

GOLD HILL WINS EXCITING GAME OVER MEDFORD 12-11

The Mexican difficulty is solved. All Woodrow has to do is to send Caster and Lesh to the front with a good supply of baseballs. Nine men stung by the horse hide, and three of them beamed square on the Ivory. Outside of that, the Gold Hill-Medford game Sunday was all right.

Medford grabbed one in the first, but Gold Hill doubled that and capped three in the third and four in the fifth, while Medford had to be content with one more during the same period. But in the terrible sixth, when Lesh's sore arm weakened, five two-huggers and two Texas leaguers netted Medford eight runs. Gentlemen hush! There was a riot. In the eighth, however, after Peartown had annexed one more, the Miners glommed two, making it a tie, and in the ninth, after Reed had got to first, Lesh won his own game by smashing a two-sacker out into the chapparal and scoring him. But take it from me, that Gold Hill bunch has got the world beaten for good live "rooting." A 20 to 0 game would be worth the money if you could hear the comedy stuff from the grand stand—and the girls are the best fans in the bunch.

GILA MONSTER'S POISON ROUTED BY DEMON RUM

James King, the carnival snake charmer, who was nipped by a "gila monster" Saturday evening while he was giving a lecture on the deadliness of its bite, is alive and fairly well at Sacred Heart hospital today. Mr. King, backed by a number of citizens, said he never heard of a man being bit by a gila monster and living to tell the tale, and a number of other citizens aver that the bite is not much worse than that of a good, lively California flea.

Immediately after being yanked into the shadow by the fangs of the gila he appropriately poured into his system two pints of Front street extract of barb wire, and this along with the reptile poison made something of a maniac out of him and hard to handle. King, after he was bitten and absorbed the forty-rod liquid, bid an earthly farewell to a number of acquaintances, so certain was he that he would soon be in a land where crawling things do not abide.

Bite Not at All Fatal
Dr. Porter was called and dressed the wound and bandaged the arm so the blood could not circulate, and the snake pit was banked ten deep with the curions. While King was being carried out of the snake pit another death-defying youth was crawling in. Mr. Gila Monster slung himself asleep in a corner. Difference of opinion as to the fatality of the bite of the reptile caused a confusion of reports. One faction had him dying four times Sunday afternoon, and the other had him going to work pitching hay on the Mike Hanley ranch this morning. Chief Hittson, who drove cattle for three years on the Gila river, in Arizona, told the most blood-curdling version of the bite of death. He said he knew a cat that was bitten by one, and pussy died in her tracks without a chance to emit a meow. He maintained a human had less chance to survive, and shuddered to even think of it. Chief Hittson also declared a whiff of the breath of the gila would cause long illness.

Differences of Opinion
Prosecutor Kelly asserted that he would as soon be bitten by a gnat as a gila monster, and that he knew a man in New Mexico who sat down upon one and did nothing more than cuss a mite and apply ammonia to the afflicted spot. Medical encyclopedias state that there is no authenticated instance of the bite being fatal to humans, though it produces a sore.

LUMBER BLACKLIST VIOLATION OF LAW

WASHINGTON, June 22.—The supreme court today affirmed the decree of the New York federal court holding organizations of eastern states retail lumber dealers, had violated the Sherman anti-trust law by circulating among their members blacklists of wholesalers who sold lumber direct to big consumers. On a question of jurisdiction solely, the supreme court today affirmed the judgment of the Kentucky court of appeals, which held that the commonwealth had jurisdiction to proceed against the International Harvester company for violating its local anti-trust law, although the company claimed to have no place of business in that state.

The test was a success, the locomotives handling the four thousand ton steamship easily and speedily. It took the Alliance one and one-half hours to pass through the locks.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., June 22.—Police began today a search for Theresa Faust, a sixteen year old girl missing from her home here more than three weeks, in the belief that she might be the victim in the Mohawk River mystery. According to Miss Faust's parents she wore a pink undershirt when last seen. A piece of such a garment was found with the torso taken from the river last Friday. While Miss Faust was only sixteen years old, she was large for her age. Physicians said that the torso was that of a woman of possibly 25 years of age.

WATCHFUL WAITING AT WESTINGHOUSE PLANT

PITTSBURGH, Pa., June 22.—"We have no word from Washington about the coming of mediators to settle the strike and we don't care if we never hear from them," said Bridget Kenny, secretary of the Allegheny Congenial Industrial Union, in charge of the Westinghouse strike, today. "That's money the government doesn't need to spend," she added. President E. M. Herr of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company said he had no information about the mediators. Four thousand pickets surrounded the Westinghouse plants today in anticipation of an attempt to take workmen into the shops, but there was no evidence that the company has abandoned its policy of waiting until the old men return.

With good behavior his term will expire December, 1919.

PRESIDENT THINKS TREATIES WILL PASS

WASHINGTON, June 22.—President Wilson believes that when the Columbian and Nicaraguan treaties are understood they will be amply supported in the senate. He made this clear to callers today, but refused to go into details. The treaties are pending before the foreign relations committee, before which Secretary Bryan again appeared today to continue his explanation. There is some opposition to the proposed payment of $25,000,000 to Colombia, and to features of the Nicaraguan treaty, which some senators contend would work unduly to sustain the present government there.

JONES DIRECTOR OF HARVESTER TRUST TO BETTER AFFAIRS

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Searching the records of the five men President Wilson has nominated for the federal reserve board began today in the senate banking committee, but no formal action was taken. Friends of the administration indicated they would press for early confirmation of the nominees and several senators seemed satisfied with President Wilson's explanation of how Thomas D. Jones of Chicago came to own one share of stock in the International Harvester company. The president wrote to Senator Owen that Mr. Jones owned the stock merely to qualify as a director and that he entered the Harvester board to correct conditions the government is now fighting through the department of justice.

Paul M. Warburg of New York also was discussed at today's meeting. Mr. Jones will have an opportunity to appear before the committee. Several members went to hear from Mr. Jones himself just what his relations have been with the Harvester company.

President Wilson expects a fight on the confirmation of nearly all the men he nominated, but it was made clear in circles close to the president today that he thinks the board the best it was possible to get and will stand behind it.

51 WATER LEAKS IN FOUR MILES OF CITY'S MAIN

In the first four miles of the city water system, there are fifty-one leaks of various sizes, according to Councilman George Porter, who, with Water Superintendent George Trauma, went to the intake Sunday on a tour of inspection. Councilman Porter will recommend at the next meeting of the city council, that a force of men be put on at once to repair all breaks, the entire length of the pipe line as a matter of good business and precaution. The first four miles are the worst, according to Intake Keeper Day.

It is also likely that some steps will be taken to secure an income from the Hamilton ranch next year. This year a $1,000 hay crop is going to waste, except for the small amount cut by Intake Keeper Day as winter feed for the family cow. The hay could be cut off with but slight danger to polluting the city water supply.
