

ULSTER REJECTS COMPROMISED HOME RULE BILL

Proposed Modification of Measure Meets United Conservative Opposition in Parliament—Asquith Says No Retreat in Position Implied.

Shipwrecking of Bill Promises Dangerous Nationalist Outbreak—Ulster Still Dissatisfied.

LONDON, March 9.—Both the floor of the house of commons, which has scant accommodations for a full attendance of its own members, and the visitors' galleries were packed today for the opening of the debate on the Irish home rule bill. Premier Asquith moved the second reading of the measure and then outlined the administration's proposed compromise with the Ulster anti-home rulers, by which the various counties would be given a sort of local option on the alternative of accepting the authority of the Irish or of the imperial parliament.

Directly after the home rule bill became effective, Premier Asquith explained, the various counties would hold elections to decide whether or not they wished to accept it. If they decided negatively, they would remain under the jurisdiction of the imperial parliament, with an election every six years to determine whether the voters had changed their minds.

It was expected the debate would continue all of today and tomorrow. The compromise proposition was expected to nullify Ulster opposition to the home rule measure, but it did nothing to satisfy the English owners of Irish lands in other counties, and was consequently as strongly opposed by the conservatives in parliament as the bill in its original form.

"This concession," Asquith told the commons, "does not mean that we are retreating. We admit that there are grave prospects of strife in Ulster, if unqualified home rule is granted. But, on the other hand, the shipwrecking of this bill, or its permanent mutilation promises an equally dangerous nationalist outbreak."

"We are unalterably opposed to home rule, with or without this modification," answered Bonar Law, the conservative leader. "If the administration persists in adhering to proposals and conditions unacceptable to Ulster, Ulster will oppose the bill, even though it gives them the privilege of rejecting home rule for themselves."

FIRE BREAKS OUT IN ST. MARK'S BASEMENT

Fire broke out in the basement of late St. Mark's building about 9 o'clock, causing a damage of about $100. Rubbish that had collected around the furnace caught afire, and before discovered has burned a hole in the floor. The fire report says that fifty gallons of chemicals were used to extinguish the blaze. The feature of the affair was the appearance of a dozen "fire chiefs" in the crowd, who shouted orders the same as if they were paid for it.

LOCAL ORDER OWLS HOLD SUCCESSFUL INSTALLATION

The local Order of Owls had a very successful installation meeting Saturday night. Some 200 members were present and the officers chosen were duly installed by Organizer J. K. Woods, after the lodge had been organized and the obligation received by the members. The unique and impressive ritual of the order was much appreciated, and the installation exercises were rendered even more interesting by addresses by Mayor Purdin, A. W. Walker, O. M. Selaby and L. Brown.

After the formal exercises were concluded, a recess was taken and the lodge marched in a body to the Isis theater, where the regular program was repeated for their benefit. From the Isis the lodge returned to the Moose hall, where a banquet had been prepared by Ed Hart, and refreshments, music, and "talks" were enjoyed for "quite a spell."

It has been decided to hold the charter open for ten days longer, while a hall is being arranged for and final arrangements made, and the members will be advised through the local press as to the date of closing the charter and the meeting place.

GOLD HILL NUGGETS

(From the News)

H. A. Ensign for a number of years actively in charge of the beautiful Sleepy Hollow rancho, just west of this city, returned on Saturday last after more than a year's absence, and will remain indefinitely. Mr. Ensign was in Mexico for the greater part of the past winter, and a witness of many of the notable events of the last few months which are now history.

Material for the new $1500 substation of the California Oregon Power company, to be erected in this city to replace the one destroyed by fire, is expected to arrive daily. The Gold Hill substation will be of modern out-door type, and absolutely proof against fire.

Horace D. Jones, prophet of the manzanita, the Foothills rancher whose clever and artistic triumphs in converting this little known native wood into serviceable and beautiful toilet articles, etc., have been gaining recognition of late, left on Sunday for Portland where he will spend some time visiting old friends and seeking to benefit his health. During his absence the manzanita craft work will be carried on by his son and scholar, B. M. Jones.

W. W. Traux will begin his fifth term of service as deputy assessor for Jackson county in this district the first of the coming week, and anticipates that the work before him will occupy the greater part of three months. The territory that Wes must cover, asking ten thousand pertinent questions per day of militant or modest property owners, includes Sams Valley, the valleys of Foothills creek, Kanes creek, and Sardino creek, the Antioch district, and the upper Rogue river country as far as the Dodge ranch.

Through a regrettable oversight The News neglected to chronicle, in its last previous issue, the birth of a winsome daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Archie Walker. Inasmuch as the young lady tipped the beam at 12 1/2 pounds immediately after birth, this paper hastens to comply with Mr. Walker's very proper request for recognition as the parent of the bonniest of babies. Dr. Chisholm, the attendant physician, being requested for an interview, informed the reporter that in a long and successful period of practice he could not call to mind a bigger "better baby" than the daughter who brought joy beneath the Walker roof-tree.

The Fisher family, for the past month operating the hotel restaurant annex, pulled down the blinds the first of the week, turned the key in the door, and departed for Medford. With them went the three town pets—the dainty does which Earl Fisher had kept in the little park by the postoffice. For the present at

EAT LESS AND TAKE SALTS FOR KIDNEYS

Take a glass of Salts before breakfast if your Back hurts or Bladder bothers you.

The American men and women must guard constantly against Kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

EAGLE POINT EAGLETS

By A. C. Howlett.

Last Monday morning, when I wrote last, I hurried up so that I could go to the school house and hear Professor Wells, our county superintendent and L. P. Harrington, one of the field workers for industrial fairs. Superintendent Wells gave a short, but very interesting talk to the children and the parents who were in attendance, setting forth some of the advantages of the move and then Mr. Harrington was introduced and he gave us a general talk on the move showing the object of organizing clubs. As the move is an educational affair he dwelt at first on the advantage to be derived from an organization, showing that by that means they could have systems and by that means the members of the club do everything by rule and not haphazard. He then told us how the boys and girls who enter into the work could be helped by a mutual contest, and by studying the various methods of others who have made a success in the various lines of agriculture and domestic economy. He dwelt more particularly on the subject of raising corn and potatoes, telling particularly how to select the best seed for each, but he did not neglect to call the attention of the children and especially the girls to the household duties more particularly to bread making, and right here I wish to emphasize the thought of bread making for during my traveling over the country during the past 60 years I find a host of people that don't know how to make bread. He tried to impress upon the minds of his hearers the fact that in order to succeed in any line of business that they must make that branch of business a special study. By way of encouragement he told us that provision had been made to give valuable prizes to those who succeeded and among them was a trip to the Panama exposition. He is a fine talker and managed to hold the attention of the children all through the address. At the close he organized a club of 47 members. They then proceeded to elect their officers. President, Miss Clara Owens, vice-president, Thelma Nichols; secretary, Reburta Pierce; treasurer, Burnace Simmons, and Rev. L. L. Simmons, as advisor. The contest in some of the selections was quite short and the children seemed to manifest good judgment. In electing the advisor there were three candidates. Rev. Simmons, E. S. Wolfer and Dr. Buchanan and the vote stood, Simmons, 18; Wolfer, 18; Buchanan, 12, so they then dropped Dr. Buchanan and the result was 24 to 21 in favor of Rev. Simmons.

Prof. A. R. Chase one of our rural school supervisors, was with us Monday and attended the lectures and then he and Mr. Harrington went to the Antelope school district.

A post office inspector was here Monday and Tuesday until 2:25 p. m. looking after our post office interests.

The men who have been here working on the old mill ditch have gone on up to where the flume crosses Little Butte creek where they will repair the support of the flume and then they will go on up to the intake and do some work there.

John Ashpole was over Tuesday visiting his son Roy.

Mr. Hildreth and wife of Butte Falls spent the night with us Monday and Tuesday took the train for Butte Falls.

Miss Ethel Ewen was the guest of Miss Rosa Ayres Tuesday.

Mr. Freiderger of Medford has been a guest with us the past few days. He is out here looking after his orchard just above town. Herman Meyer of Lake creek was doing business here Tuesday and so was Tim Ryan who owns a farm just below town. George Childreth came out Monday to visit his brothers and see his sister-in-law who is quite sick with paralysis. Mrs. T. A. Betty went to Grants Pass Tuesday with her mother, Mrs. Rota Potter to have her eyes treated. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Polozow were in town Tuesday doing business and visiting friends.

HISTORY OF THE "HUPMOBILE"

CHAPTER I
Some six years ago the men who headed the Hupp Motor Car Company—the men who head it still—began with this thought. "Let's see how good a car we can build to sell at a moderate price." Mind you—their thought was on goodness first and price second. They figured that there was a tremendous market for a car of low price. They figured also that there was a market not quite so large, but still very large, among those who wanted a moderate priced car, but who were just as particular about quality as people who paid much more. Sticking to this thought, they have persistently tried to build the Hupmobile as well as money and skill and brains could build it. Let's see how this thought has spread. For the most valuable asset that the Hupmobile business has today lies in the thoughts that people have about it. (To be continued.)

Our repair shop is second to none. E. N. Bunce, late foreman of the largest repair shop on the coast, is our master mechanic. We sell tires, tubes, oils and gasoline. Agents for the Hupmobile and Cadillac cars. Cars washed and polished day or night. Free air compressor in front. Crater Lake Motor Car Co.
