

NEWS FROM COUNTRY CORRESPONDENTS

ASHLAND AND VICINITY

Representatives from the leading pioneer families in this vicinity, including the Wagners, Russells, Gibbetts, Danna, Van Santa, Butters, Barrons, Nells, Watsons, Pells, Kinneys and others, attended the pioneer reunion at Jacksonville, Thursday, and speak in highest terms of their reception there. The 1915 annual gathering will be held in Ashland, date to be announced later on.

Clyde A. Malone, local manager of the Oregon-California Power Co., is in the northern portion of the county installing a sub-station in Eagle Point territory. In the meantime he has been elected captain of First company, Coast Artillery Reserve, of this city, a position for which he is eminently well qualified. Captain Malone has also seen service in the navy, having at one time been electrician on the battleship Ohio.

Prominent railway officials in Ashland Thursday were W. D. Scott, general manager of the Spokane, Portland and Seattle railway, who with associates was on the return from a trip to San Francisco; also Superintendent J. D. Brennan and party, occupying the private car "Sierra Nevada," northbound from Oakland Pier, which is Mr. Brennan's headquarters as superintendent of the Southern Pacific's western division.

Official figures from the local police department report 1166 as the number of hoboes kept tab on as passing through Ashland for the month of September. Most of them were headed southwards. They received no assistance whatever here except more or less aid in expediting their departure out of town.

Clark Bush, assistant cashier of the First National Bank, leaves Saturday for Kansas and other points. He came from the Sunflower state, and will visit old familiar spots, remaining away for two or three weeks. Mrs. Bush, who has been in the central west for several months, will return with him.

Mrs. Charles Ganieve returned Thursday from a six-week trip to the central west and east, visiting Chicago where the family formerly resided, and extending her trip as far east as Albany, N. Y.

Mrs. Hattie W. Rose, sister of Ed White, who handles miscellaneous supplies for the news service on the Southern Pacific trains, leaves today for her old home at Norwalk, Ohio. She has been keeping house for her brother here since April, 1912. Previous to her departure for old Ohio she was the guest of honor at a reception given by the Relief Corps and was presented with a souvenir spoon coupled with many expressions of good will from numerous friends.

Charles E. Kennard, wife and three children, of Alger, Ohio, arrived here Wednesday, with the intention of locating permanently. They will stay a year at least and pending the arrival of their household goods are stopping with G. W. Kennard, a brother, near Southern City limits.

Ben Sheldon, publicity manager in the Normal movement, returned here Thursday after a month's absence canvassing territory which practically included a good portion of the entire state. He comes back as optimistic as ever regarding the final outcome of the effort to re-establish the normal school here on a firm foundation.

"The Texas Steer" does not particularly refer to a round-up as one would naturally infer. It is a play, and not really a hoisterous one either being classed as a most pleasing melodrama. It will be staged after a while by the Trinity church girls club, a prominent social organization of the Episcopalians following. In its production Lynn Purdin is manager; George Watson, master of properties; and Jack Rigg, director of the ballet. Collectively this triumvirate will get up a good show.

Margaret Hise No. 22, Lady Macbeth of the World, the women's auxiliary of the Knights of the Tented Macabees, swarmed Wednesday night, the social event being almost a rival of the Rebekah reception the evening previous. There was a drill by the children, music, cards and dancing, the climax being an elaborate banquet. The workers of the hive not only invited the drones but each was privileged to bring a friend. The result was a awful buzzing for the time being in Odd Fellow's hall. The present queen bee of the hive is Mrs. Jennie Brady, known officially outside of the apiary as Lady Commander.

Another pastor has left Ashland. Rev. J. F. Hamaker, of Trinity Episcopal church, who started today for Visalia, Cal., in Tulare county. He will be the rector of St. Paul's church in that city. Mr. Hamaker is a native Pennsylvanian, and came to Ashland 11 months ago from New York City.

Following the example of Wm. Grubb, Boston Bowers will install a

G. E. Walling has traded his orchard here for property in Corvallis and he and his family left Wednesday by auto for Portland. It is with regret that Mr. Walling leaves the valley but owing to his wife's health found it necessary to seek a lower altitude. Although only being here a comparatively short time Mr. Walling has made many staunch friends in this district who have always found him to be a good neighbor and a man who attended strictly to his own business.

Tom Acklin of the Ashland Trading Co., is taking his vacation in supervising the apple pack on his "Beat-em-all" orchards west of the city. Last week when the Grand Commandery met here, W. F. These however, were no finer than Tom exhibits at the Trading company's headquarters.

E. D. Sexton, of Los Angeles, affiliated with the International Bible Students Association and identified with Pastor Russell's lecture bureau, has been in town this week, the guest of J. V. Esterline, a leader in the movement.

EAGLE POINT EAGLETS

By A. C. Howlett

The last time that I wrote for the Mail Tribune I spoke of the fine crop of fruit that A. Corbin had on his orchard, and should have added that he at that time had a large force of men and women at work picking and assorting the apples, and that on the day I was there one of Medford's big motor cars came out and commenced to haul them to the depot, and now they are loading from one to two cars a day.

I met F. M. Corlies, the foreman on the Alta Vista orchard, Tuesday, and he told me that they would not commence to pick apples for another week yet, but that they had a fine lot of them together. Frank Nichols commenced to gather his apples on Tuesday morning and has his packers at work in the old Holmes warehouse and by another week the apple picking will be under full headway, and the Pacific & Eastern railway will be able to do considerable business in that line. I hear favorable reports from most of the orchards that are on sticky land, but the showers of rain that we have occasionally interfere with the picking business, for I heard a man remark just after the last rain that his feet got so large that he could not climb the ladder.

Ed Foster of Beagle, was doing business with our merchants Tuesday. W. H. Crandall and his brother, Bert, of Los Angeles, Cal., were in town Tuesday. Bert Crandall came up from Los Angeles in his auto with his family and are now visiting with W. H. and his sisters.

Mrs. "Colonel" Roberts, who lives on Big Stick, and two of her friends were doing business in our town Tuesday.

Mrs. O. E. Nichols, formerly of this place, but now of Medford, was in our town the first of the week visiting friends and attending to business.

H. H. Lord, who is living on the George Stevens place, was in town Wednesday morning.

Messrs. Larken Reynolds and J. W. Wright and two strangers passed through our town this (Wednesday) morning on their way to the Lake Creek country to build a house for Anderson and Tommy. The Eadler boys have been hauling the lumber this week.

Mrs. S. T. Stine, daughter of Mrs. McDonald of Brownboro, and her sister, Miss Minnie McDonald, were at the Sunnyside for dinner today on their way to Medford, and Mrs. Stine expects to go on to San Francisco, Cal., to spend the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Burghman were here for dinner also, and so was J. A. Howard, who has a homestead on the Eagle Point ferry road. While Mr. Burghman was here he gave me his subscription for the Weekly Mail Tribune. He said that he wanted to get the war news.

Quite a number of our citizens are going to the Elk creek hatchery for fish since the last rains. I understand that at one time there were forty or fifty persons there securing a supply of fish.
