

Conservation of Health

Believing that educational work by the city and state is needed before the people will obey the health laws, I wish to briefly state a few facts on the subject.

Our government has an Agricultural department which goes to great expense to teach its farmers how to prevent and cure disease among their hogs, sheep and cattle, but it has no department to teach its citizens how to prevent human disease and preserve human life.

Foreign countries are far ahead of us in this respect. Germany has a National Health agency which issues such popular articles as "How to Keep Well," "How to Live Well," "The Alcohol Question in Relation to Health and Disease," "The Social Evil and its Far Reaching Consequences," etc. But Sweden must even have a better method of educating her citizens for the preservation of health; as Sweden leads the world in low death rates. France issues educational circulars on health and hygiene. We have a state board of health, with county and city health officers, but their duty does not cover the education of the public on hygiene and the preservation of health, principally because the compensation is not available that they could afford to give the time necessary for this work.

The greatest mortality of this country is among the infants, and one of the most prominent causes of this is enterocolitis or summer complaint. This being the season of the year when it is most prevalent, as County Health Officer, I would offer a few suggestions to mothers on this subject. With breast fed babies, the mother need not worry so much as long as she is comparatively careful of her own diet, not eating too much fruit and keeping her own system in a healthy condition. But it is the mother of the babe who is bottle fed, and of the young child who has the liberty of getting into the cupboard at all times and getting all the fruits and sweets they want, that must have a care. Such a mother must be scrupulously clean with the milk for the baby. It must be of good quality, from healthy stock and a clean dairy. It should be obtained from a source where it will not have to be carried any great distance before delivery. It should be kept in a clean cool place where flies or any other insects cannot reach it. There should not be any meats or old vegetables near as it is very easy for milk to absorb odors which readily taint it. The containers which milk is kept in, after being washed with soap, should be thoroughly scalded and if possible placed in the sun for several hours each day.

Of course the best way to keep baby's milk is to pasteurize it, (not sterilize it), as soon as obtaining it and then immediately cooling it by placing it on ice or in cold water. Just as much or more care is necessary in keeping baby's bottle and nipple clean and sweet. Do not, as is frequently the case, allow the bottle to sit around with a little milk in it after the baby has been using it. But before the flies crawl around over the nipple and before it gets sour, it is best to immediately rinse out the bottle and nipple with soap and warm water, then scald them and put them away in a cool place covered in a saturated solution of boric acid in water, which should be renewed daily. Before using the bottle and nipple again the boric acid water should be rinsed out with sterile or boiled water.

With the older children have a care with giving them very much meat, great quantities of fruit or excessive amounts of sweets.

When the baby or child becomes afflicted with this dreadful trouble, it is not always wise policy to try and save a dollar or so by depending on your home remedies or patent medicines and give burnt flour, senna tea, etc., until the child gets to having 16 or 18 stools in 2 hours and is passing blood and mucus. Frequently then all the doctors skill you can command cannot save the child. Better see your doctor sooner and give him a fair chance to do something for the stricken child.

I hope to be able to take up other subjects later. R. E. GOLDEN, M. D., County Health Officer.

TABLE ROCK TABLETS

Lora Gregory of Agate is binding corn for S. C. Collins.

A. L. Vincent is around getting the land owners in this precinct to sign an agreement not to allow any one to hunt on their premises without first getting the written consent of the owner, also to try and see that the game laws are not violated and in case they are to notify the nearest game warden. This action was deemed necessary on account of depredations committed by careless hunters last fall when two steers and several hogs were killed.

The boys who were hunting on Evans creek have returned and report a fine time but poor luck.

Medford Saturday visitors from this district were: A. L. Seabrook, Stanley Lydiard, R. E. Nealon, Lawrence Fitzpatrick, Jim Penland, John Nealon, Elmer Lester, R. C. Washburn, Glenn May, S. C. Collins and E. W. Carlton.

M. M. Root who is spending some time in the valley in the interest of a smokeless orchard heater was out here looking over his orchard one day last week.

The Pierce hay baling crew of Tolo began work on the Pendleton ranch Wednesday.

Almost every day we hear complaints from those who have to travel the road recently constructed by the government road crew.

Last Wednesday night the melon patch of A. L. Seabrook was raided by two different gangs who were not satisfied with what they could eat but proceeded to tear up the patch with their feet and knives. Mr. Seabrook being some pussy-foot took up the trail next morning and in a few hours had located all the guilty parties. Nothing was done however, but Mr. Seabrook announces that if those in need of melons will come in daylight and ask for them he will try and accommodate them as long as the melons last but henceforth night raiders will be handled without gloves.

The Glass threshing outfit began work here last Saturday evening, so far the grain is not yielding quite up to expectations.
The "Arrow Heads" have received copies of the play they intended to put on this summer, but owing to so many being on their summer vacation have decided to wait until about September 1, when it will be taken up and the different parts assigned.

A happy crowd composed of people from Table Rock, Central Point and Tolo, left here Tuesday morning for Crescent City. They took three wagons and six horses, one wagon being loaded down with provisions, one carrying bedding, tents, clothing, etc., while another carried horse feed. They expect to take a trip down the coast from Crescent City by boat and also if time permits will visit the Josephine county caves.
Last Sunday morning a hurry call was sent in from the Willow Springs country for fire fighters, accordingly Wait Beobe gathered up a load of would be fire fighters and in his big Chalmers headed for the fire zone, those who made the trip discovered that Wait who ordinarily is a moderate driver, when it comes to a pinch understands the big gears perfectly. All speed records were smashed, yet when we arrived the fire was under control, in fact they said it was a false alarm, but we do not consider that we lose any thing by responding to these calls for who knows but what we will be next.
Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Potts of Davis Station entertained last Friday evening in honor of their daughter, Miss Ethel, their son, Walter and nephew, Emmett Eldridge. Thirty young people from Table Rock, Agate, Central Point and Davis met at their pleasant home and spent a most enjoyable evening. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served in a bountiful manner. At a late hour the happy guests departed all voting Mr. and Mrs. Potts royal entertainers.
T. L. McBride who has suffered for many years with cancer passed away last Wednesday night at the home of his son, J. W. McBride. Mr. McBride was a pioneer of this coast having lived for a great many years at Millville, Cal., where the body was shipped for burial and where he leaves a large circle of friends. Mr. McBride is survived by two sons, T. J. McBride of Redding, Cal., and J. W. McBride of this place who were at his bedside when the end came.

AVIATORS SCATTER ROYAL WAR DECRIES

LONDON, Aug. 21, 11:40 a. m.—Adolphe Pegoud, a noted French aviator, has returned to Paris from the bayonet charges.

war zone to get a new aeroplane. According to a Paris dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company, the wings of Pegoud's old machine were riddled by ninety-seven bullets and two shells, when he made, with a military observer, a flight of 300 kilometres (186 miles) into German territory.

Pegoud could not say just where he had been except that he crossed the Rhine and blew up by means of bombs two German convoys.

Captain Fink, a military aviator, Pegoud said, had destroyed a hangar near Metz, and wrecked a Zeppelin and also destroyed one of the tube aeroplanes which were in the hangar. Aeroplanes now are playing the part in war which formerly only carrier pigeons could perform and seem to have greater possibilities than pigeons.

RUSSIA SCORNS GERMAN NOBILITY

LONDON, Aug. 21, 5:59 a. m.—A St. Petersburg dispatch to the Daily Mail says the Novoe Vremya published an account of the fight at Eydtkuhnen, East Prussia, by an eye witness, who says:
"The fighting here seemed to prove that the German army's military qualities did not justify its reputation. The men in the skrumlin lines huddled together, making excellent targets for our fire.
"The German cavalry avoided ours, retreating whenever the Russians advanced for the charge. The German infantry likewise retired before our
