PACKER FOUND SLAIN IN OFFICE

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., May 6.—With a bullet hole in his right temple, J. D. Galehouse, proprietor of the Lady Washington Packing company, was found unconscious in a room at his factory here today by Miss C. M. Bell, his stenographer. Galehouse was taken to the harbor emergency hospital in a dying condition.

The workroom in which Galehouse was found bore evidence of having been the scene of a terrific struggle. Tables were overturned, boxes upset and cans littered the floor. The injured man's coat was spilt up the back, his collar torn from the shirt and a shirt stud from which a jewel had been torn was lying nearby. A revolver also was found under the dying man's man body.

BUYER DECLARES ROGUE RIVER FRUIT BEST IN WORLD

(Portland Oregonian) NEW YORK, May 5.—For a month past the apple market has been on a decided slump in New York, partly due to the competition of oranges. Especially is this true in regard to the Yellow Newtown apples. They are wholesaling at $1.50 a box, which is about the price paid for them by the apple buyers, f. o. b. in the northwest. Winesaps, which are the variety most in evidence, in the markets, are selling, wholesale, from $2 to $2.25 a box, while the few Spitzenberg apples that are left sell for from $2 to $2.50 a box. The prices for these red apples are satisfactory, but the demand is light.

All the Spitzenbergs that are now in cold storage at New York are contained in 15,000 boxes held by Steinhart and Kelly from Cashmere, Wash. J. H. Steinhart, who is the largest buyer of northwestern apples in New York, whom H. F. Davidson, of Hood River, recently named as the greatest booster that the northwestern box apples has, tore open a box of these Spitzenbergs to show the Oregonian correspondent by the senses of feeling, seeing and tasting that they were just as fresh as when they were picked from the trees last October. The other apples from the northwest, on display in all of the fruit stands, are displaying a like keeping quality.

BUILDING A COFFIN

WHAT is the matter with Medford? Is public spirit so dead that any attempt to start a program of action brings threats of injunctions? The proposal to send a representative to Washington to aid the Crescent City harbor met with threats of injunction which frightened the city council into inaction.

A request for financial assistance, such as has been given a number of times on similar occasions, to aid in the entertainment of the Tri-States Good Roads association convention, is similarly threatened, even before action can be taken—and again the council is scared into inactivity.

These threats come mostly from champions of inaction and reaction, tax-dodgers, warrant shavers, cent per cent sharks and business buzzards, who would keep times dull to make their own business good. They are only bluffs, for none of the mossbacks would put up a dollar of their own coin out of their own pockets on anything public.

The fairest way in the world to raise these public entertainment funds is by taxation. Otherwise a subscription list is circulated and the man who rents the property, the progressive merchant who also has to pay taxes foots the bill, while the property owner who reaps the greatest benefit by the city's growth, escapes.

No city can stand still—it must either progress or retrograde. "Sitting tight" and shutting down on enterprise, refusing to participate in public affairs, vegetating in village fashion and knocking everybody who tries to do anything and everything that means present or future development, is a pretty good way to place a community on the toboggan slide.

If the mossbacks, harpies and knockers want Medford to commit hara-kiri, they are on the right track. If their bluffs and threats are going to govern the community, soon the only difference between Medford and Tolo will be the greater number of village gossips and empty houses.

But the calamity howl of the knocker is not the voice of the people of Medford. Knockers do not and never have represented the sentiment of the community, which is and always has been truly progressive. The anvil chorus has always been in evidence, but sounds louder than usual in times of depression. Like a coyote, one street-corner knocker makes a lot of noise.

If Medford is to realize its destiny its citizens must wake up, throw off their lethargy and do things. Grants Pass is building a railroad, Roseburg is planning to do likewise, Ashland is developing its mineral water—and Medford citizens are showing their public spirit by threats of enjoining the expenditure of small sums for public purposes.

Cities don't build themselves—they are built by the inhabitants, and the question before the people of Medford is—are they going to put their shoulders to the wheels of progress and help make this a country worth while, or are they going to join the knockers in using their hammers to build a community coffin, while the harpies pick the corpse?

What Is Pasteurized Butter?

What is Pasteurized butter? is a question which has been asked me several times since coming to Medford. It is butter made from Pasteurized cream. Cream Pasteurized has been heated to a high temperature to burn out or destroy harmful germs, and no one ever burned out germs, and foul odors without taking some of the finest butter flavors with it. Milk from a clean cow is clean and pure as mother's milk, and nature did not design to have mothers' milk Pasteurized. If it would be better, doubtless such provision would have been made, then it follows that cows' milk or cream which needs Pasteurizing has been contaminated with filth while being drawn from the cow, or by some crude means after. There is nothing better than pure cream to make a first-class article of butter. Then begin at the foundation of the trouble and see that the pure milk as drawn from the cow is uncontaminated from the cow to the

Lightning Prolific Source Forest Fires

Exhaustive inquiry has established the fact that lightning ranks next to railroads as a source of forest fires. Forest officers say that the increasing care with fire on the part of the railroads and the public generally tends to make lightning the largest single contributing cause. This statement represents a change of view from that held less than a decade ago in this country, when forest journals gravely argued whether lightning caused forest fires, though it was known that trees were the objects most often struck. Trees are said to be often struck simply because they are so numerous, and extending upward they shorten the distance between the ground and the clouds; further, their branches in the air and roots well into the earth invite electrical discharges.

Other things being equal, lightning seeks the tallest tree, or an isolated tree, or one on high ground. A deep-rooted tree is a better conductor than a shallow-rooted one, and a tree full of sap, or wet with rain, is of course a better conductor than a dry one. Lightning sets fires by igniting the tree itself, particularly when it is dead, or partly decayed or punky, or by igniting the dry humus or duff at its base. The forest soil, when dried out, ignites readily, because it is made of partly decayed twigs and

STRIKERS BACK AT WORK UPON PORTLAND DOCKS

PORTLAND, Ore., May 6.—With the reinstatement here of the freight checkers dismissed by the San Francisco and Portland steamship company when they presented as a union new wage schedule, peace reigned today on the Portland waterfront for the first time in a week. After hearing representatives of the longshoremen who had struck in sympathy and a committee of dismissed checkers, President J. D. Farrell of the O. W. R. & N. company, ordered that the checkers be returned to their positions.

In San Francisco longshoremen representatives conferred with steamship operators and it is understood that a settlement of the dispute between the longshoremen here and the American-Hawaiian Steamship company was reached, and that the freight checkers discharged by that company will also return to work with the arrival of the company's next liner.

Union longshoremen and practically all of the discharged freight checkers were at work today on the San Francisco and Portland Steamship company's liner Bear which is scheduled to sail for San Francisco and San Pedro tomorrow.

COMB SAGE TEA IN HAIR TO DARKEN IT

Grandma kept her locks dark, glossy, thick with a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's treatment, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage. Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-made product called "Vyth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy" for about 50 cents a bottle. It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Vyth's Sage and Sulphur is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive; besides, prevents dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair.
