TINY WARSHIP HUGS COAST TO MISS GERMANS

British Sloop Algerine Spoken Off Cape Mendocino—Captain Ignorant of Declaration of War. Seeks to Escape Kaiser's Cruisers—Rain-Bow is Safe.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Aug. 12.—The British sloop of war Algerine was spoken off Cape Mendocino at 3 p. m. yesterday by the American coaster Beaver, which arrived here from Portland today. The Algerine was cleared for action and not a sailor's head showed above the rails. The Algerine wiggled the Beaver to approach and the two vessels lay alongside while the captains talked through megaphones for half an hour.

"For God's sake," implored the captain of the Algerine, as they parted, according to Captain Mason of the Beaver, "don't tell the Leipzig where we are. We're too small."

Sights German Warship

While making port today Captain Mason sighted the Leipzig twenty miles outside the heads and heard her wireless talking. The probability is, as such communication is strictly forbidden under the neutrality regulations enforced by United States radio inspectors, that the Leipzig was in touch with the Nuremberg, which it is now known is scouting off the coast.

The Algerine reported that she was without wireless for ten and one-half days she had been dodging along the coast. Her captain had no news of war and at first was even a little skeptical that war had really been declared. He was glad to hear that the Rainbow was safe, but had no information as to the whereabouts of the sloop of war Shearwater, the only other British vessel in these waters.

More Wreckage Found

A group of students returning to the University of California manned the rails of the Beaver as she drew away and gave their college yells for the Algerine.

More flotsam from some British warship was thrown up by the tide today, this time on the northern shores of the Golden Gate. There was nothing to indicate what vessel it came from, and the supposition still stands that it is debris thrown overboard by the Rainbow when she cleared for action on leaving this port before dawn last Saturday.

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 12.—The Esquimaux naval station refuses to give any information concerning the movements of British war vessels, but at last accounts the cruiser Rainbow and two submarines with a tender were cruising off Cape Flattery. It is supposed that the Algerine and Shearwater will come to the North Pacific. No hostile ship is in the North Pacific, so far as known. Great Britain is seeking to keep open the trade route from British Columbia and Puget sound to England via the Suez canal.

RECALL PETITIONS MUST GIVE COIN SPENT FOR SAME

OLYMPIA, Wash., Aug. 12.—In a decision handed down today the state supreme court holds that it is necessary when a petition is filed for the recalling of any public official that a list be made public, not only of all moneys collected and how spent, but also a list must be filed of all persons, corporations and organizations that aided in the preparation, circulation, and filing of the petition. This decision reverses the King county superior court in the case of George W. McCauley against the superior court of King county.

McCauley asked that the county auditor be prevented from checking the petitions for the recalling of M. L. Hamilton, a commissioner of King county, until the names of all who had aided in the work were filed. The decision says that the information desired must be made public, and all work in checking is held up until this is done.

REFUGEES LAND ON ATLANTIC LINERS FROM WAR PORTS

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—The Dutch steamer Potsdam from Boulogne, one day overdue, reached New York today with more than eight hundred passengers, many of them American refugees from Europe who left so hurriedly that they were unable to bring their baggage.

To the suspension of the Imperialist's sailings was attributed the congestion aboard the Potsdam. Among those aboard was Julius P. Meyer, first vice president of the Hamburg-American Line.

The British steamer Ausonia from Glasgow and Mobile with 125 second cabin and 117 steerage passengers, arrived today. She steamed every night with lights out, but saw no hostile war vessels on the voyage.

The steamer Danube from the West Indies, in today, reported sighting a British cruiser outside of Antilla, Cuba.

Captain Plunkett of the Danube said that martial law prevailed in Kingston when he sailed and that all news was censored. A few naval reservists were taken from the Danube's engine room just before sailing and four other men, not engineers, were substituted.

The four engineers will be kept at Kingston and placed aboard the first British war vessel that enters the port.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—Consul reports from Antwerp say that Americans on the British steamers Finland and Marquette have left that city for America via London. The dispatch also contains the sentence, "Antwerp port closed Germany."

It is not known whether Antwerp was closed to or by the Germans.

Notice has reached the state department that a number of Americans in Egypt are without money and want transportation.

HARVESTER TRUST TO DISSOLVE

The court finds fault with the actions of the corporation, aside from the technical violation of the Sherman law, for only two actions. The opinion declares that there was no excuse for the advertising of the products of D. M. Osborne & Co. as independent for two years after it had virtually entered the International Harvester company.

This advertising was to induce purchasers, the court finds, from those who were opposed to buying from the combination.

The other act censured by the decision was the manner in which the five original concerns were turned over to the International company by William C. Lane, a New York banker, who contended that he had purchased the properties.

"The court is clearly of the opinion," the decision reads, "that the process by which it was made to appear that the properties were sold to Lane was merely colorable."

Not Overcapitalized

The court holds, however, that the property turned in to the International company was greater than the stock issued for it, and that the case involves no question of overcapitalization.

The court cites portions of the decision in the cases of the Standard Oil company, the American Tobacco company, the Dupont de Nemours & Co., and other cases as to what constitutes the restraint of trade, reasonable and unreasonable, and concludes:

"There is no limit under the American law to which a business may not independently grow, and even a combination of two or more businesses if it does not unreasonably restrain trade, is not illegal; but it is the combination which unreasonably restrains trade that is illegal, and if the parties in controversy have 80 or 85 per cent of the American business, and by the combination of the companies all competition is eliminated between the constituent parts of the combination, then it is in restraint of trade within the meaning of the statutes under all of the decisions."

In Restraint of Trade

"Congress has condemned any combination in restraint of either the foreign or interstate trade, and if the International Harvester company was in restraint of either the interstate or foreign trade, it would not be lawful to restrain the interstate trade, in order to build up the foreign trade. The International by suppressing all competition between the five original companies, was in restraint of trade as prohibited in the first section of the Sherman law, and it tended to monopolize within the meaning of the second section of the same law, and this restraint and this monopoly were the direct and immediate effect of the

HARVESTER CASE TO BE APPEALED SUPREME COURT

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—The Harvester case will be taken to the supreme court of the United States as soon as possible, according to a statement made here today by Cyrus H. McCormick, president of the International Harvester company. Mr. McCormick said:

"The adverse decision is a great disappointment. As I understand it it is not based on actual wrongs done in the conduct of the business of the International Harvester company, but in elimination of competition more than ten years ago between the companies whose properties were purchased by it."

"The adverse opinion acquiesces the company and its officers and directors of the charges of over-capitalization and unfair and oppressive policies and practices."

"It does not sustain the charges made in the petition of the government, but abandoned the argument that the company has charged excessive and unfair prices."

"The organization of the company is condemned by the majority of the court as a violation of the Sherman act, but the company is not found guilty of having violated the law in the conduct of its business or of having injured its customers or its competitors."

"The conclusion arrived at seems to be that the Harvester company is a good but illegal trust."

"The decision is by a divided court and the case will not be ended until the supreme court has said the last word. We still hope that the great public benefits secured by the organization of the company and methods adopted in carrying on its business will be made permanent by the final decision in the court of last resort. It may well be that that court will hold the view expressed in the dissenting opinion of Judge Sanborn."

VALIDITY OF DOG MUZZLING ATTACKED

The validity of the dog muzzling ordinance, now being enforced by the police, has been attacked by Attorney Porter J. Neff, arrested Tuesday for allowing his canine to be unmuzzled. Attorney Neff proved that the ordinance is invalid because it was passed by the council upon the vote of three members thereof, while the city charter requires that four votes are needed to give legality to any ordinance.

A special meeting of the council will probably be called to legalize the ordinance.

TWO REGIMENTS LOST

ish war office says today:

"Of the 26 German army corps the bulk has been located and it is evident that the mass of German troops is concentrated between Liege and Luxembourg."

"The number of German troops known to be on the western side of that country proves that the eastern theater of war, the Russo-German frontier, so far as Germany is concerned, is comparatively lightly guarded unless by reservists."

Austrians Annihilated

LONDON, Aug. 12, 5:45 p. m.—Another despatch from Rome to the Central News says the Corriere D'Italia publishes a telegram from the frontier stating that an Austrian cavalry brigade has been exterminated on the Austro-Russian frontier.

The Austrian cavalrymen are said to have attacked the Cosacka who were accompanied by artillery. They were unable to hold their own and tried to get back across the frontier but rain had fallen and men and horses were caught in the marshy ground and shot down until not a man remained alive.

consolidation, and were not incidental and uncertain in their effect.

"We conclude that the International Harvester company was from the beginning in violation of the first and second sections of the Sherman law, and that this condition was accentuated by the reorganization of the America company and by the subsequent acquisitions of competing plants, and that all the defendants' subsidiary companies became from time to time parties to the illegal combination, and the defendant companies are combined to monopolize a part of the interstate and foreign trade."

LELAND TO HAVE CYANIDE PLANT

William A. Burr, metallurgical engineer of this city, has been appointed manager in charge of erection and operation of the Queen ammonia, cyanide plant, three miles from Leland. The project is financed by Wisconsin capitalists.

He will retain the management of the Palmec creek cyanide plant, twenty-five miles west of this city, and which is approaching completion.

Both of these are modern plants, the former being designed to treat copper as well as gold ores. While this is not a new process, the mining world is just awakening to the fact that by its use copper and gold ore can be treated by its employment at one-fourth the cost of smelting a 70 per cent copper product being produced, known as cement copper, the gold being recovered as refined bullion.

The Queen mill is the first "all slimes" plant to be erected in southern Oregon and will have a capacity for the treatment of fifty tons of ore per day.

The Palmer creek mill is designed for the separate treatment of sands and slimes. It is strictly up to date in method, will have a capacity for the treatment of from twenty to thirty tons of ore daily and will be ready to run in about two weeks.

This work is being watched with a great deal of interest, as Mr. Burr, who has for nearly twenty years been building and operating a number of the largest modern cyanide plants of Mexico, proposes to demonstrate in a practical manner that by the intelligent employment of some of the modern hydro-metallurgical processes, large profits can be made in milling low-grade ores with comparatively small investments.

Mr. Burr will continue to make Medford his permanent residence.

AUSTRIAN AMBASSADOR TO ITALY RESIGNS

VIENNA, via London, Aug. 12.—The Austro-Hungarian ambassador to Italy Kajathen Merry de Capos-Mere, has resigned his post on the ground of ill health. Baron Karl von Macchie, departmental chief at the Austro-Hungarian office, has been appointed to succeed him temporarily.
