

SULZER SAYS MURPHY DEMANDED GRAFT, THREATENING IMPEACHMENT

IMMIGRATION COMMISSIONER CAMINETTI HAS MRS. PANKHURST RELEASED FROM ELLIS ISLAND

INSIDE STORY OF WAR MADE ON GOVERNOR

Sulzer Tells History of Dealings With Murphy—Offered Money and Support in Exchange for Patronage and Graft.

Refusal Brought Coercion, Followed by Impeachment—Sulzer Once Re-signed.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—The first complete statement made by Ex-Governor Sulzer since the impeachment proceedings were begun against him appeared exclusively today in the New York Evening Mail. It read in part as follows:

By James Creelman. Copyright, 1913, by the Mail and Express Company.

"I appeal from the high court of impeachment, on the nearly nominal charges on which I was tried," said Sulzer, "to the higher court of public opinion, before I present the true and only reasons for my impeachment and removal.

"At last my lips are unsealed and I can tell the people what the court would not allow me to tell under oath; what I promised my lawyers I would not tell until after the verdict.

Tammany's Revenge

"I was impeached, not because of the offenses charged, but because I refused to do Charles F. Murphy's bidding; because, as the records show, I relentlessly pursued Murphy's corrupt henchmen in office.

"This has not been a fight over politics, but a naked fight of dishonesty to crush a governor because he dared to be his own master.

"Just prior to taking office—either before Christmas or between Christmas and New Year's Day I spent an afternoon with Murphy, at his request, in his private room at Delmonico's. His attitude was most friendly and confidential. He said he was my friend, knew my financial condition and wished to help me. As he proceeded, I was amazed at his knowledge of my intimate personal affairs. He informed me he knew I was heavily in debt. Then he offered money to pay my debts and to have enough left to take things easy while I was governor.

Offered Him Money

"He said it was a party matter; that the money was party money, and that I had been a popular candidate, easily elected, and for far less money than any candidate within his recollection. He said that nobody would know anything about it, and that I could pay my debts and go to Albany, feeling easy financially. Then he asked me how much I

WILD BEAST HUNT STREETS OF LEIPZIG

LEIPZIG, Oct. 20.—Eight lions and a tiger were liberated by a collision between a circus wagon and a streetcar here early today. Within five minutes the entire city was in an uproar.

Two of the lions lost no time in leaping through the plate glass windows of the Blucher hotel, where, after frightening everyone from the office, they proceeded to roam the corridors, the guests meantime barricading themselves in their rooms and shrieking from the windows for help.

First firemen and then troops were called to the hotel, the lions were lassoed and tied and finally both were taken to police headquarters with orders to be executed.

In the meantime a third lion had jumped onto the driver's seat of an autobus, the driver plunging headlong to the pavement. A policeman shot the beast before it could follow.

The other five lions were shot in the streets either by policemen or by unofficial amateur big game hunters. The tiger was captured by a woman trainer.

SULZER ABANDONS TRIP TO ADIRONDACKS

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 20.—Ex-Governor William Sulzer was up early today, packing. He did not start for the Adirondacks yesterday as he had planned. Indeed, his vacation trip seemed to have been abandoned entirely. He was going to New York, he said, for an important conference.

"I intend to begin at the bottom of the ladder," he added. "I am going right back to where people know me. I'm not dead yet, but certain people might well wish I were."

HUERTA TO BE CANDIDATE TO SUCCEED SELF

Despite Promises to Contrary, Dictator Certain to Run for Presidency October 26—Violates Constitution to Do It—Blanquet for Vice-Pres.

Gamboa to Retire—Calero Not Serious Rival—Diaz Embarrassment to Huerta—Disorders Feared.

VERA CRUZ, Mexico, Oct. 20.—Despite all his promises to the contrary, it was considered practically certain here today that Provisional President Huerta will be a candidate to succeed himself at the election next Saturday, October 26.

The constitution prohibits the same president from serving two terms in succession, but Huerta presumably will resign in a day or two, to make a break between his two periods of office holding.

Huerta Announces Candidacy

That he will announce his candidacy immediately following General Felix Diaz' arrival here was the general expectation. It was said General Blanquet will run with him for vice president. Blanquet was born in Spain, and consequently is ineligible to the presidency, but it was doubted if a mere technicality like this would interfere with the program.

Ex-Minister of Foreign Affairs Gamboa, the Catholic party's candidate, was counted on to retire from the race with the announcement of Huerta's candidacy. He has been considered completely under the latter's control.

Manuel Calero, the Liberal candidate, has small support and is not a serious rival of any other prospective candidate.

Diaz An Embarrassment

Felix Diaz, however, it was believed, may prove an embarrassment to Huerta, if he decides to make the campaign, and it was for this reason that his friends expressed much anxiety concerning his safety. They announced that he would not run if Huerta aspires to the office, but this statement was deemed purely perfunctory.

Diaz was expected here late this afternoon on the steamship Cocoravado, and neither his followers nor the Huertistas concealed their anxiety lest his landing precipitate grave disorders.

The gunboat Zaragoza, which Huerta sent to Havana to bring Diaz back but which he refused to board, arrived here last night.

In addition to the killed, about 100 soldiers were injured, 20 of them seriously, and four or five so badly that they probably will die.

The soldiers, 170 in number, were on their way from Fort Morgan and Fort Barrancas, to Meridian, Miss., to participate in the Mississippi-Alabama fair.

Near State Line the locomotive tender jumped the track. The engine remained on the rails and safely crossed a twenty-five foot trestle the train was approaching, but the engine and three cars plunged to the ground.

ARSENIC CAUSED DEATH OF EATON ASSERTS CHEMIST

PLYMOUTH, Mass., Oct. 20.—Damaging testimony to the defense was given here today at the trial of Mrs. Jennie Eaton, charged with poisoning her husband, Admiral J. G. Eaton.

Professor W. M. Whitney of Harvard university was today's first witness. He testified that he examined the stomach of the baby adopted by the Eatons, but found no poison. Mrs. Eaton had charged that the child was poisoned by her husband. A letter addressed to Whitney, written in 1909, and signed, "J. M. Eaton," was introduced. It said the writer was anxious to prove the admiral was insane.

Professor Whitney also examined Admiral Eaton's stomach. He swore that he found arsenic "in practically every organ arsenic could affect." He thought more than one dose had been given, asserting he believed some of the poison had been given the admiral from two to six hours before his death.

Commissioner of Immigration Caminetti Orders Release After Consultation With President.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Freed by Immigration Commissioner General Caminetti's order, Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, English militant suffragette leader, left Ellis Island today, crossed the bay to New York, was met by Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont's automobile and drove at once to Mrs. Belmont's home.

She was to have addressed a mass meeting at Madison Square garden tonight, but in consideration of the ordeal she has been through, the gathering was postponed until Wednesday.

Not Unconditional

The English visitor's release was not entirely unconditional. She was admitted on her own recognizance and without a bond, but it was under pledge to leave the country at the end of her lecture engagement. She understood also, to respect the American laws.

Mrs. Pankhurst received an enthusiastic reception from the throng of women who met her at the pier. She is a delicate looking, elderly woman, almost super refined in appearance, with a low, gentle voice and every mark of excellent birth and fine breeding.

Release Is Ordered

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—Following the issuance of his order for Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst's release from Ellis Island on her own recognizance, Immigration Commissioner General Caminetti formally filed an opinion in explanation of his decision overruling the New York authorities.

In the first place, he held, it was doubtful whether the offenses charged against Mrs. Pankhurst in England involved moral turpitude, and in the second, she can be prosecuted here if she violates American laws, or, if preferred, she can be deported.

Mrs. Pankhurst was ordered set free following a hearing granted by Commissioner Caminetti to her lawyers, and, later, a conference between himself, President Wilson and Secretary Wilson of the labor department.

VAN BAALEN DEAD FROM WOMAN'S SHOT

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 20.—Miss Leah Alexander, who shot and killed J. D. Van Baalen, a newspaper advertising man, here Saturday learned today for the first time of Van Baalen's death when she was formally charged with murder. She became hysterical, and at first refused to believe that he was dead.

"Oh, I'm sorry for you, Van," she kept repeating over and over again. "But you were to blame—you know you were."

Van Baalen died early Sunday morning. No date has been set yet for the inquest. Throughout the morning Miss Alexander sat with her face pressed closely against the bars of her cell, looking straight ahead. Her mother is with her almost constantly.

Van Baalen's body will be shipped to the home of his parents in Minnesota during the next few days.
