The time set for St. Mark's holiday bazar, the proceeds of which will be used to start a building fund for the new church, and for which the members of the Guild have been preparing for several weeks, is almost at hand, the exact dates being Friday and Saturday, Nov. 21 and 22. The place chosen for the sale is the vacant store in St. Mark's building, formerly occupied by the Golden Rule.

The early part of the week will see the last of the needle work completed, when the committees will start planning and arranging the booths of which there will be several.

The handicraft booth of which Mrs. E. L. Platt is chairman, perhaps deserves special mention because of the gratifying results. There are most beautiful and useful household linens both embroidered and cross-stitched, boudoir and breakfast caps, kimonos, fancy aprons and bags of every description, dainty handkerchiefs, slippers, pin cushions, trays, dress bags, coat-hangers, chemese neck wear and a collection of beautiful hand painted dinner cards and favors. Also Mrs. Budge, chairman of the crocheting reports that many handsome and useful crocheted articles are being turned in for this booth.

Mrs. H. O. Purucker, chairman of the domestic booth and who also has charge of the dinner menu, will have for sale all kinds of work aprons, dust caps, tea towls, pot holders, preserved fruits and jellies and delicious Thanksgiving goodies Saturday evening from 5:30 to 7:30. Mrs. Purucker assisted by St. Mark's best cooks, will serve in the Guild hall a splendid chicken dinner with all the trimmings. Mrs. J. Barneburg will be in charge of the dining room which means that the equipment and service will be excellent.

Then there is the doll booth. Mrs. Nellie Wing has charge of this bewildering doll family. There are haughty lady dolls, dainty girl dolls, little boy dolls, and baby dolls that you will just love and then the very cutest of them all are the kewpie dolls, the hug-me-kiddies and the nigger babies. Besides all these Mrs. Wing will have for sale all the latest styles in dolls wearing apparel and the very latest Paris models in dolls hats.

The candy booth will be in charge of Miss Margaret Soutter who will have a most complete stock of home made candies. Mrs. E. C. Gaddis has promised a donation of wonderful prize chrysanthemums, which will be offered for sale.

Mrs. Hoke of Central Point will have charge of the tea booth and assisted by a bevy of young girls she will dispense tea at 10 cents per cup and 25 cents if you wish to take the cup home, and you will want the cup after you have partaken of Mrs. Hoke's special brew, for if any one in the Rogue river valley excells in tea brewing it is our little chairman from the south and the tea is not all you will get, it will be accompanied by something good to eat, perhaps a real southern beaten biscuit. She won't tell yet but you won't be disappointed. Mrs. Hoke has also promised to serve something evenings to take the place of afternoon tea.

Suppose you do not wish to patronize any of the booths mentioned, still you must come to St. Mark's bazaar if for nothing else than to buy a "Mary Ann." If you are a conscientious housekeeper you always need a "Mary Ann" and Mrs. J. C. Mann's Sunday school class will have them for sale and these little girls will be dressed as Mary Ann for the occasion.

Both Friday and Saturday evening there will be a musical program which is in charge of Mrs. W. T. Andrews.

The ladies of St. Mark's Guild earnestly solicit the patronage of their friends and of the public. All are welcome. If you cannot attend the bazaar come to the dinner Saturday evening. It will help us build a church.

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Watkins, 103 East Eleventh street, on November 12 at 7:30 o'clock, when their daughter, Margery, was united in the holy bonds of wedlock to Carl Pearson of this city, in the presence of a few friends of the family, Rev. E. O. Eldridge officiating. The bride was attended by Miss Edythe Stone of Central Point. Lloyd March, also of Central Point, acted as best man, and little Miss Ruby Camp was ring-bearer. The bride and attendants came downstairs, where they met the groom and best man, Mrs. S. L. Camp playing the wedding march. They took their places under an arch draped in white, beautifully decorated with English ivy and white chrysanthemums. The bride was becomingly gowned in cream silk poplin, trimmed in fringe and carried a bouquet of roses. There was a very nice display of wedding presents, among them a deed by the bride's parents to ten acres of land. After the reading of the deed by Rev. Eldridge the party of guests repaired to the dining room, which was decorated with pink chrysanthemums, where a sumptuous wedding feast was spread on a square table large enough to seat the entire party. A large mirror was placed in the center of the table with beautiful decorations of ferns and baby chrysanthemums and a vase of roses in the center. After an evening spent in music and social conversation the guests departed with wishes of joy and happiness for the bride and groom. Mr. and Mrs. Pearson will make their home with Mrs. Pearson's parents for the present at 103 East Eleventh street.

The Parent-Teachers' association of the Washington school held its regular monthly meeting Friday, Nov. 14, 3 p. m. in the school building. Many mothers and teachers were present. After a short business session the meeting was turned over to the program committee, Miss Phelster in charge in the absence of Mrs. Pilcher.

After a piano solo by Miss Jeanette Patterson the subject, "Industrial Education of the Child and the Value of Industrial Fairs" was ably presented in a paper written by Mrs. Pilcher in which the lack of industrial training in the home was forcibly taken up, remedies proposed and the eagerness with which children respond if allowed to "help mamma" to feel that they were a part of the home making industry.

Miss Snedicor, teacher of drawing in the schools instructively discussed pro and con, the Industrial Fair. This was much appreciated for with the obstacles clearly in view, it will be easier to overcome them when they do present themselves.

Miss Mears gave an interesting talk on sewing in the schools and illustrated her remarks with pieces of work done by the pupils. It was pointed out that the co-operation of the mother would greatly facilitate the work done in the schools because of the short period of time there to devote to the work.

Miss Welch, teacher of Domestic Science, followed with a talk on Domestic Science. In part she said: Domestic Science did not consist simply of teaching the pupils to cook, but it was the science of cooking, the whys and wherefores of doing things. That anyone will do a thing more readily if the reason is plainly shown. Again the co-operation of the mother would greatly aid the school work. The difficulty of preparing a good exhibit of the cooking in the time and space allowed without the aid of the home.

Professor Collins followed with an inspiring talk on school fairs, ways, plans, means, etc. He was followed by others.

The result of the inspiration given by these talks and papers will be a union meeting of the parents and teachers of all the schools of Medford, Friday, Nov. 21, in the high school auditorium, when plans for an industrial fair at the end of school or later will be further discussed and decided.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Norte have returned from a trip to Wisconsin.

Much interest is being manifested by the parents and teachers of the parent-teacher circles in the subject of an industrial school fair, the same to be given by the school children sometime in the spring. A meeting was held Friday afternoon at the Washington school, at which time the subject was somewhat discussed by the special teachers and others. A general meeting is called for next Friday afternoon at the high school building at 3 o'clock. Mrs. George King of the Roosevelt Parent-Teacher circle will have charge. The meeting will be of interest to every parent and teacher in Medford and it is earnestly requested that they attend and give the meeting the benefit of their experiences. It will depend largely upon the result of the discussions whether it will be deemed advisable to carry out the plans for such a fair or not. The principal and some woman from each of the school wards will lead in the discussions. In places where such fairs have been held it is proven that more interest has been aroused in the regular work of the schools. Mrs. S. L. Leonard, president of the Roosevelt Parent-Teacher circle, wishes to meet the executive committees in a short business session at 2:30 before the general meeting.

A most delightful "Bal Masque" was given Friday evening by the Golf and Country club at "Woodlawn" the home of Mr. and Mrs. Conro Fiero. The house was beautifully decorated with Madrone berries and yellow chrysanthemums. All the dancers were masked until 11 o'clock and later a supper was served.

There were many beautiful and attractive costumes as well as grotesque. Among the court ladies were Mrs. Holloway, Mrs. Burke, Mrs. Salade and Madame Fiero.

Mrs. Dunbar Carpenter and Mrs. Budinot Connor wore stunning peasants, Mrs. Connor wearing her national costume.

Mrs. Hopkins was an old fashioned lady and her sister, Mrs. Potts went as "She Hopkins. Mesdames Egan, Fiero, Paterson and Hafer were most attractive gypsies and Miss Mable Burke as night and Mrs. Stanton Griffis as a Greek lady were charming.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ruhl were Turks and among the other most noticeable were Mr. Chandler Egan who was a lonely "Gold Dust Twin." Mr. Alfred Carpenter who made a great German band master.

WOMEN'S CLUB NOTES

The mid-monthly meeting of the executive board of the Greater Medford club was held at the Medford hotel on Monday last. The following names were passed upon for membership: Mrs. L. J. Miksche, Mrs. John Wilkinson and Mrs. J. W. Mitchell. Several small bills were allowed and the general routine business transacted. Most of the time, however, was spent in listening and discussing the report of the chairman of the committee appointed to consider the purchase of a piano for the use of the club. Several good propositions were presented. It was decided to buy a good instrument, probably a three-quarters grand, the Chickering, Steinway and Mason-Hamlin each receiving special attention. The final selection, however, was left entirely to the committee, of which Mrs. E. M. Andrews is chairman, a committee in whom the board has perfect confidence, will do the best thing. Means for paying for the piano were also discussed, and it was decided that a fancy dress ball would be given during the holidays, preferably New Year's eve, by the musical department of the club. It is hoped that by making early announcement of plans, the interests of the "dancing set" will be centered upon this one event, and all will thus help to make it a success, and incidentally to help buy a piano. The details will be announced from time to time as they are worked out.

The Colege Women's club, instead of the usual luncheon at the Medford hotel last Saturday, spent a most delightful afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. H. Porter, one of its members. At the October meeting of the organization it was decided to alternate the meetings for the present with a luncheon at the hotel one month, followed by a tea at the home of a member the next month. It proved such an agreeable change that the luncheon bids fair to be dispensed with entirely. Mrs. Porter's home on South Oakdale, with its spacious rooms, cheery fireplace and general air of hospitality proved a most happy place for the first "college tea." A committee of five members, Mrs. Porter, Mrs. Torney, Mrs. Warner, Mrs. Kinleyside and Mrs. Newman, acted as hostesses for the afternoon and served a most dainty luncheon of fruit salad, wafers, coffee and cakes.

The program committee, of which Mrs. F. G. Thayer is chairman, had been fortunate enough to persuade Mrs. Wiley of Fresno, Cal., who was in the city, to give a little talk to interest the members in some general lines of work, and especially what might be done by co-operating with other organizations.
