the period of its merry metropolitan existence. The unfolding of the ingenious story of "Officer 666" results in rapid-fire farce comedy situations, full of bewildering action, and to the accompaniment of howls of side-splitting laughter. The plot, while of course farcical, is reasonable and consistent, leaving the minds of the audience entirely free to comprehend and enjoy the delightful absurdities of its many humorous situations.

KING SEAL MAKES GOOD ON TRACK

To the Editor:
I see by your paper that someone is anxious to have you print a little about my horse, King Seal, and would give him credit for what he is doing here. I enclose a clipping I cut out of your paper, stating that King Seal has been out of the money several times. I have started King Seal in seven races and he has been in the money every time except at Seattle, where I withdrew him out of the race because his leg was pretty sore from getting hit in a mix-up in the first race he was in this year at Centralia, Wash., and he has been racing with a pretty sore leg ever since. At Vancouver, B. C., he paced the fastest mile that was ever paced in a 2:14 class at Vancouver or British Columbia, beating a well known horse as College Gent, Painter's Daughter, Yeada, Aidney, ten starters. King Seal paced the mile and took a record of 2:11 1/4. So he holds the track record at Vancouver. Also at Roseburg he broke the track record, which was 2:16 1/4. King Seal paced the mile in 2:12—those are half-mile tracks. The way he races and the condition he is in shows that he is as good a horse that ever hit the turf. Yours truly,
T. L. TAYLOR.

PROVOST WINNER BENNETT TROPHY

RIDGERS, Sept. 29.—Aviator Maurice Provost won the race for the James Gordon Bennett trophy today. He averaged 125 miles an hour, breaking all records.

As a result of the French manufacturers' boycott of the race, the prospective English, German and Italian contestants followed Weymann's example in withdrawing, leaving Crambert, a Belgian, as the only participant except the French flyer De Purdissin.

Other aeroplane manufacturers throughout France boycotted the race because it was dominated by the De Purdissin interests and because he was unable to get any but a De Purdissin machine, on short notice. Charles Weymann, the American who was to have completed, did not start.

O'GARA RAPIDLY RECOVERING FROM SERIOUS OPERATION

Prof. P. J. O'Gara, who was recently operated upon at San Francisco, is rapidly recuperating, as shown by the following letter from him:

"I am out again with the following remarkable record: Operated Sept. 18, noon; in a wheel chair and on the roof garden of the hospital in forty-six hours; walked a few steps and got in and out of wheel chair morning of the fifth day; dressed fully, walked about, discharged by surgeon morning of the seventh day after the operation. Went on the table weighing 140 pounds, weighed 111 on sixth day and 147 on seventh day after the operation.

"Due to many attacks, the appendix was practically gone, but the intestines had many adhesions between themselves and the abdominal wall. My surgeon found it necessary to examine every organ and the incision was therefore much larger than for an ordinary appendectomy. The operation was not for appendicitis, as it was determined before the operation that there was really no appendix left. There was not enough left to remove, so it was left untouched as it will never give me any more trouble.

"The new Crile anesthetic is wonderful. There is no shock. Besides I was not sick a moment as a result of it. It is the only anesthetic which should be used and ether and chloroform should be tabooed.

"I am doing fine and will return as soon as I feel that I can safely do so. I now feel fully able to run a 200-mile race with S. P. Rosenbaum with hopes of winning. For the present I am taking a little rest cure at a quiet hotel where I am hiding from the many friends I have in the city. I spend about four hours out of twenty-four, out of bed as ordered by my surgeon.

"I am really in a hurry to get back to work, as this enforced idleness gets on my nerves. Besides, I want to get to the Rogue River valley, which has more attraction for me than any place on earth."

EX-KING MANUEL'S BRIDE LEAVES HIM

MUNICH, Sept. 29.—That the bride of ex-King Manuel of Portugal has refused to live with her husband and was reported here today. It was stated at the hospital where she is now a patient that she is suffering from a pelvic trouble and will go to her father's home as soon as she is able to travel, which will not be for several weeks. The hospital attendants denied, however, that she and Manuel are estranged.

ULSTERITES CONCEAL THOUSANDS OF RIFLES

LONDON, Sept. 29.—Anti-home-rulers asserted today that the Orange forces in Ulster have thousands of modern rifles, concealed but in readiness for use in resisting laws passed by an Irish parliament. The anti-home-rulers' claim was made in response to a speech by John Rodmond yesterday, in which he ridiculed Ulster's military preparations, saying the only arms provided are wooden rifles.
