Roosevelt Weak From Long Seige Of Jungle Fever

NEW YORK, May 20.—Those who saw Theodore Roosevelt on his return yesterday from Brazil realized from his appearance that he had passed through a trying time. Though his cheeks were bronzed, his smile present and his grip firm, there were many traces of the hardships he had endured on his 600 mile journey down the Rio Davida, the unknown river he explored. The trip from Para, which began May 7, did much to restore Colonel Roosevelt. It gave back to him 25 to 30 of the 55 pounds he had lost, and the jungle fevers that ran from the ankle to the knee of his right leg were nearly all healed.

Actual starvation menaced the party during the last of the 60 days' journey down the Davida. The pinch was sharper far, it was said, than was indicated by the leaders' declaration that they had to hold themselves to half rations. At Manaus where the expedition returned to civilization, Colonel Roosevelt was still so ill that he had to be helped aboard the steamer Dunstan, on which he traveled to Para. During four days on the Dunstan he was confined to his bed. Not until the first day at Para did he show the improvement which has continued since.

Colonel Roosevelt plans to rest at his Oyster Bay home until Thursday, when he will go to the village to meet his neighbors. Next Tuesday he plans to go to Washington to address the National Geographic society on the results of his Brazilian exploring trip and on May 30 he probably will start for Europe, to attend, in Madrid, the wedding of his son Kermit.

Laura Best is the BEST FLY KILLER

The second week fly killing contest in the city schools has been closed and reports show a great increase over the first week's work. The pupils are taking a great deal of interest and are endeavoring to place their respective schools in the lead. Laura Best of the Washington school leads this week's list with 47,100 dead flies to her credit. Following is the names of the five highest in each school and the number of their victims.

Table listing names of students and their fly counts across three schools: Washington, Roosevelt, and Lincoln.
