SOLDIER NEAR COLLAPSE

manager and secretary, testified yesterday that he received many contributions to the candidate's campaign, deposited some of them to his own account, failed to keep an accurate list of them because he did not know the law on the subject and finally fixed up an account from memory, which Sulzer signed without examining it.

He admitted, too, that he used some campaign contributions for other than campaign purposes, though always in Sulzer's interest, and that he himself signed Sulzer's name to a letter to the Mutual Alliance Trust company, purporting to authorize the secretary to draw and deposit money for the governor.

Secretary Takes Blame

In short, insofar as he could, he took the entire blame for all the offenses and irregularities of which Sulzer is accused.

He acknowledged that, though an unnaturalized Russian, he was promoted from the post of secretary to the governor to the head of the state hospital commission's deportation bureau.

Under cross examination today Sarecky was forced into further somewhat damaging admissions. He was still a good witness for the defense to the extent of sticking to his story that he, and not the governor, should be blamed for any carelessness or misconduct in the handling of Sulzer's campaign money, but it was generally considered doubtful if the court would accept as true his assertion that his employer knew nothing of any of the remarkable things the witness acknowledged.

Destroyed All Evidence

He had destroyed all the campaign records of receipts and expenditures, Sarecky said, as well as all canceled checks and stubs connected with the case.

He remembered receiving large contributions from brewers and liquor interests but could not explain why only one of them was included in Sulzer's campaign account. He could not give a single reason why Jacob Schif's $10,000 contribution to Sulzer's campaign fund was not accounted for.

Modifying his previous statement that he did not know the law concerning the accounting for campaign contributions, he admitted, too, that he was familiar with the corrupt practices act.

CHICKENS WILL COME HOME TO ROOST?

THE county court of Klamath county has begun the publication of a series of articles in the Klamath Northwestern, urging upon the people the necessity of constructing a highway south to join the Pacific highway in California and so provide a route through central Oregon. Among other remarks are the following:

California has bonded herself for $18,000,000 to build a state highway from north to south. This highway will pass through Siskiyou county and intersect the Oregon-California state line near Coles or Hill, Jackson county has seen the value of this and as stated above has provided a bond issue of $500,000 to meet this great highway and carry it on north through Jackson county to other counties which will complete the same on through the state.

The only hope for Klamath county is to get a branch road from this great highway through Siskiyou county, either by Grass Lake Pass, Ball Mountain Road or Klamath River Route. And Siskiyou county must be persuaded to build a large portion of this road since it will pass for miles through Siskiyou territory.

Unless we get this road we will be sidetracked just as we were for years before the Southern Pacific company built into the Klamath basin.

The idea that Klamath county has a chance to bring the California highway to some point near Dorris instead of Coles or Hill should be forgotten as soon as possible since there is absolutely no chance therefor. This being the case we had better meet the situation as it is and stake our efforts toward securing one good satisfactory outlet to this great highway.

This is probably preliminary to launching a campaign for bonding Klamath county for the construction of a trunk line through the county—a move imperative for the future growth and development of the country, which perhaps more than any other section is dependent upon the tourist.

Here is where the chickens of repudiation will come home to roost. Who will want to buy securities from a county flying the black flag of repudiation?

What guarantee is there that the knoekers' "spite-fence" will not be extended to include road bonds as well as county warrants?

PORTLAND'S OPPORTUNITY

THE PORTLAND TELEGRAM is much concerned over the fact that Portland cannot see the world's baseball champions on their tour of the world. It says:

Portland is said to be the most generous patron of the game on the coast. It supports not one but two professional clubs. Under such circumstances why should it be left off the list? Who is at fault? Will not our baseball managers, who surely have largely profited by the game, take a chance?

Portland doesn't get a game because it hasn't energy to go after it. The metropolis is so used to having everything dumped in its lap, without taking a chance, that it is under the supposition that everything must come to it, including world champions.

But there is no reason for alarm or excitement. Portland fans can see the world champions on Oregon soil, if they desire. All they have to do is to come to Medford—the Southern Pacific will be glad to run a special train for them at the game scheduled for Medford, November 17.

Portland expects the entire state to trot to it on all occasions. Turn about is fair play—Portland now has an opportunity to reciprocate. For once, let Portland come to Medford.

That the champions are to be seen in Medford instead of Portland is a tribute to the superior enterprise of Medford citizens.

INSTALL PURDIN MEDFORD'S MAYOR

The city council at its regular meeting Tuesday night inducted M. Purdin, appointed successor to the late W. W. Elfert, into the mayoralty chair, and then held the longest-winded session in the history of the body without accomplishing anything more important than allowing a big batch of monthly bills.

Chief of Police Hiltson's auto repair bill of $62.50, and the granting of $12 and $35 water rent rebates to Bates Bros. and the Garnet-Correy company furnished the chief arguments. The finance committee recommended that these be granted. The council was of the opinion that granting rebates to two would mean more requests from the same, and held up the requests for further consideration.

The finance committee explained that they had decided to honor the chief's repair bills with the understanding that the city would dispense with an auto for the police in the future and resort to the taxis in case of emergency.

An ordinance approving of the paving of Dakota avenue was passed. Salaries for city employees and the council were approved and warrants ordered for same.

A petition for the reopening of Third street was referred to a committee of the whole, which will meet Thursday night for final action.

START REBUILDING WRECKED NOME CITY

NOME, Alaska, Oct. 8.—Some progress was made today on the task of re-constructing the wrecked city of Nome. The scarcity of supplies, however, will prevent any great improvement in the situation until relief arrives from the outside. In response to his appeal for aid, Mayor Jones had already received assurances that everything needed would be sent at once. Many citizens who lost everything in the storm which destroyed fully half the town, will leave as soon as possible.

GRANTS PASS BUYS OLD BOWEN ROAD AT PRICE OF $7250

(Grants Pass Courier.)

The railway commission met again this forenoon and voted to purchase the Riggs railroad property, consisting of right-of-way from the Southern Pacific track to the intersection with the right-of-way of the municipal line. Also the ties and railroad iron, the bridge across Rogue river and the locomotive No. 1. The price agreed upon was $7250, payable as title is perfected, the deed and bill of sale being placed in escrow.

The engineer was instructed to communicate with the bridge companies and make a call for bids for repairing the present trestle across Rogue river and the building of a bridge and also for a bridge across Allen creek and another across the Applegate river. It is expected that work can be commenced upon the bridge across Rogue river by the 16th of this month.

Today teams are clearing the brush on the last mile of the right-of-way this side of Wilderville. Nine miles of grade is now ready for the iron, it being practically completed to the Applegate, and next week a crew will move across the river, grading the last mile, when the city's unit of the road will be ready for iron and bridges. Fifty teams and 75 men are now on the work, creating a daily pay roll of from $250 to $400.

hat today, Rigler on the bases and Egan and Klem in the outfield. Walter Johnston, the Washington twirler, was presented with an automobile just before the game started for being the most valuable player in the American league.

At 1:30 o'clock the stands were filling rapidly and the bleachers were packed. Bender warmed up on the sidelines and was cheered by the Philadelphia fans.

Snodgrass Also Lame

Merkle appeared on the grounds limping badly with his ankle bandaged. Snodgrass practiced at first, but he appeared lame. Witse relieved him later, but McGraw seemed undecided as to who would play the position. Meyers lost a fingernail yesterday and McLean caught today's game for the Giants.

It was not believed the crowd would exceed 30,000. Mathewson, Tesreau and Demaree warmed up for the Giants and Bender, Brown and Plank for the Athletics.

Presbyterian Church Social

The Presbyterian church will hold a free social on Friday evening, October 9, beginning at 8 o'clock, in honor of those who came into the church during this quarter, and for the young people. All the members of the church and congregation and all interested in the church are requested to come to this social. The program is unique and will be provided by some of the young men. It is hoped that every one will be present.

Wonderful Blood Remedy That Works in the Tissues

The Very Latest Theory About How and Why the Blood is Disordered.

S. S. S. Means Pure Blood Which Insures Long Life and Health. The great experts in Chemistry and Physiology now declare what has all along been contended by the Swift Laboratory that the germ of blood disorders find lodgment in the interstices of the tissues. And herein is where S. S. S. goes to work rapidly, effectively and with wonderfully noticeable results. This famous blood purifier contains medicinal components just as vital and essential to healthy blood as the nutritive elements of wheat, root beer, and fat and the sugars that make up our daily ration. As a matter of fact there is one ingredient in S. S. S. which serves the active purpose of stimulating each cellular part of the body to the healthy and judicious selection of its own essential nutrients. That is why it regenerates the blood supply; why it has such a tremendous influence in overcoming eczema, rash, pimples, and all skin affections. And in regenerating the tissues S. S. S. has a rapid and positive antiseptic effect upon all those irritating influences that excite rheumatism, sore throat, weak eyes, loss of weight, thin pale cheeks, and that weariness of muscles and nerve that is generally experienced by all sufferers with poisoned blood. Get a bottle of S. S. S. at any drug store, and in a few days you will not only feel bright, and energetic, but you will be the picture of new life. S. S. S. is prepared only in the laboratory of the Swift Specific Co., 201 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Who maintain a very efficient Medical Department, where all who have any blood disorder of a stubborn nature may write freely for advice. S. S. S. is sold everywhere by all drug stores. Beware of all attempts to sell you something "Just as good." Insist upon S. S. S.
