

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

J. E. Enyart has returned from a year's stay in San Francisco and Los Angeles, begin called back by his father's health. The latter is past 86 years of age. Mr. Enyart reports business conditions good in San Francisco but not so good in Los Angeles. The hay city is reaping the benefit of the exposition and the many public enterprises underway in Los Angeles. He visited his daughter, Hazel, now Mrs. J. B. Farmer, who was popular in Medford society circles before her marriage a year ago. Just how long he will remain, he could not say.

Mrs. and Miss Dreyer of Sacramento are in Medford for the purpose of introducing the new hair preparations. The Dreyers have traveled extensively with their goods which are said to give the desired results. Miss Dreyer's hair is over six feet in length and of a beautiful color and texture.

Miss C. Dreyer will display her wonderful growth of hair at Haskins' drug store Monday to prove the wonderful growing qualities of the Mexican Hair Vigor, which will be on sale there. Arrangements can also be made for special scalp treatment. Satisfaction guaranteed.

James L. Garvin of Talent was a Medford visitor Saturday. He reports the loss of $1000 Penn Mutual insurance policy.

Screen doors at Medford Lbr. Co. Bright cloudless skies, and a rising temperature greeted the Rogue river valley today, with prospects of hot weather. At 11 o'clock today the mercury registered 74 degrees, fore-runner of more heat. A spell of heat will be welcomed by the farmers in the curing of their hay, some of which has been damaged by sprinkles. The sky was free from clouds this morning except for a fringe on the southern horizon, and according to Bill Coleman this an unfailing pioneer sign of ten days hot weather.

ROME, June 13.—The syndicate of railwaymen this afternoon ordered a cessation of the strike throughout Italy. As the strike of the railway men is the only serious cause of anxiety in the general strike movement the tension was greatly relieved.

provide a material income to the city. This new ordinance will not in any way prove a benefit to Medford, if anything, it will decrease the amount of money to be received for the sale of water outside of the city limits.

It would seem to me that this action was taken without proper consideration and that possibly an error of judgment has been made. I realize the difficulty of handling matters pertaining to the city and believe that there was no intention of taking any action that would be unfair to its best interests. It is impossible to be always right. It was an error of judgment in handling the fire department of this city, and probably up to the present this error has cost the city at least $500. It was an error of judgment to consider for a moment pumping into the city water mains the contents of the old well, which, if it had been re-constructed, would probably have caused the death of a great number of people from infection by using impure water. Mature judgment prevented this mistake being made. I mention these facts to show that it is possible to make an error of judgment.

This article of Mr. Sargent's goes on to state that the outsiders (I do not like the name outsiders—these people should not be considered as outsiders), heretofore have been obtaining from the city of Medford a great deal for nothing. As a cold-blooded business proposition, I wish it were possible to give these people more than they have ever obtained. I wish it were possible that these people living in the adjoining country here could be made to feel that all of the business houses and the people living in the city were their friends and not their enemies. I wish it were possible that they could be made to feel that they could come to Medford to do their shopping, sell their products and be better treated than in any other place. If this were possible, if we could create a sentiment of this kind, it would not be long before we would fill up all the vacant lots and adjoining territory, which really should be within the city limits, and in this way give us a Greater Medford.

In conclusion, I would like to say that in my opinion a great mistake is being made and it would seem to me that this matter was of sufficient importance to receive reconsideration. In talking with many of the people who are affected by this ordinance, the consensus of opinion, as expressed to me, is that they are willing to pay some more for water, although they can see no reason why there should be any change in the former rate. They also expressed a desire to come into the city as soon as the city is in shape to give them the same consideration that it does to the property at present within the limits.

I sincerely hope that this matter may receive due consideration and an adjustment fair to all. FREDERICK C. PAGE.

SUBURBAN WATER USERS PROTEST PROHIBITIVE RATES; PETITION FOR OLD SCHEDULE

At a meeting of suburban water consumers held Friday evening, at which W. Carleton Jones presided as chairman and Dr. J. D. Rickett as secretary, attended by 40 consumers, resolutions were adopted protesting the city council's new rates of $2.50 minimum for 5000 gallons and 25 cents per 1000 gallons additional, and a committee with G. W. Cherry as chairman, appointed to secure signatures to the petition to the council asking the re-establishment of old rates.

The resolutions adopted were as follows: "To the Honorable City Council of the City of Medford, Or.:

"Whereas, the city council at a meeting held at the city hall on the 23rd day of June, 1914, passed a resolution raising and fixing the water rates to all outside consumers at $2.50 for the first 5000 gallons and for all over said amount 25 cents per 1000 gallons, or any fraction; and

"Whereas, at a previous meeting said council determined that no connections in the future would be allowed by outsiders for the use of water; and

"Whereas, the new rate, if permitted to remain in force and effect is and will be extortionate and prohibitive, and if the action of said council in regard to connections and use of water in future by those on the outside, is allowed to remain in force, it will not be for the best interest of the city and suburban districts; and

"Whereas, the old rate of $1.50 for the first 5000 gallons and 15 cents for each 1000 gallons thereafter used, is even more than the rate should be to promote the interest of the city of Medford and the adjoining territory; and

"Whereas, those who reside on the outside under the old rate are required to pay, during the hot summer months, largely more for the use of water than those residing in the city, though strict economy is used in the use of such water, and such users of water are willing, in the interest of Medford and the surrounding territory, to continue to so pay more for the use of water, and are willing to bear a reasonable and just burden imposed by the said city council; and

"Whereas, in and through the Siskiyou and Capital Hill Additions there has been constructed and there now runs an electric car line running through a territory adapted to the construction of suburban homes, and the development of which is desirable for the interest and encouragement of said electric railway, and is for the best interest of the citizens of Medford; and

"Whereas, said territory is very sparsely settled and has not reached that stage of development when it should, in the natural course of things, become a part of the city, but would soon reach that stage of development as would entitle it to become, and would become, a part of the city of Medford, if permitted to continue, under reasonable and proper regulations, the use of surplus water that would otherwise go to waste and be lost as a revenue to the city, and such use would largely increase the revenue to the city; and

"Whereas, such encouragement and use of water should be extended by the city to all suburban residents who have erected or intend to erect homes insofar and so long as there is surplus water, not used or needed by the city, which may be appropriated to such use, to the end that all such districts may be so developed that they may be brought into the city as speedily as possible, and in the meantime the city derive from such sources the revenues that would otherwise be lost to it; and

"Whereas, the undersigned residents and home-builders respectfully maintain that such a policy would be for the best financial and community interest of the people of the city of Medford and its suburban population, and would be in line with and according to the real intent and purpose of the resolution (according to a reasonable interpretation thereof) passed by the city council June 2, 1914, raising the rates, as set forth above; and

"Whereas, such action on the part of the city council would do much toward bringing together, in harmonious action, the citizens of Medford and suburban districts;

"Now, therefore, the undersigned residents and property owners of the suburban districts, and citizens of Medford, respectfully request and ask that the said rate of June 2 be rescinded and the old rate restored to the suburban residents of said city, and the action of the city council at said previous meeting be annulled and set aside, and that such liberal policy in the use of surplus water by those on the outside be pursued by the city council in the future, as will properly conserve and use, for the benefit of the city in revenues, all available surplus water, and at such reasonable and just rates as will encourage the development and prosperity of Medford and the outlying districts."
