

ROGUE BARTLETTS SELL IN LONDON NET GROWERS $1.75

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 11.—Notwithstanding the general downward tendency of pear prices abroad, the Northwestern Fruit Exchange of this city has received word from its London branch that a carload of Rogue river Bartletts had been sold there on the f. o. b. basis for $1.75 a box, Medford. Considering the standing of the pear trade there recently this sale is an unusual one and signifies the excellence of the quality of the Oregon product.

Heaviest Supplies of Season

The London branch of the exchange reports the condition of the fruit markets there under date of September 27th as follows:

The heaviest supplies of the season have been on the pear market, and as we anticipated last week, prices have been lower. Much of the fruit has been arriving overripe, which naturally tends to weaken the market. There is still, however, an excellent demand for fruit in good condition.

English pears are in shorter supply, but American, Canadian and Dutch are plentiful. The market in Liverpool and Glasgow continues considerably easier than London. Three thousand half cases of Canadian Bartletts sold in Glasgow this week at $5 to $1.20.

Apples Arriving

There were increased arrivals of apples in London this week, with the result that prices are somewhat easier. Good eating varieties, with color, continue in very strong demand. Some California Newtowns which were in very waxy condition nevertheless realized from $1.90 to $2.05. English growers are raising their fruit upon the market with the idea of clearing out as much as possible before the first arrivals of Nova Scotia, 7000 barrels of which are due in London next week. There has been a very strong demand in Liverpool and Glasgow, and especially for anything showing color. Gravensteins and Blenheim from Nova Scotia have arrived showing considerable evidence of spot and bitter pit but still realized very good prices. Liverpool at present is our best market for early varieties. We anticipate quite heavy arrivals next week.

MRS. TATE PLEADS CHILDREN'S CAUSE TO PARENTS-TEACHERS

Mrs. R. H. Tate, president of the Oregon Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teachers' associations, addressed the local circles at the Medford high school yesterday afternoon on "Our Work and Our Organization."

Mrs. Tate quickly won her audience and closed with a stirring appeal to motherhood, pleading for a better race of children and a more educated race of mothers. In part she said:

"Our work started fifteen years ago and through it all Oregon has led, first, in a good organization, first to have a mothers' bureau."

"I ask your circles to affiliate with the national organization, for then our work can be extended to the most remote regions, and you will have the advantage of our bureaus and our literature."

"In 1915 Oregon will hold its first national convention at Portland, and I earnestly urge you to send a delegate and remember that we were honored ahead of Los Angeles, Seattle and San Francisco. The state meeting is on the 20-22d of this month."

"The main purpose of our work is child welfare and child study. Remember, in olden times that Jesus said, 'Suffer the little children to come unto me,' and in saying this he enfranchised them."

"It is not a question of can we afford them, but how shall we do for them? Consecrate yourselves. It is God's greatest, grandest, most divine gift to mankind. Are we worthy? Then let us make ourselves so."

"The agricultural department spends millions on teaching farmers how to farm, to raise animals and poultry, but not one cent on how to raise our future citizens."

"Christ gave children their Magna Charta in his command to the parents, and today nearly 2000 years afterwards, we are but in the dawn of a new day for children, but what a glorious day it will be."

"Scientific study of children, eugenics for parents, education for parents and those who are on the threshold of fatherhood and motherhood—how much do you pay for literature on child welfare? How much on poultry-raising and trashy novels? Parents should demand a good class of pictures at the moving picture house; a law providing for lights within bright enough to read by, and good ventilation. It is proven that this certain amount of light helps pictures and brings out. Appoint a committee to examine pictures."

"Remember that it is not only for your child, but someone else's, that is your duty, and when the world sees it in this light we are going to be happier. Let us give our children the chance of good, clean birth, free from disease, full of mental activity, physically strong, and teach them the last of the trinity of perfect childhood, Christianity. Do not neglect their religious training."

"In closing, let me say that in this work the United States is far behind Germany and Switzerland. In the last named country the child for the first year is given good food and the mother also at the expense of the state, and children up to the age of 14 are given semi-annual tests."

"Learn self-control and teach it to your children. My little boy upset the bureau drawer the other day and instead of scolding, although I had to bite my lips to keep from doing so, I said: 'Let's pick the things up,' and he said, 'You're a better mamma since you went to mothers' meetings.'"

The meeting was attended by teachers from Jacksonville, Phoenix and nearby rural schools.

EXPERIENCE OF MOTHERHOOD

Advice to Expectant Mothers

The experience of Motherhood is a trying one to most women and marks distinctly an epoch in their lives. Not one woman in a hundred is prepared or understands how to properly care for herself. Of course nearly every woman nowadays has medical treatment at such times, but many approach the experience with an organism unfitted for the trial of strength, and when it is over her system has received a shock from which it is hard to recover. Following right upon this comes the nervous strain of caring for the child, and a distinct change in the mother results.

There is nothing more charming than a happy and healthy mother of children, and indeed child-birth under the right conditions need be no hazard to health or beauty. The unexplainable thing is that, with all the evidence of shattered nerves and broken health resulting from an unprepared condition, and with ample time in which to prepare, women will persist in going blindly to the trial.

Every woman at this time should rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism.

In many homes once childless there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal, healthy and strong.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

UNION WOULD BAR EMPLOYERS AS DELEGATES

FRESNO, Cal., Oct. 11.—There was a hard fight in the California Labor Federation convention today over a constitutional amendment which would bar as delegates all employers, appointed office holders or unionists not actively engaged at their trades. It would exclude such men as Secretary Beharrenberg of the federation and J. P. McLaughlin, respectively state minimum wage and labor commissioners. The barbers' plea for a universal Sunday rest day was defeated, as a "blue law." Women's unions are not joining the federation fast enough, so a woman organizer will be put in the field. Stockton gets the next convention.

DRYS THREATEN TO MANDAMUS COURT

Because the county court refused to order a local option election at Eagle Point Nov. 4, to submit to the voters of Eagle Point the question of wet or dry, the members are threatened with mandamus proceedings by Tom Nichols and other signers of the petition, and they are cordially invited to go ahead with the proceedings by the court.

At the monthly meeting last Saturday, the petition was presented and referred to the district attorney for an opinion by the court. The latter held that if the petition was properly drawn, the court must order the election. However the petition had not been correctly drawn, failing to give boundaries of the district affected, as required, and including in the list of signers, residents of Eagle Point precinct as well as Eagle Point city.

An occupational disease law is now in effect in Missouri.
