

SCHOOL CHILDREN PLANT 10,000 ROSES

The call set out for 50 volunteer workers to aid the rose committee yesterday brought a total of three. Miss Freda Benz appeared promptly at 9, and because of some practical knowledge gained in her uncle's greenhouse, was one of the most efficient workers. Others appeared later, and by noon good progress had been made, though the hardest of the two days' work came at 3 o'clock, when the labeled slips were sorted and tied into bundles. This work progressed at top speed, as it was desired to distribute as many as possible to the schools.

Mrs. Reddy, Mrs. Bird and Mr. Sheldon visited the Washington, Jackson and Roosevelt schools and the St. Mary's academy, where a bundle of five cuttings was received by each child. Most of the teachers also asked for cuttings. The committee feels that a real interest in rose-planting has been aroused by this work.

Plans are being suggested, such as the neighborly clubs, where certain substantial prizes are offered for the best kept yard or the one showing the greatest improvement. Certainly something of this sort will be done in the near future.

The High school and the Lincoln school were the last to be supplied with rose cuttings. This was done this morning. This practically finishes the work of the committee, though it does not mean that the work of rose-planting is finished. There are huge bundles of labeled and unlabeled roses, all of the best varieties, that are to be distributed to all the school buildings and the hospital.

If less than 50 per cent of these cuttings live think what a wonderful amount of roses these bushes will produce in another year.

G. E. Pierce was unable to be present, but sent his gardener down, who did all the spraying of the cuttings. They were sprayed with formaldehyde to insure their being perfectly free from mildew.

The chairman of the rose committee wishes to thank all the people who have aided it in this great work, and these were specially glad by our merchants and others. Both Mr. Bennett and Mr. Broadley spent the greater part of Wednesday helping in preparing slips. Their expert knowledge was most helpful.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR CLIMBING ROSES

Children of the Medford schools: Through an oversight on the part of the press committee having charge of the work of reporting the rose-planting, nothing was said about the varieties of climbing roses.

If you received in your bundle yesterday or today a Dorothy Perkins, it is a pink climber. The nephitis is a white climber and Reine Marie Henrietta is a red climber. The Madam Alfred Carriere is a white climbing rose tinged with pink, and the Marechal Neil is the king of them all—the most perfect rose known. It is a pure yellow climber, and though a hardy rose needs special care until well rooted. Plant permanently on the south side of a wall and coax it for a while. You will be rewarded by an abundance of absolutely perfect roses. There is a story about the naming of this rose that contains a charming bit of sentiment. The rose was formed by Marechal Neil in the south of France and was a stray or sprout, produced no one knew how. Marechal Neil had it kept in his garden until it was proved to be a true new species, when he took a bouquet of the most perfect blossoms to court and asked that the Empress Eugenie name the new rose. It had been decided to make Marechal Neil marshal of France, and the Empress Eugenie, who held his marshal's baton behind her, smiled and, handing it to him, said: "I will call it Marechal Neil."

JAPANESE WARSHIPS TO RESCUE JAPS ONLY

TOKIO, Nov. 13.—The foreign office today laid much emphasis upon its assertion that the mission of the mikado's cruiser Izumi, now on its way to Mexico, was merely to take off Japanese residents there in case they were endangered. There was no intention, it was stated, of interfering in the situation.
