

RITCHIE CLOSES STAGE APPEARANCES TO START TRAINING

DETROIT, Mich., March 27.—Willie Ritchie, lightweight champion of the world, will close his theatrical engagement here tomorrow night. He will then go to Chicago, and after spending the day there, will leave for San Francisco to prepare for his scheduled twenty-round bout with Harlem Tommy Murphy, April 17.

Ritchie was offered three more months of theatrical work, but turned down the offer.

"After I meet Murphy," he said, "I want to take on at least two other good lightweights, and then I will be ready to talk business with the theatrical men. I think Promoter Jim Coffroth plans for me to meet Ad Wolgast and Freddie Welsh after the Murphy contest, and I am ready to fall in line with his plans, providing the financial inducements are satisfactory.

"I have never seen Billy Murray in action, and I want to be in San Francisco for the Murray-Clabby go. After this bout I will start training for Murphy."

VAUDEVILLE CIRCUIT PURCHASED BY LOEW

KANSAS CITY, Mar. 27.—The Sullivan and Considine circuit of vaudeville theaters, covering the entire central west and reaching to Vancouver and Victoria, B. C., in the northwest and down the coast, to San Diego was sold last night to Marcus Loew of New York for $6,000,000.

Loew bought the S. and C. Empress Theaters in the northwest, a chain of sixteen, and the controlling interest Sullivan and Considine have in the United Theaters company of Chicago, operating a chain of twelve theaters in the middle west.

Of the purchase price, according to Emanuel Blumenstein, who represented the Sullivan interests in the transaction, $1,500,000 was paid for good will and the remainder for the assets of the properties.

The Sullivan and Considine interests retained only two theaters, the Orpheum in Seattle and the Orpheum in Portland.

STATEMENT OF GEO. C. BROWNELL

REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR ISSUES STATEMENT

Will Veto Bill Compensating Saloons and Breweries if Passed by Legislature

Oregon City, Oregon, February 14, 1914.

To the People of Oregon:

I have waited with the hope that some of the numerous gentlemen who are candidates for governor in the republican primaries and otherwise, in announcing their candidacy, would make some declaration as to how they stood upon the national problem of the sale and manufacture of intoxicating liquor in the United States. I have also hoped that there would have been some expression as to how these gentlemen stood, or would stand on the question of an amendment to the constitution of the state of Oregon abolishing the sale and manufacture of all intoxicating liquor within this state. None of these gentlemen have seen fit to make any declaration or commit themselves in any way upon this great issue, which I think and believe to be the most important for the welfare of the people generally and to the maintenance of our Christian civilization that now exists.

Reluctantly, after due consideration, I have concluded to become a candidate for governor upon this issue as the principal issue of my candidacy. I take this position, that the intelligent opinion of all fair-minded men and women is unquestionably that the liquor traffic, as now in use and force, is a menace to civilization, and is the result largely, of crime, poverty, degeneracy and moral decay, to such an extent as to become a startling danger to the human race. I have no personal fight against the man who is running a saloon. I really feel more like condemning and censuring society for permitting this great evil and power to exist and to obtain the firm hold that it has in this state and in this country. If I had my own way, I should feel as if society itself, ought to be punished to the extent of compensating men who have engaged in this business, sanctioned by the law, in a reasonable way to recover their investment that they have made, on the same theory that Abraham Lincoln favored buying the slaves and colonizing them, in order to settle the slave problem. Of course, I think and know that the people of this state would not favor compensating men who have invested their money in the saloon business, neither am I advocating it as a part of my platform nor program in this fight. I am simply suggesting it to the conscience and fair minds of the people of this state, for them to give such consideration as they see fit, recognizing as I do, that whenever society feels that it is in danger, it has a right to abolish and to destroy anything that endangers itself. My object and purpose is to try to arouse the public opinion and the conscience of the people of this state, where they will be willing to stand shoulder to shoulder, irrespective of political party or affiliations and unite for the purpose of putting the saloon business out of existence and destroy its influence in our economic, social and political life. I therefore am in favor of destroying the saloons with compensation if the people should upon a direct vote so declare, but I would veto any bill which the legislature might pass, compensating saloons for their investment unless the people by popular vote directed me to do otherwise. I stand openly and above board, unconditionally, in favor of the adoption of a national and state amendment to the constitutions of the United States and the state of Oregon, to prohibit the sale and manufacture of all intoxicating liquor within the United States and within the state of Oregon.

I also favor national suffrage to the women of the United States.

I am opposed to any and all Asiatics, such as Hindus being permitted to come into this country and into this state and competing in the logging camps and other avenues of work and labor with the laboring men now here.

It is unnecessary for me to add, that I stand with all good citizens in this state in favor of upholding and maintaining our school system in a fair and liberal way, and in the construction of roads and highways to meet the demand and requirements of our farming, producing, commercial and business classes of the people of this state, with this qualification, that I feel that whatever plans are adopted in the construction of roads in this state and whatever methods are used in the spending of the people's money for such construction, that the interest of the farming class of the people of this state, should be very carefully safeguarded and their wishes as indicated through the society of equity and the Development league and the Farmers' Grange, should be consulted and followed.

I desire also to say that I stand irrevocably in favor of free press and free speech, and that if I should be successful in being nominated an elected governor of this state, I will see, so far as my power will permit, that no man or woman, rich or poor, black or white, shall be deprived of the opportunity of fairly and decently expressing themselves anywhere, in public halls, or upon the streets of cities in this state, as long as they conduct themselves in a lawful way.

The liquor question has got to be fought out. Men will be compelled to take a stand, for it or against it. The saloon is either right or it is wrong. If it is right it should be maintained and perpetuated; if it is wrong, it should be destroyed. I feel that it is wrong; I feel that it is foolish for the moral societies of the state of Oregon, to talk about fighting vice, preach sermons against vice, pass resolutions against vice and hold banquets and make speeches and congratulate each other how they are going to fight vice, and permit the saloon to exist in this state, because it is in the saloon to a great extent, that the seed is sown and eventually ripens into crime, and vice of every character, leading in the end to the jail and penitentiary, to the insane asylum and to degeneracy, say nothing about want and poverty to the thousands and millions of women and children in this land.

I know what kind of a battle this will be. I fully realize the power of the liquor element and the Retail Liquor association of this state, who are always on guard and ready to battle for their position. I know how hard it is to make merchants, bankers and business men take an active interest in the movement, because they frequently fear that it will injure the market, the store, and bank, and in other words, all trade. The facts are that if every saloon was driven out of business in Portland, inside of six months or a year, the merchants and business men would be the ones who would be congratulating each other upon the advance in every line of business, and better payments of the bills of their patrons.

To illustrate this, I herewith quote an extract from a letter written to me November 17, 1913, by Hon. Silas Porter, who is one of the judges of the supreme court of Kansas, and a man who has lived in Kansas during the life of the amendment to its constitution and a man of great ability and high character. Mr. Porter writes: Our town, Kansas City, Kansas, has over 100,000 population. It is a city of manufacturers. Six or eight years ago, when they started to enforce the law rigidly, there were something like 250 "joints" running practically every open. Many of the bars were fixed up in a luxurious manner and enormous sums were paid over the bars every day. Many conservative business men, bankers and members of the Commercial club were at first opposed to a rigid enforcement of the law because it would leave vacant hundreds of buildings and apparently would demoralize the business interests of the city. However, the law was rigidly enforced; not by a trial of cases before juries, but by injunction suits against the property owners and upon affidavits before a judge who granted the injunction showing a violation. After the court had adopted the plan of enforcing its orders by putting padlocks on the doors of the buildings, and prohibiting the opening of the building until the owner should give a bond that it should never again be used for illegal purpose, and sending the proprietors of the joints to the jail for large sentences, not on convictions for the sale of liquor, understand, but for violating the order of the court, there could be no jury trials and convictions were easily obtained. After these things had been done, the owners of the buildings gradually found other tenants and in the course of a few months or perhaps a year, the same business men who had protested against the rigid enforcement of the law, came to the assistant attorney general and apologized. No disinterested business men in the city would now be willing to have the city return to the old plan. I remember instances were grocery men and other merchants said that since the enforcement of the law, and this was said within a year thereafter, children came to their stores, with five and ten dollar bills to purchase provisions who had, prior to the enforcement of the law, never seen that much money in their lives; that the children that formerly came barefooted had shoes for the first time in their lives; that the poorer class of people were able to pay and paid their bills to the stores where formerly it was difficult to obtain payment. Of course, our city adjoins

Kansas City, Missouri, and the first block over the line is known as the "wet block," and it is said to contain something like a dozen or two saloons ready to greet the Kansas man when he comes over. But only those who were so addicted to the use of liquors that it was almost impossible for them to do without it, would in the evening take the trouble to go to Missouri for liquor. The large majority of them, and the average man, turned and went to his home without having spent his money for liquor. Prior to the enforcement of the law, the joints always procured from the banks large sums of money on every pay day, because a very large percentage of the pay checks were cashed over the bar, and of course you know, and I know, that the laborer would naturally feel called upon to spend some part of it under those circumstances, and it frequently happened that his wife and children saw but a very small part of the proceeds. All that was done away with when the joints were closed. Kansas City, Kansas, increased in population the first three or four years after the laws were enforced at a wonderful rate. There was marked improvement in the prosperity of the merchants and the business of the city increased, and instead of a decline, there was a great increase in business and in population. Most of the buildings that were formerly occupied by joints are occupied by "legitimate business."

In closing I desire to say that I favor the $1500 exemption from taxation, now before the people of this state. In addition thereto I wish to say that I feel that the people of the state of Oregon and in fact society generally, rarely appreciate the debt and obligation that they owe to the school teachers and instructors, from colleges down to our district schools, for the efficiency and the work that they do and if I should be honored with this nomination and election, it would be a source of great pleasure to me, in every legitimate way, to aid and advance the different school interests and institutions of this state and the material welfare of the instructors and teachers thereof.

I also strongly favor giving aid and all assistance that is possible towards helping the people of eastern Oregon and other parts of the state needing irrigation to get water upon their lands.

I also favor giving the governor power to veto separate items in appropriation bills passed by the legislature, and this I advocated for years, when a member of the state senate. It is now being taken up as a new matter by some of the candidates, although I used it as an argument on the floor of the state senate, for many years endeavoring to induce the legislature to pass a bill calling for a constitutional convention, so that the constitution could be amended giving the governor this power, as well as many other changes which were then vital to the interests of the people of the state.

I am opposed to useless and expensive kid-gloved commissions that are sapping the taxes and resources out of the people of the state.

I am also radically opposed to the attitude of the national administration in its wool schedule and wool tariff, which is a direct slap to the great sheep industry of the state of Oregon, and the country at large.

If nominated and elected governor, I will veto any bill which may pass the legislature, compensating saloon keepers and breweries for money invested in their business, in case prohibition carries or is adopted or otherwise, or under any circumstances whatever.

I also favor the abolishment of the fish and game commission as now constituted, but favor reasonable laws protecting game without so much red tape.

I will stand for the abolishment of all useless commissions, believing that the responsibility for the expenditure of the people's money should be fixed in such a way that the public will know just where, when and whom to hold responsible for the heavy taxes and expenditures. I therefore believe that the responsibility should rest with the governor, secretary of state and state treasurer, so the people will know who to exercise the recall on, in case it is desired at any time.

I favor separation of church and state in this state and nation.

Sincerely yours,
GEORGE C. BROWNELL.

Hupmobile History

CHAPTER VII
Lubrication

Oiling is obtained by a circulating system peculiar to Hupmobile construction. The flywheel runs continually in a bath of oil with its rim close to the bottom of an oil pan which communicates with the main oil basin by means of holes located at such a height that any sediment which may collect in the basin will not be drawn up by the flywheel. The centrifugal force of the flywheel throws the oil under considerable pressure into a copper tube where it enters the oil regulator and is carried through a strainer into a duct extending along the top of the crank case. By the action of the throttle in the regulator an increased supply of oil is automatically supplied as needed. Three one-quarter inch tubes conduct the oil to the main bearings and crank shaft. Through holes drilled in the crank shaft, oil flows to the crank pin bearings.

The Fairies Cook Book

Is a compendium of the finest recipes for Baking and Cooking in this Climate

Climatic conditions are very important in cooking and baking; what applies to the high altitude of the East is not adaptable to the sea level of this section. That is why successful Eastern formulae are often failures here. The Fairies Cook Book, just issued by the Fisher Flouring Mills Company, manufacturers of the perfect All-Purpose Flour, made of choicest Eastern hard wheat and choicest Western soft wheat, was prepared with this fact in mind. Mrs. Isabella Sewery, recognized authority on the art of cooking, prepared and tested every one of its 150 recipes. For successful baking in this climate the Fairies Cook Book has no equal. We will mail you the book if you fill out and send us coupon below, together with Ten Cents (cash or stamps.)
