

HINDUS IN PRISON FOR MURDER OF PORTUGUESE GIRL

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 8.—Musa Khan, Tsa Khan, Said Ameer and Said Ali Khan, the four Hindus under arrest in Alameda county in connection with the murder of Ross Domingo, the Portuguese girl whose nude, heavily weighted body was fished from the bay at the foot of a wharf at Stege, were subjected to a searching examination today as the fragments of the girl's clothes found in the cabin occupied by Musa Khan and Said Ali Khan, the Hindu actually charged with the killing.

Detectives were positive that, heavily weighted as Rose's body was, three or four men must have been needed to carry it from the cabin to the wharf, and it was this that led to the arrest of the three Hindus in the cabin adjoining the one where it was believed the crime was committed.

The charred portions of the dead girl's gown and underclothing found in the ashpit of the Hindu's stove might have been impossible of identification, but there was no question concerning her gold ring, buttons, belt and shoe buckles, garter clasps and the metal decorations of her handbag.

With positive evidence that the murder was committed in his cabin, the authorities also redoubled their efforts to find Said Ali Khan. They thought Musa Khan might know of his whereabouts, and have done everything possible to wring the information from him, but as yet without success.

They doubted the story that the girl was sacrificed in some weird Hindu rite, believing she was killed either in a quarrel or out of sheer brutality.

EPISCOPALIANS IN ANNUAL MEETING

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—Uniform laws for divorce, the demand that certificates of health be presented by all brides and bridegrooms, the question of changing the name to "American Catholic Church" or merely "American Church," and the proposition to let the public in to sessions of the House of Bishops were the important subjects to be discussed at general convention of the Protestant Episcopal church in the United States and Territory Beyond the Seas, when the meeting opened today at the church of St. John the Divine.

Because of the questions which will be considered and settled the convention which opened today is expected to be the most important ever held by the church. Perhaps the most important question to the church body will be whether the House of Bishops shall meet behind closed doors as it has during the 128 years there have been general conventions. A hot contest is expected to come when the motion to let in the public and the press as is the case when the House of Bishops meets, is introduced. The House of Bishops met in the old Synod Hall and the House of Deputies in the new Synod Hall.

Attending the general convention which opened today are 115 bishops and 630 clergymen and laymen, all of whom attended this morning's services in the Cathedral where Bishop Lawrence, of Massachusetts preached the opening sermon. Holy Communion was administered with the Rev. Daniel S. Tuttle, of Missouri, presiding Bishop of the Church, as the celebrant. He was assisted by the Rev. Boyd Vincent, bishop of Southern Ohio, and Bishop David H. Greer.

Representatives from St. Louis today put in an early plea for the next convention as the year 1916 will be the fiftieth anniversary of the elevation of Bishop Tuttle to the episcopate. St. Louis is Bishop Tuttle's home city.

MIGRATORY BIRDS UNDER PROTECTION OF UNCLE SAM

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Migratory birds have come into their own, for Uncle Sam has put into effect a set of uniform federal laws protecting the many species of feathered tribe which threaten to become extinct through the ravages of the Nimrods. Congress passed a law last March authorizing the department of agriculture to adopt regulations and fix a closed season for certain species of birds needing federal protection. These regulations were duly drafted. Effective this month the regulations are briefly, as follows:

Trap shooting prohibited; shooting between sunset and sunrise punishable by heavy fines; suspension of hunting indefinitely on the Ohio, Mississippi and Missouri rivers, allowing waterfowl a safe highway from their winter feeding grounds in the lower Mississippi valley to their nesting grounds in the Dakotas and Minnesota; limiting hunting seasons to a maximum of three and one-half months in the several states; seasons being according to latitude and times of migration; providing separate seasons for waterfowl, rail, shorebirds and woodcock, complete protection for five years for the smaller shore birds and other species which have become greatly reduced in numbers.

The new law also protects the robin, the lark and other birds in the few states where they suffer from an open season.

JIM HILL SPEAKS AT BANKERS' GATHERING

BOSTON, Oct. 9.—Reports of committees, formal consideration of invitations for the next convention, communications from the executive council and a report of the committee on nominations with addresses by Joseph Chapman, vice president of the Northwestern National bank of Minneapolis, and James J. Hill, St. Paul's railroad king, were included in today's program for the closing sessions of the thirty-ninth annual meeting of the American Bankers' Association. The meetings were held today in Symphony hall.

Vice President Chapman's address followed the report of the committee on agricultural developments and education. James J. Hill took for his subject, "Agriculture in the United States." He emphasized the necessity for better co-operation between bankers and farmers if the agricultural interests are to continue to develop in ratio proportionate to the development and growth of other business of the United States. A radical change in the present system of loaning money to farmers, declared the veteran railroadier and financier, is absolutely essential to the future success of agriculture.

"SHEPHERD OF THE HILLS" HERE OCTOBER 10

Harold Bell Wright, the author of "The Shepherd of the Hills," "The Winning of Barbara Worth," "The Calling of Dan Matthews" and "That Printer of Udell's," has made, in collaboration with Elisabeth W. Reynolds, a dramatization of his most popular story, "The Shepherd of the Hills." The play has received an excellent production from Gaskill and MacVitty and Managers Gordon and Pason of the Page theatre have secured the original cast and production for this theatre, Friday, Oct. 10.

"The Shepherd of the Hills" is a splendid story of real life among the Ozark hills of Missouri and Arkansas. If you go there you will easily find a Mutton Hollow, a hill like Dewey Bald and people like Sammy Lane, Young Matt, Mad Howard and Father Howitt. Clinging to the beautiful story simply told, is the very atmosphere of the life of the picturesque region which is so sadly unfamiliar to the travelers in search of new scenes. It is a clean and strong play, well worth seeing many times.

DAMAGE SUIT LIKELY TO CONCLUDE FRIDAY

The damage suit of J. R. Alexander against the California-Oregon Power company will go to the jury sometime tomorrow morning, according to present indications. The plaintiff will finish his presentation of evidence early this afternoon, and the defense begin its side of the case. A number of expert witnesses will be called. The case is the last on the federal court docket for this term of court in southern Oregon. Alexander asks for $15,000 damages for alleged injuries received through negligence of the electric company.

CHINESE BANDIT LOSE MISSIONARIES CAPTURED IN RAID

HANKOW, Oct. 9.—That the Chinese bandits who hold Tsao Yang, in Northern Hupeh province, have offered to surrender and actually have surrendered the American and Norwegian missionaries they captured there, was variously reported here today. It was still uncertain whether one of the captives had been killed and there were conflicts even as to their names but that foreigners fell into the bandits' hands were certain. Confidence was expressed by American Consul Jameson that they will speedily be rescued.

BREAKING INTO THE BIG LEAGUE GAMES

The eyes of the baseball world are upon the New York Giants, who are winning the National League championship for the third consecutive season. While baseball is the main topic of conversation, the management of the Isis theater has succeeded in securing the two-part headline photoplay, "Breaking Into the Big League," which was produced by the Kalem company and which will be seen at the above mentioned theater on Thursday only. This gripping story of our national pastime introduces Manager John J. McGraw, who has brought several championships to New York, and Christy Mathewson, the premier pitcher, familiarly known as "Big Six" and master of the famous "fade-away," which has baffled the leading National league sluggers for many seasons.

WOMAN ESCAPES OPERATION

By Timely Use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Here is her own statement. Cary, Maine.—"I feel it a duty I owe to all suffering women to tell what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. One year ago I found myself a terrible sufferer. I had pains in both sides and such a soreness I could scarcely straighten up at times. My back ached, I had no appetite and was so nervous I could not sleep, then I would be so tired mornings that I could scarcely get around. It seemed almost impossible to move or do a bit of work and I thought I never would be any better until I submitted to an operation. I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt like a new woman. I had no pains, slept well, had good appetite and was fat and could do almost all my own work for a family of four. I shall always feel that I owe my good health to your medicine."—Mrs. HAYWARD SOWERS, Cary, Maine.

If you are ill do not drag along until an operation is necessary, but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

NEGRO ASSERTS WAS PAID $500 FOR GAY MURDER

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 9.—Although the police profess no belief in the claim of Burr Harris that he was paid $500 to murder Mrs. Rebecca P. Gay, they admitted today that an investigation will be made.

Mrs. Gay, a Christian Science practitioner, was beaten to death in her office here two weeks ago. Harris, a negro, following his arrest in San Diego Monday, confessed to the crime. After alternately asserting and denying that he was the paid agent of another, he made a detailed statement last night that he had received $500 for the job through another negro, and that he had buried the money between San Diego and Tinajas, Lower California.

Harris drew a diagram of the place he claims to be his cache. Twenty-five $20 gold pieces, he said, were buried six inches deep in a secluded spot. All efforts of the police to shake his story were without avail.

Harris' preliminary hearing was scheduled for today. He is held at an east side police station under heavy guard.
