CANADA BARS WORMY APPLES

A bulletin issued under date of April 22, by Thomas Cunningham, inspector of fruit pests, for the Province of British Columbia, with reference to the codling moth, reads as follows:

"To importers, consignees and shippers of fruit, carrying companies and the public generally: "Notice is hereby given that, in consequence of several serious outbreaks of codling moth infection during the years 1912 and 1913, the suppression of which has cost the government of British Columbia a large expenditure in cash, in addition to the danger of the introduction of this very destructive pest, having been traced directly to American infected ears, it has been decided:

"That all ears arriving in British Columbia, containing either deciduous or citrus fruit, or other vegetation, if found to be infected with the larvae of the codling moth, 'cydia pomonella,' either in the cocoon or pupal stages, will be immediately closed, sealed and ordered out of the province, whether the fruit contained therein may show infection or not.

"Importers, agents, consignees, carrying companies and other interested parties are strongly urged to advise shippers of fruit or other vegetation that this necessary regulation will be strictly enforced at all the ports of entry in this province, so that shippers south of the international boundary may govern themselves accordingly. (Signed) "THOS CUNNINGHAM, "Inspector of Fruit Pests,"

ASHLAND TO OPEN NEW OPERA HOUSE

R. L. Vining, of Fairbanks, Alaska, who is just completing a beautiful up-to-date $25,000 opera house in his old home town of Ashland, was in Medford Tuesday in company with R. A. Minkler of Ashland and arranging for Howell's orchestra to play for their opening night, Thursday, May 14, when the New York Grand Opera company will present "Faust." Mr. Vining owns the orphanage theater in Fairbanks, Alaska and is in the wholesale grocery business in that city. On visiting his old home town several months ago he realized the necessity of a new theatre, purchased a site and built a modern structure, not as an investment merely but to do something for the city of which he is fond. His brother, J. E. Vining will manage the house. A number of Medford people will drive down in their autos for the opening of the new theatre.

SMITH'S NOMINATION CERTAIN

AS election day draws near, the outlook is more certain that Dr. C. J. Smith will receive the democratic nomination for governor. Since the beginning of the campaign, it has been Smith against the field, and there is little question but that Smith will distance the field. The Portland Oregonian and other partisan papers have entered all their fire upon Smith, and the Oregonian explains the reason as follows:

The Oregonian has a proper concern about the governorship of Oregon, whether the candidate for that exalted office shall be republican, democrat, or what-not; and it will say frankly that it regards Dr. Smith as a formidable aspirant for the place. In a field contested by several candidates, it appears to the Oregonian that the struggle lies between him and Mr. Bennett, and the Oregonian makes no concealment of the fact that it thinks Dr. Smith ought not to be nominated nor elected. As to the nomination of Mr. Bennett, or Mr. Manning, or Mr. Miller, it professes indifference.

In other words, the Oregonian fears and dreads the nomination of Smith because he is the one democratic candidate that stands a chance of election. It regards Bennett, Manning and Miller with indifference, because it knows that any one of them will meet defeat at the polls in November.

The Oregonian seeks to recover its old position of dictator of the politics of Oregon and is leaving no stone unturned that it can hurl at Smith to help smash his candidacy—as he is the one man likely to prevent the realization of its dream of power.

Smith is certain of nomination—and Jackson county democracy should lead the procession, as of old, with a solid vote for him.

IT IS TO LAUGH

THE Portland papers are flooded with small advertisements like the following:

Democrats.—Friends of Woodrow Wilson and W. J. Bryan take no chances on the Ryan-Belmont reactionary element gaining control of our party. Vote for H. M. Esterly, a Wilson man, for National Committeeman. (Paid Adv.)

Who is responsible for anonymous ads like this, that assail by innuendo the reputation and character of candidates, and violate the spirit, if not the letter of the corrupt practices act?

The advertisement is in the interest of H. M. Esterly, candidate of Portland's postmaster for national committeeman—and it is easy to guess who pays for it, as Esterly is not spending a cent.

Democratic voters are each receiving an Esterly card. There are approximately 50,000 registered democrats. The cost of this one piece of campaign work is approximately $1000. The numerous ads cost still more. There is no salary connected with the office, yet someone is spending considerable money to put Esterly in and turn over the party in Oregon to Postmaster Frank S. Myers of Portland, recently registered as an independent.

Since when has there been a Ryan-Belmont wing of the party in Oregon? Why convey the impression that the only way to keep Woodrow Wilson in control of the democratic party is to vote for Esterly, who never lifted a finger for the party?

It is all such cheap buncombe that it is to laugh—especially as those opposed to Esterly consist of the real radicals of the party.

REWARD EFFICIENT SERVICE

COUNTY COMMISSIONER JOE SMITH of Rogue River deserves re-election. Faithful and efficient service by public servants must be recognized and appreciated if we are to have good government.

Mr. Smith has been in office for fifteen months and has devoted a large part of his time to the work, with general satisfaction to the people of his district—the northern part of the county. He has done and is doing his work well, and highways in his district have received better attention and are in better shape than ever before.

Mr. Smith has favored progressive policies and conservative management. He has helped keep county expenses within receipts, helped restore the county's credit and place warrants at par, and provided a warrant redemption fund with practically the same tax levy as for the past several years. The increased taxes this year are no fault of the present county court, but due to higher state taxes, caused by legislative extravagance and to increased city and school taxation.

If Mr. Smith is defeated, it leaves all members of the county court bunched within a couple of miles of each other and leaves the north end of the county without representation—an undesirable condition. But Mr. Smith will not be defeated, for the voters of Jackson county have not yet turned reactionaries.

FOR THE LEGISLATURE

TWO former newspaper men are candidates for the republican nomination for representatives from Jackson county, D. W. Stone of Willow Springs and F. D. Wagner of Ashland. If nominated, with W. I. Vawter of Medford as joint representative, all sections of the county will be represented at the legislature.

A newspaper man's training, constant contact and association with the people, his intimate relations with the community, his service for the public, his knowledge of politics and law, of public wants and local needs, peculiarly fit him for legislative work.

Mr. Wagner was for over a score of years editor and publisher of the Ashland Tidings, recording every event that happened in the valley and familiar with every phase of its growth and development. Mr. Stone published a progressive daily in Trinidad, Colorado, many years, leaving journalism to become a fruitgrower in the Rogue River valley several years ago.

Both of the candidates have been familiar figures at state legislatures and understand the machinery of law-making and the game of politics. They will make a strong team pulling for Jackson county.

THROUGH inadvertence, political advertising for W. A. Carter for governor, Gus C. Moser for governor, Wm. P. Masley for representative and Ralph E. Williams for republican national committeeman, has been appearing in the Mail Tribune without the notice "paid advertisement" attached, as required by law. The notices appeared as advertising in the advertising columns, and the omission of the "paid advertisement" notice was unintentional.

Vote Friday for A. W. WALKER For Sheriff

He has resided in Jackson county for nine years, during which time he has conducted a successful business and is now proprietor of the Nash Livery stable and the West Side Freed stable.

He pledges himself that if he is elected, the sheriff's office will be conducted economically under his personal direction and control, and in such manner as to facilitate the handling of the public business to the best advantage of the public, rather than his own convenience. In all criminal matters he will at all times co-operate with the courts and the public prosecutor, and will in all respects perform his duties and enforce the laws in the manner directed by the proper authorities, without fear or favor.

He believes in economy in administration and lower taxation. (Paid Adv.)

For Governor

GUS. C. MOSER REPUBLICAN

He stands for economy and efficiency, and dignified law enforcement.

He voted against the new tax law in the senate and favors payment of taxes semi-annually without penalty.

Favors abolishment and consolidation of various commissions, and fewer employes and stricter economy in the several state departments. (Paid Adv.)

W. H. MEREDITH

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS FIRST DISTRICT

W. H. Meredith, democratic candidate for congress from the First District is district attorney for Curry county by appointment of Governor West. Mr. Meredith has made a name for himself in that district, as a law enforcing officer by his vigorous prosecutions of bootleggers, and based on the record so made he was recently made the prohibition nominee for congress in the first district. This nomination will add at least 10,000 votes to his total vote in the general election—practically enough votes to overcome the normal republican majority.

In a recent letter Senator Geo. E. Chamberlain in referring to a conversation held with former Governor Folk of Missouri, an old personal friend of Mr. Meredith, had this to say: "I spoke to Governor Folk about you and here is what he said: 'Mr. Meredith is from Poplar Bluff, Mo., and I knew him there quite well. He is a splendid man, honest, reliable and a real progressive.' You can see, therefore, that the good name you left in Missouri follows you to Oregon."

Mr. Meredith is making an active campaign and is strongly backed by the people in the coast counties, who say he is just the man to beat the republican nominee. Mr. Meredith is a staunch supporter of President Wilson's administration, and has a personal acquaintance with Speaker Champ Clark and other democratic leaders in congress which will enable him to accomplish great good for the First Congressional District and all of Oregon.

This is the first opportunity for years that democrats of the First District have had to elect a democrat. Go to the polls May 15, and vote for W. H. Meredith and you will pick a winner.

Speaking of Mr. Meredith, Fred W. Mulkey, former United States senator from Oregon, said yesterday: "I have known Mr. Meredith for 17 years. We had seats next to each other at the New York law school in our student days. He is one of the most capable lawyers I know, and if elected will be a credit to the state." (Paid Adv.)

FREDERICK HOLLISTER Democratic Candidate for Congress

OUT FOR CONGRESS

Democrats Have Worthy Man in the Race in Person of Fred Hollister

(Polk County Itemizer, April 2.) This paper herewith presents its readers a picture of Frederick Hollister, of Coos Bay, candidate for the democratic nomination for congress for the first district. We do this for two reasons: First, that our readers may judge for themselves what the man who would occupy Congressman Hawley's seat looks like, and, secondly, that our readers may thereby be advised that a real live democrat is in the race.

Mr. Hollister is a successful business man of Coos Bay; is a lawyer of repute, and is identified with every progressive movement the people of Coos Bay have had for years. He is an honest citizen, a man whose purpose and ambitions in life are to do things for the betterment of mankind and the state in which he lives. He has never before aspired to any office in county or state. At present he is a member of the city council of North Bend, to which high position he was elected by the highest majority of all members now serving; is a director of the First National Bank of North Bend and president of the Lane County State & Savings Bank of Florence. He has been a resident of North Bend eleven years. We are certain from information at hand that never before has a cleaner or more progressive man ever come before the democratic primaries and we are equally certain that never before have we had the opportunity to place a democrat in congress that we now have. This man is a coast man, and never before has the coast asked for recognition. The interests of the coast are identical with the interests of the interior, but the advantage is to be had in sending a man to congress who is advised as to the needs and requirements of the coast, instead of one who has to depend upon information furnished him by his political friends. If the rivers and harbors of our state are aided by the federal government, the benefit will be felt by the cities of the interior.

That great undeveloped county of Coos is solid for their home man and these democrats and republicans are working hand in hand to secure his nomination. The people there believe in him and are exceedingly anxious to see him receive the nomination. (Paid Adv.)
