

APPLE ESTIMATES NOT COMPILED IN COMMERCIAL FRUIT

Sometime ago a vigorous protest was instituted by A. P. Bateham, vice-president of the Northwestern Fruit Exchange, upon the figures given out by the government as an estimate on the northwestern apple crop for the present season.

The government report for the states of Montana, Idaho, Washington, and Oregon was 13,300,000 bushels. This, it was said by those who took exception to the figures, was almost double in reality the northwest crop. An explanation of this estimate was asked from the United States department of agriculture. In reply they have said that practically every farm is taken into consideration, no matter how great or how small the orchard and that under these circumstances an estimate of the apple production would far exceed that of the actual commercial crop.

As a matter of fact it is said that investigation of this department in recent years has indicated that approximately only 40 per cent of the total yield is commercial.

The latest estimates, as submitted by Mr. Bateham and the official reporters of the Northwestern Fruit Exchange, which brought about these comparisons, was approximately 8,000,000 for the northwest.

The department further states that instead of a crop far in excess of the 1912 crop, which was 255,220,000 bushels for the United States, the yield this year will approximate 210,000,000 bushels. While this is somewhat larger than the yield of 1913 which was 145,000,000 bushels it will be some 25,000,000 bushels less than 1912.

There remains less than 100,000,000 bushels of commercial apples to be marketed in the United States this year, according to the 40 per cent basis, and if this percentage holds goods generally, even with the war and other bug-aboos, which have been greatly featured recently, one can almost believe that things are not so bad after all.

MILLION DOLLAR MYSTERY AT THE IT

Synopsis of Preceding Episodes.

Hargreave, the millionaire, a traitor member of the "Black Hundred" dastardly escapes from their vengeance to a balloon which is wrecked at sea. One million dollars mysteriously disappears from Hargreave's safe. The "Black Hundred" are determined to get it. They fail to find it in Hargreave's home. A fiendish attempt to kidnap Florence, Hargreave's beautiful daughter, is foiled by Norton. Next, they break into a lonely warehouse at midnight, force open a safe and at that moment find themselves surrounded, all being captured except Braine, their leader, who makes a daring escape. Foiled again, they lure Florence to a top floor flat, trap her, but she thwarts them. Again they scheme; Florence despairs and Jones, alarmed, removes a tin box from its secret hiding place, steals away with it, but is pursued by Braine and a confederate. A thrilling motor boat chase ends in a complete rout of the pursuers. Jones speeding safely away and the tin box, still unopened, lying at the bottom of the sea. Desperate they next lure Florence and Jones to an old mansion, trap Florence, but, in the nick of time Norton and Jones rescue her and while Jones battles single handed with the pursuers, Florence and Norton gallop away.

Episode No. 7.—The Doom of the Auto Bandits. The battle wages more fiercely. Sharper becomes the fight of wits. The "Black Hundred" now resort to the auto bandits. Having discovered that Florence rides horseback every morning, accompanied only by her riding master, they form a new attack. Florence and the riding master ride along the river road. A fire alarm causes the riding master to flee back to his stables. Florence rides on alone. The trap has worked and after some exciting action, Florence is found in the toils of the bandits, a prisoner in a lonely hut. Norton appearing on the scene of the fire, sees the riding master return alone, fears treachery, jumps into an auto and speeds out over the river road. He traces the signs of struggling to the lonely hut—smashes in the door, fights a terrific battle with the guarding bandit and wins. They escape and the pursuit by the remaining bandits thrills with action and ends in the most remarkable auto disaster ever filmed.

ASHLAND NOTES

Anxiety over what might possibly develop into a case of hydrophobia is being caused here pending medical investigation. Last June Alvin B. Chapman, living in the Kingsbury Springs neighborhood, southeast of town, was bitten by a pup which had accidentally been kicked and was paralyzed. Later on not only the dog, but several other animals including a cow, died under suspicious circumstances. In the meantime Mr. Chapman has gone to Portland to seek medical advice. He left Wednesday evening, taking along with him the cow's head which will be submitted to an examination at the hands of pasture experts to determine if there are traces of rabies.

Quite a number of former Ashland residents, or the relatives of local parties who were marooned in Europe, have either returned or are on the way. Rev. Frank Briggs, brother of A. C. Briggs of the local fruit association, was in England at last accounts, expecting to sail September 10. He was accompanied by his family and met with some interesting experiences in Germany, notably at Dresden and Berlin. He speaks in high terms of the uniform courtesy of German officials. From Berlin he went to the Hague. Rev. S. M. Dorance, former rector of Trinity Episcopal church here, landed in Boston September 5. He came over on the Laconia of the Cunard line, and notwithstanding the vessel was painted a pronounced ultramarine hue in order to distract attention, it was halted twice on the way over by British cruisers. Over 1500 repatriated Americans were among the Laconia's passengers. Miss Bortha Case, sister of Mrs. F. D. Wagner, remains in Marseilles, southern France. She is an art student and writer, and reports conditions not far removed from the normal in that locality. Mrs. E. H. Day, aunt of Manager Newcombe of the Western Union, is supposed to have sailed home from France some time since, but has not been heard from recently. She had been traveling extensively on the continent. Rev. E. H. Hicks, former pastor of the local Baptist church, who started some two months ago, accompanied by a Lane county friend on a tour around the world, the objective point being a visit to the Holy Land, has dropped out of sight for the time being, but is supposed to be outside of the sphere of the European war zone.

Kenneth McWilliam, Margaret Patterson and Marlan Hodgson left Thursday for Corvallis to enter various courses at the State Agricultural College. Carroll Wagner has also rejoined his classes in the scientific course at the State University at Eugene.

Mrs. Wm. Patterson started for Portland Thursday, where she will pass the fall and winter months with her two daughters who reside in the vicinity of the metropolis. General Superintendent Lee, of the Pennsylvania lines, accompanied by his family and invited guests occupying a private car, passed through south Thursday evening on an extended tour which will include the Canadian Rockies, national parks, and all the principal Pacific coast resorts.

Iowans Attention. The Iowa society will hold their 1914 picnic in connection with the Industrial Fair at Gold Hill, next Saturday, September 19. Those having no conveyance may go in the 30 passenger Packard auto which will leave the Exhibit building at 9:30 a. m. Fare for the round trip 50c. Gold Hill will give us an Iowa corner and a fine time is assured. All Iowans in the valley are invited to bring one of those old time dinner baskets—lots the meats, we will all eat Free Baked Salmon. COMMITTEE.
