LANE'S AWFUL BLASPHEMY

DURING a recent debate in the senate, Senator Bristow of Kansas remarked:

We seem very tender when it comes to discussing the steel trust, the stock of which has gone up 10 per cent, $500,000,000 of which is water and represents not a dollar of invested capital. When that great corporation is under discussion here we examine with great care the witnesses who may se called against it to see whether or not they have a standing that is

A short time ago there died one of the greatest financiers of the country, who is said to have dug the entrails out of the New Haven railroud system. Talk about "wolfing Wall Street"! The process of wolfing had been practiced on the people of New England, widows, orphans, and trust funds, to the tune of hundreds of millions of dellars by the largest firm of financiers in this country, that of the late lamented J. P. Morgan, who is said to have manipulated that affair. Those affairs, if the truth be told, are absolutely as criminal and as barefaced thefts as was ever practiced on a community, yet he is reported to have said before he died that he reikely community, yet he is reported to have said before he died that he relied upon, and that his great desire was to have his son continue to disseminate. the doctrine of salvation and the washing away of sins through the blood of the blessed Redeemer; and then he reached down in his hip pocket and pulled out a harp and lit out for the gates of Paradise, where I suspect St. Peter reached behind a post and met him with a baseball bat.

This assault upon the blessed memory of the muchmourned king of Wall street has drawn a storm of criticism upon the head of the junior senator from Oregon- by order or resolution of the council in fact, it is little less than blackmailing blasphemy in the eves of the tory press thus to assail the memory of the

We have waited to see whether the enormity of his offense against decency and the public exhibition of irreverence which he flaunted would not lead him to revise his remarks. But not so. They appear in all their ugliness in the official publication of congress. Treating sacred subjects with such levity is not a matter to be tolerated in any public man without protest. It is indefensible. Senator Lane owes an apology not only to the senate, but to the people of the United States, and especially to those of the state of Oregon who are responsible for him."

Isn't it awful? But the dear old lady of journalism ricials, there is attached to this rewill wait in vain for an apology from dauntless Harry pert in Appendix is a complete system
