

NEW YORK WINS TEN INNING GAME 3 TO 0

MATTY VICTOR OVER PLANK IN PITCHER'S FIGHT

Ten-Inning Game With No Scores at End of Ninth—Matty Wins Game by Excellent Pitching and Timely Hit in Tenth Inning.

(By Hal Sheridan.)
PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 8.—Resplendent old Christy Mathewson brought home the bacon for the New York Giants today in one of the greatest games in the history of the world's series. Connie Mack pinned faith on Eddie Plank, and although the Six' had the edge, inasmuch as his safe wallop brought home the run that enabled the Giants to defeat Philadelphia 3 to 0.

For nine innings Mathewson and Plank fought neck and neck. But in the end Plank cracked, while Mathewson appeared stronger in the tenth frame than at the start.

In the first and second inning Plank sent the Giants back to the bench in one, two, three order. Rube Oldring, the second man up in the first inning brought the crowd to its feet with a solid swat to left. Eddie Collins, one of the most dangerous pinch-hitters in the game, followed, and things looked squally for Matty. Collins, however, sacrificed, and Big Six showed his class by fanning "Homerun" Baker. McInnes then fled to Burns.

Crisis in the Ninth
After this inning Mathewson mowed down the Athletics in order until the last half of the ninth, when it seemed certain that the Athletics would romp home with another victory. But it was not to be. Strunk, the first man up, singled, and Harry beat out a bunt. Doyle bobbed Barry's grounder, threw wild to Witte and Strunk ambled to third. Barry taking second. Big Six grinded his belt up a notch, and then pitched baseball. Lapp hit to Witte, who threw to McLean, forcing Strunk at the plate. Plank then hit a grounder to Witte who threw to McLean to catch Harry. McLean threw to Herzog, who returned the ball to Mathewson. Big Six tagged Barry and then made Murphy line to Witte. Mathewson was given an ovation as he went to the bench.

Matty Wins Game
Plank wobbled in the first half of the tenth. McLean, the first man up, sent a clean single to right, and McGraw sent in Grant to run for his catcher. Witte sacrificed, sending Grant to second. The crowd yelled at Matty to win his own game, and the wonderful pitcher was equal to the occasion, sending a clean single to left and Grant scampered home with the first run of the game.

Herzog then hit to Collins and was safe on the second sacker's wild throw. Matty moving to third and Herzog to second. Plank then hit Doyle, filling the bases. Fletcher showed his worth as a pinchhitter by sending a clean single over Baker's head, scoring both Mathewson and Herzog.

Burns fanned and Shafter ended the inning by flying to Murphy.

Crowd Below Normal
Mathewson was invincible in the tenth. Oldring, Collins and Baker going out in order.

The crowd today was far below that which saw yesterday's game in New York. Yesterday the receipts were above $75,000; today they were

PRESIDENT PRODS CURRENCY BILL

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—President Wilson called the senate leaders into conference today and outlined his plans for immediate action on the currency bill. It was understood he proposes to force democratic realignments into line by insisting that they fulfill their caucus pledges. He may issue a statement soon setting the issue forth in detail.

THOUSANDSWAIT ALL NIGHT FOR GAME IN RAIN

Merkle Out of Series From Sprained Ankle—Snodgrass Also Lame—Meyers Loses Finger Nail—Johnson Presented Automobile.

(By Hal Sheridan.)
PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 8.—Despite a misty drizzle which soaked through to the skin, more than 1000 fans waited all night outside Shibe Park, indicating that another crowd of 40,000 persons would witness the second game in the world's series this afternoon between the New York Giants and the Philadelphia Athletics. At 5 o'clock 5000 persons were in line.

Boys holding places in line sheltered by a fence sold their positions at a premium. Willie Smith, aged 7 years, a cripple, held fourth place in the line since 8:30 o'clock last night.

At 11 o'clock a light drizzle set in again. The weather bureau predicted it would continue, but that it probably would not rain enough to prevent the game.

Merkle Out of Game

The Giants expressed determination of winning today's game. Christy Mathewson is expected to twirl for the Giants, while Mack probably will pitch Bush on account of his tremendous speed.

The wives of Marquard, Doyle, Meyers, Demarse and Witte accompanied the Giants to Philadelphia.

The condition of First Baseman Merkle is worrying Manager McGraw. Merkle twisted an ankle in yesterday's game, and it probably will prevent him from getting into today's fracas.

At noon the mist again disappeared and a light breeze from the east eliminated the chill.

The loss of Merkle and services is a serious blow to the Giants. His ankle was packed in ice last night, but it still was too sore to stand upon today. It is not known who will play first base but it probably will be Witte, who is a poor batter. Wilson and McLean also are available.

At 12:20 o'clock the gates were opened and 10,000 fans filed into the grounds.

Johnson Given Auto
N bones were broken in Merkle's foot, but his ankle is badly sprained. Doyle said Witte probably would play first base.

The Athletics appeared on the field at 1 o'clock, the Giants following a few minutes later. "Homerun" Baker was loudly cheered.

Empire Connolly was behind the

FATALITIES END BEACHEY'S FLIGHTS

HAMMONDSPORT, N. Y., Oct. 7.—Heartbroken at the killing of his friend, Ruth Hildreth and the probable fatal injury of her sister Dorothy, by his aeroplane yesterday, Lincoln Beachey today was considering going flying forever.

The Misses Ruth and Dorothy Hildreth, aged respectively 20 and 18, with Lieutenant Richardson and Lieutenant Bellinger of the United States army aviation corps, were watching Beachey from the roof of a building on Curtiss field. Beachey was about to attempt an aerial somersault when, as his machine flew past the party, he momentarily lost control of a foot lever, the machine swerved, the rear plane swept the quartet from the roof, and then the machine itself plunged thirty feet to the ground.

Ruth Hildreth was killed almost instantly by striking her head on the corner of an automobile and her sister probably will die. Beachey is still suffering from a sprained wrist and ankle, and Richardson and Bellinger from severe bruises.

NEGRO STICKS TO MURDER MANIA AS CRIME CAUSE

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 8.—Admission by Burr Harris, followed almost instantly by repudiation, that he was hired to murder Mrs. Rebecca P. Gay, has given the police further material today for investigation.

Mrs. Gay, a Christian Science practitioner, was beaten to death in her office two weeks ago. Harris, a negro, was arrested Sunday at San Diego, where he confessed to the crime, admitting further that he killed Mrs. Malvina Haskins at Compton two years ago and had attempted other murders in Los Angeles by means of poisoned candy and a dynamite bomb.

Under merciless questions Harris said that he was given $100 to kill Mrs. Gay but retracted his statement to declare that a recurrent murder mania drove him to the act, and that Mrs. Gay was his victim merely through unimportant circumstances.

Harris was brought to Los Angeles late yesterday and taken at once to the hotel in the bottom of the river he occupied with his mother. He led the officers to a quiet spot in the sandunes where he unearthed the bloody clothes worn when he killed Mrs. Gay and told of his flight after the murder to the river bed where he buried the clothes before fleeing to San Diego.

Chief of Police Sebastian and men of his department closeted themselves with the murderer early today to attempt to wring further admissions from him.

DARKNESS REIGNS OVER RUINED NOME

NOME, Oct. 8.—Darkness still reigned in Nome last night, the electric lighting plant being out of commission.

The Pacific Cold Storage company's warehouse being destroyed, the meat supply was also limited to the small stocks in the butcher shops which escaped the storm's fury.

WILSON DENIES CALLING OPPONENTS OF BILL REBELS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—President Wilson today sent the following letter to the editor of the Washington Post:

"I am quoted in your issue this morning with saying that any democrat who does not support my currency measure is a rebel. Of course I never said anything of the sort as it would be against my thought and character. I must ask that you give a prominent place to this letter in your issue of tomorrow.

"WOODROW WILSON."

FEDERATION TALK SUNDAY CLOSURE

FRESNO, Cal., Oct. 8.—Whether wage-earners would profit by a law absolutely prohibiting employers from working any class of labor on Sunday was among the main topics of unofficial discussion at the state labor federation convention here today.

The proposition came from the barbers' convention, which opened here simultaneously with the federation. The barbers have $10,000 pledged to circulate petitions for a referendum on the proposed law.

The federation has hitherto refused to indorse a general Sunday closing law.

Organization of migratory workers was discussed in General Organizer J. B. Dale's report. "Organized men have not rallied to the work," Dale said, "with the enthusiasm that it deserves."

By taking up the task energetically, he added, the I. W. W. organizers will be wholly disarmed.

4000 REFUGEES ON MEXICAN BORDER

EAGLE PASS, Texas, Oct. 8.—Four thousand refugees were camped on the Mexican side of the border today, hoping for admission into the United States. They were suffering intensely from illness, hunger and exposure.

$15,000 DAMAGE SUIT ON TRIAL IN FEDERAL COURT

The damage suit of R. H. Alexander against the California-Oregon Power company for $15,000 began this morning in the federal court before Judge Wolverton. Alexander alleges negligence on the part of the electric company in not providing proper safeguards, and that he is suffering nervous afflictions as a result, besides the loss of the fingers of his right hand. The plaintiff is represented by Attorney W. E. Phipps and the electric company by Attorney A. C. Hough of Grants Pass.

The accident upon which Alexander bases his plea for damages occurred last February, and Attorney Hough in his opening outline told the jury that he would show that the accident was due to the negligence of Lineman Raymer, who accompanied Alexander on a trip to repair a "dead" line south of Ashland.

Alexander climbed a pole and was making repairs when he grabbed a live wire and received the full voltage through his body. Raymer, his fellow-worker, passed a rope around his body and lowered his body to the ground. When Alexander went to light his pipe he discovered that his hand was burned so severely as to necessitate amputation.

Besides a number of witnesses, electricians and physicians will be called by both sides to show the effects of electricity. At noon Alexander was called to the stand and began his testimony, which dealt with the incidents leading up to the accident. Both sides presented large imitations of the wires and poles of the accident.

The jury was drawn as follows: Leon B. Haskins, James O. Owens, O. M. Knox, Ed Hanley, J. F. Brown, H. B. Kitterman, F. M. Rathburn, James Marsh, J. C. Jones, F. O. Youngblood, William Likonberger and William R. Yeo. The case will occupy the entire day and will be given to the jury tomorrow morning.

Yesterday afternoon Ernest Foreman of Jacksonville pleaded guilty to failure to answer a federal subpoena and was fined $50 by the court.

UNION PACIFIC LOSS FEATURE OF MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—A decline in Union Pacific marked the opening of the stock market today, the stock dropping 2 and Reading 1. Western Union also was weak, losing 1/2. Union Pacific extended its loss to 3 3/4 and United Steel went 10 points under its top figure two weeks ago. Many other leaders broke 1 to points.

RUSSIA'S FAMED RITUAL MURDER CASE IN COURT

Efforts of Russian Government to Fasten Crime Upon Jews Aired in Trial of Alleged Slayer of Youth—Vampire of Royalty.

KIEFF, Oct. 8.—After lying in jail for two years and a half, Mendel Beilis was placed on trial today in the criminal section of the Kieff district court for "ritual murder." On account of the extraordinary interest the case has attracted throughout Europe, the courtroom was packed by a cosmopolitan throng when Judge Boldyreff and his associates mounted the bench and began the impelling of a jury.

Charges Trumped Up

Ever since the morning of April 1, 1911, when the mutilated body of Andrei Moshinsky, a 12-year-old Christian boy, was found in an abandoned brickyard just outside Kieff the prosecution has been endeavoring to establish the theory that he was slain in accordance with an alleged Jewish rite prescribed by the Talmud, so that his blood might be used in making passover bread. For centuries the ignorant and superstitious Jew-baiters of Russia have clung to the belief that this "rite" is regularly practiced by the Jewish race, and the government has apparently done all it could to foster this idea. M. Krassovsky, chief of the Kieff detective department, was actually instructed to proceed on the theory that the crime was the work of Jews, although the only possible pretext for the "ritual" charge was that the boy's body bore forty-seven stab wounds. According to current superstition the "ritual murder" is accomplished by forty-five wounds. He could obtain absolutely no evidence along the required lines, but on the contrary believed he had traced the murderer to a gang of thieves to which neighbors of the boy's family belonged and who were known to be fearful that Yashinsky would betray them to the authorities. He secured evidence that one of the thieves was seen with a chisel shortly before the murder and that this same implement, covered with blood, was found by two boys near the brick-kiln afterwards. The boys, upon orders of their thief, threw it into a sewer.

Police Reprimanded

When Krassovsky made his first report to his superiors he was sternly reprimanded. Later he was practically forced by them to arrest Mendel Beilis, a Jew, 40 years of age, foreman of the brickyard, in whose room one of the thieves' gang said he had found some of the boy's clothing. On producing further evidence indicating the guilt of the thieves and the innocence of Beilis, Krassovsky was dismissed from office. When a fresh investigation was made under the direction of his successor, M. Mistehouk, he and his assistants quickly came to the conclusion that the ritual murder theory was fantastically untrue and so reported to the authorities. The result was not only the dismissal of Mistehouk and two of his men, but their arrest on charges of "fabricating documents favorable to the Jews." They were acquitted, but

MINE GUARD KILLED AT CALUMET MINE

CALUMET, Mich., Oct. 8.—The body of James Polack, a mine guard, was found today on the Hurontown road, near Houghton. The corpse was badly disfigured but two bullet wounds in the head had caused death. Five copper mine strikers were arrested this morning and charged with Polack's murder.

Disorders continue today. Three hundred strikers started a demonstration in the vicinity of Osceola mine but were dispersed by state cavalry.

SULZER SHOWS SIGNS OF BEING NEAR COLLAPSE

Governor Extremely Nervous—Secretary Takes Blame for Financial Mixup—Admits Ignorance of Law and Kept No Accounts.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 8.—Convincing William Sulzer at the last moment that it would be unwise in him to take the witness stand in his own defense, the accused executive's lawyers rested their case in the impeachment trial this afternoon.

It was expected that the prosecution would put a few witnesses on the stand in rebuttal and that the concluding arguments would then begin.

It was the general opinion that the closing day or two of the trial spelled defeat for the governor.

Defeat for Governor

The story told Monday by Allan A. Ryan, Thomas F. Ryan's son, was had enough. Sulzer had tried to get him, he said, to use his influence with Senator Root to use his influence in turn with "Boss" Barnes to have the republican state senators support the governor in the impeachment case. This account, though Justice Cullen ruled it out, angered the republican senators and set them, as well as the Tammany forces, against the governor.

But worse was to come. The impeachment court voted to overrule Cullen and Ryan's testimony went back into the record. He supplemented it, too. Sulzer also, he said, asked him to urge Boss Murphy to call off the Tammany attack on the governor, promising if Murphy complied to "do what was right."

Ryan Unwilling Witness

Ryan was not a willing witness. Then appeared Sulzer's campaign secretary, Louis Sarecky, on the stand. Sarecky's loyalty to the governor was admirable. The secretary took upon himself entire responsibility for every campaign offense or irregularity charged against the governor, but the admissions he made of the reckless handling of Sulzer's campaign funds were so astonishing that few auditors of his story but inclined to think the court would hold Sulzer himself must have known much of the situation.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 8.—Governor Sulzer showed signs of extreme nervousness today and his friends were worried by fears of a complete breakdown. His lawyers were trying to persuade him not to take the stand in his own behalf at the impeachment trial but the governor stuck obstinately to his determination to tell his story in person from the stand.

Louis Sarecky, Sulzer's campaign

LISTER MUZZLES JUDGE HUMPHRIES

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 8.—It appears today that Judge Humphries who has been running amuck during the two past weeks, summarily sending men and women to jail is at last muzzled and put on the shelf. Developments in the sensational case came rapidly after editors of three Seattle papers yesterday telegraphed Governor Lister asking him to pardon Humphries' victims and to take action looking to the impeachment of the judge. The governor wired that he would come to Seattle immediately, but before his arrival Humphries released all of the thirty-eight prisoners and indicated that he was through with the affair.

The governor met last night with the nine superior court judges, Humphries coming to the conference unexpectedly. Lister criticized Humphries pointedly as did some of the other judges, and while no statement was given out, it appeared that Humphries had agreed to the program mapped out by the governor.
