

DANIELS SAYS 50,000 VISITORS A YEAR AT CRATER

Mark Daniels, recently appointed superintendent of National Parks, who is also superintendent of the Yosemite National Park, arrived in Medford Tuesday evening from Crater Lake, accompanied by Superintendent Will G. Steel, and Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Parkhurst of the Crater Lake company. It was Mr. Daniels first visit to the park and he is enthusiastic over it and the prospects for developing it as a great scenic attraction.

"If the plans Secretary Lane and I have under consideration can be carried out, you can safely count on at least 50,000 people a year coming to see the lake. I doubt if Medford or Southern Oregon realizes what an asset the park will be to its growth and development in the coming years."

No Organization Now Mr. Daniels has with him several charts showing the proposed tentative organization of a bureau of national parks, as approved by Secretary Lane. The plan proposes a general superintendent over all, with twelve national park superintendents to report to him. There are two assistants, one in charge of the department of concessions, the other in charge of publicity and transportation. The general office force is divided into the following departments: Landscape and architecture, engineering, purchasing, finance, accounting and inspection.

The park superintendent's work is divided as follows: Transportation, police, maintenance and sundry construction, supplies, accounting. His duties consist in supervising concessions, employes' clubs, arranging public entertainments, arranging village school, medical service, investigation of accidents, information bureau and church.

Tentative Organization. "At present," said Mr. Daniels, "there is no organization or system to national park supervision. Organization, such as outlined, would save the government $150,000 a year on present expenditures, as much of the money now spent does not secure results."

"To make organization effective, long terms must be provided for the bureau chiefs, and not a political upsetting every four years. A ten-year term as provided in the reserve bank board and other recently created commissions, is recognized as more satisfactory so far as results go. The present bureau bill now pending is not satisfactory in that it creates a political machine instead of an efficient administrative bureau."

"I believe that a permanent plan of improvement for every park should be worked out, the style of architecture suitable for the landscape decided upon and the roads and permanent improvements to be made planned in advance, so that all work will be carrying on the general plan of beautification and attractiveness, and I am working to this end."

LONG LIVE FRANCE! SHOUTS POINCARE AMIDST CHEERS

PARIS, Aug. 5.—Extraordinary enthusiasm was called forth in the French parliament last evening by the reading of an address to the French nation written by President Poincare.

"Our nation is in arms," said the president, "and trembling with eagerness to defend the land of our fathers."

"France is faithfully supported by her ally, Russia; she is upheld by the loyal friendship of England and already from all points of the civilized world go out her expressions of sympathy and good will for she represents today once again before the universe, liberty, justice and reason."

"Lift up your hearts! Long live France!" Afterward Premier Viviani recited a catalogue of alleged German aggressions which he said had gone on for forty years. He declared that France had displayed remarkable equanimity in her deep attachment to peace.

Antoin Dubost, speaker of the senate, also read President Poincare's address and then Premier Viviani made a declaration similar to the one he had made in the chamber. Several sick members were carried to their seats as they were unwilling to be absent from the historic session.

Both houses adopted without discussion the financial bills introduced by the government and others for the relief of the families of the soldiers, ratifying martial law and imposing heavy penalties on newspapers publishing false news. An amendment extending the moratorium to all the French colonies was passed unanimously.

All the deputies rose to their feet in support of a bill to confer French nationality on natives of Alsace and Lorraine existing in the French army.

WATCHFUL WAITING IN WALL STREET

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—With the spread of hostilities abroad Wall street has settled down to a waiting attitude. It is virtually certain that no attempt to reopen the stock exchange will be made while the London exchange remains closed.

The stress of the financial situation led the directors of the American Tobacco company today to declare their regular quarterly dividend of five per cent payable in scrip instead of cash.

A bankers' conference was held here at which further arrangements were made for the shipment of gold to aid American tourists abroad. It is probable that the amount may exceed $8,000,000.

TWO CRUISERS TO TAKE GOLD FOR REFUGEES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—It was announced at the navy department today that the sailing of the armored cruiser Tennessee for Europe with gold for the relief of Americans had been postponed until tomorrow morning, in order to complete all of the necessary arrangements.

The armored cruiser North Carolina probably will accompany the Tennessee.

A bill appropriating $2,500,000, for which President Wilson asked in a special message was brought into the house for passage under suspension of the rules and exclusion of all other business. It contained authority for use of army and navy facilities and chartering of ships. Secretaries Bryan and McAdoo told the appropriation committee it was the plan to first utilize neutral lines, then charter ships, and use army and navy transports as a last resort.

The house promptly passed the $2,500,000 appropriation and within a few minutes the senate passed it also, and it went to the white house.

The North Carolina will carry additional gold, probably to Mediterranean ports, leaving the Tennessee free to supply needs in the north.

The premier also stated that all men trained in the last fifteen years had been called to the colors. He read the Belgian reply to the last German note, while informed this government that if Belgium raised difficulties against the passage of German troops through Belgium the necessary force would be used by Germany to accomplish her end.

"I make a personal appeal to you to remove the misapprehension and leave open the grounds for negotiations for possible peace."

The Russian emperor replied that he would have accepted the proposals had not Germany declared war.

"Germany," says the emperor, "showed no disposition to mediate, and her preparations and those of Austria made it imperative that Russia should mobilize, but I gave most categorical assurances to the German emperor that the Russian troops would not move so long as the negotiations continued."

The reply concludes: "I trust that your country will not fail to support Russia and Franco for peace and protect you."
