

PAY INTEREST ON STREET ASSESSMENT ADVISES SARGENT

In an interview with Colonel H. H. Sargent, councilman of the second ward, and member of the finance committee, regarding the important ordinance relating to the collection of delinquent assessments, which ordinance was passed by the city council on Tuesday, April 7, and was published in both the Medford Sun and Medford Tribune on April 9, he says:

"I am very much concerned for fear that the property owners who are delinquent in assessments and interest for paying do not realize the gravity of the situation.

"The terms of the ordinance go into effect under the law fifteen days after its passage; in other words, on April 23. Until that date interest alone will be accepted at the treasurers office, but if the interest is not then paid, any person can apply to the recorder and get a certificate of delinquency on any piece of property in the city if the owner has not paid his interest. This certificate will include the delinquent assessments and the interest and carries a 15 per cent penalty, and unless redeemed by the owner of the property within a certain time will result in the owner of such certificates gaining in time complete possession of the property by simply taking a few subsequent steps as provided by the state law for the collection of delinquent state and county taxes.

"So far as I know, it is not the purpose of the council to publish any further lists of the owners of property whose assessment and interest are delinquent.

"I am much in hopes, therefore, that every property owner whose interest and assessments are unpaid will come forward before April 23 and pay at least the interest, thus avoiding having issued against his or her property a certificate of delinquency, which in the end, unless redeemed, will surely result in the entire loss of the property. And if redeemed by the owner of the property, will necessitate his having to pay not only the amount of the delinquent assessments and the 6 per cent interest, but in addition the 15 per cent penalty."

SAM LANGFORD TO FIGHT GUNBOAT SMITH

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., April 11.—A twenty-round match here May 29 between Sam Langford and Gunboat Smith loomed up as a strong probability today. Joe Woodman, Langford's manager, has accepted terms offered for such a match, and Promoter James W. Coffroth has an appointment to meet Jim Buckley, Smith's manager, here this afternoon, and it was believed certain they would reach an understanding. In his telegram to Coffroth, Woodman said that Langford was to box in Chattanooga on April 15 and would come to San Francisco direct if Smith agreed to the match.

GUN CARRYING AEROPLANE SHOWN AT AERO EXHIBITION IN LONDON

VICKERS GUN CARRYING BIPLANE

At the Fifth International Aero Exhibition in London among the most interesting exhibits were the new biplanes built for military use under the new requirements of the British army. Among these is the gun carrying Vickers machine driven by a 100-horse power Gnome motor of the new monovalve type.

The nacelle, or body, of the aeroplane, according to a description in Flight, is made throughout of steel tubes covered with aluminum. In the nose of the nacelle, and mounted on a universal joint resting on the tubular framework is a Vickers automatic gun which has a range of action of thirty degrees in any direction from the line of flight. The gun projects through a circular opening in the nose of the nacelle, while a hemispherical shield is mounted on and moves with the gun barrel. This shield is fitted with mica windows, through which the gunner obtains his sights.

CLANTON TO INSPECT KLAMATH FISH LADDERS

KLAMATH FALLS, April 10.—That R. E. Clanton, in charge of the state fish hatcheries, intends to make a thorough investigation of the reported blocking of trout at the dam across the Klamath river, constructed by the California-Oregon Power company, is shown by a letter received here last night. Mr. Clanton says: "I have taken the matter up with the California fish and game commission and asked that immediate relief be given in order to enable the fish to ascend the Klamath river. It is my intention to visit Klamath county some time in the near future, when I will make it a point to visit this dam and make a personal investigation, and at the same time will try and prevail upon the California commission to have a representative there so we can go over the matter together."

It has been reported on very good authority that the trout and salmon are piled up at this power dam this spring and that few, if any, have been able to get above it to spawn. The matter was taken up with the state fish and game commission with the urgent request that an investigation be made and if it is found this dam bars ascent of the Klamath river an effort will be made to have the California commission give relief.

238 ASPIRE TO STATE OFFICES AT PRIMARIES MAY 15

SALEM, Or., April 11.—The campaign for party nominations for state and district offices at the primary election May 15 opened in dead earnest today with 238 aspirants. The race for the gubernatorial nomination promises to be the most exciting with fifteen candidates in the field, eight being republicans, five democrats and three progressives.
