First it is an egg of mammoth proportions, weighing 5 3/4 ounces, and having a circumference of 7 1/2 inches. But inside this monster is evidently another egg, complete with shell for it can be distinctly felt as it moves from one side to the other of the outer egg as its position is changed.—Grants Pass Courier. NUGGETS OF ALL SIZES FROM JOSEPHINE PLACER GRANTS PASS, March 9.—Nuggets of all dimension, from flakes of twenty-five cents value to a mass of virgin gold weighing $185, formed a collection shown to mining men of this city by S. R. Edwards the first of the week. Their value aggregated $400—merely a portion of the proceeds from three weeks' operation of the Ousey creek placer mine, on the stream of that name near Murphy in Josephine county. The property has been almost continuously operated since 1876, and is at present owned by Messrs. Jewell, Burkhalter and Gannell of Grants Pass. That it has by no means passed its halcyon days as a dispenser of the precious pebbles and dust is attested by the remarkable success of the operations the present season. The gold is exceptionally pure and finely colored, running on an average about $18 to the ounce. Some of the larger nuggets are intermingled with parent quartz, but by far the larger portion is practically simon-pure. Mr. Edwards, who is a well-known mining engineer of Portland, obtained the collection upon a recent visit to the property, with which he may be identified in an engineering capacity in the near future.
