WOMEN'S CLUB NOTES
The fancy dress ball to be given on New Years eve by the music section of the Greater Medford club will be the most attractive feature of the holiday season. Many stunning costumes have been planned and endless ideas are being carried out in the preparation for this crowning social event of the year.

The decorations will be in charge of Mrs. J. T. Sullivan who, with a bevy of young girls, will transform the dining room of the Medford Hotel into a beautiful ball room, where the merry couples will form in the grand march at 9 p. m. and dance the old year out and the new year in.

Mrs. M. L. Alford will preside over the decorations and card tables on the mezzanine floor.

Mrs. H. C. Behling has charge of the refreshments which will consist of dainty sandwiches, coffee and olives. These will be served without extra charge.

Searies "Tempo-Perfecto" orchestra of five pieces will dispense the dance music—and this means a special treat, for they are each accomplished musicians.

The music section has worked hard to make this ball a success, both socially and financially, and their efforts are sure to be appreciated by the loyal citizens of Medford and the surrounding territory.

Owing to the fact that the regular meeting time of the civics section comes on the day before Christmas, it has been decided to postpone the meeting until January 15th, when a special meeting will be called.

Professor Wilson of the entomological bureau of the state university will meet with the civics section at that time to inaugurate a flyswatting campaign.

The chairman of the civics department of the Greater Medford club is in receipt of a letter from Mrs. E. E. McKibben of Grants Pass, who is chairman of the food sanitation committee of the general federation of women's club, and some very pertinent questions are asked, as follows:

1. Has your club a health worker—one woman who will report to the state chairman of public health as to the condition of your local health work?
2. Do you as club women, keep yourselves informed and discriminate against poor food as you do against poor clothing?
3. Have you secured a woman food inspector? Have you assisted the local inspector by accompanying him on any inspection, or by buying only of the places he found the cleanest?
4. Have you helped pass an ordinance looking for a better food supply, the better handling of food or controlling the breeding places of flies?
5. Are you buying only bread which was wrapped in non-absorbent paper at the bakery?
6. Are you buying any meat from a market where meat is exposed to flies?
7. Have you any organization in your town which looks after the food supply?
8. Have you visited the dairies which supply your household with milk?
9. What is the name and address of organization in your town which is interested in pure food?
10. Are you working for better fed babies and better fed school children?

STANFORD GLEE CLUB AT PAGE MONDAY EVENING

The Stanford University Glee club, which is to be at the Page theater Monday evening, is one of the best organizations of its kind that has ever toured the Pacific coast.

Twenty-four singers, the pick of the university, many of whom were members of the famous Stanford club that toured the eastern states three years ago, are to offer an evening's entertainment that will be typical of real college life and bring joy to the hearts of the lovers of good music.

The program as announced consists of two sections the first of which is made up of strong classical choruses by the entire club, quartet selections, a violin solo by one of the best of the younger artists of the coast, and a killingly funny skit, "Two Men and a Nat," by the three stunt men of the club. The second part of the program portrays, "As We Live and Dress on the Stanford Farm," and the scene is set in a fraternity house where ragtime piano, popular selections, mandolin and usual club music, Scottish song favorites, rollicking numbers by the entire club and very effective illustrated songs, are all presented without a minute's stop. One surprise after another greets the audience as each number appears, and the final fire-side scene is sure to be a hummer.

The college boys are on their way to Vancouver, B. C., and are giving concerts in only a few of the smaller cities. This performance will be one of the greatest features of the Medford season and a treat of fun and music is assured.
