HANLEY RECEPTION WINS WIDE FAME

Publicity with a reverse English came from the full dress reception given by the Women's Hanley club a couple of weeks ago to Bill Hanley, progressive candidate for United States senator.

"The Line 'O Type Or Two," a column in the Chicago Tribune of October 14, sees in the published list of those present and what they wore, a wandering sprig of humor, and prints the following:

Very (From the Medford, Ore., Mail Tribune.)

Among the many noticeable gowns were: Mrs. Daggett, very stately, gray meteor.

Mrs. Charles Schieffelin, very effective chiffon, Dresden trimming.

Mrs. J. F. Reddy, very chic creation of yellow satin.

Mrs. Getchell, very effective in blue velvet and fur.

Miss Josephine Root, very demure, white chiffon.

"The Line 'O Type or Two," is the most widely read column in the world, and the Chicago Tribune reaches practically every home in the middle west.

Some of those mentioned are well known in that section. The news that an extract from the article describing the gowns worn were published in its humorous department, created what the French war office calls "a condition of unrest."

Further it was no balm of Gilead, when the list was first published in the Mail Tribune.

The agitating question at this writing is, "How did the Chicago Tribune gain possession of the article?" Nobody knows.

GERMANY LIFTS BAN ON RAW MATERIAL

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—Germany will permit the shipment of raw sugar to neutral countries. American Consul Donegan at Madgeburg, Germany, has so advised the state department. He states from 150,000 to 200,000 metric tons of raw sugar is now available and approximately 900,000 metric tons will be available later.

Mr. Donegan advises the use of American vessels for cargoes. The German beet crop, he reports, is expected to produce a minimum of 2,500,000 tons of raw sugar.

BENEFIT AT ROME FOR WAR REFUGEES

ROME, Oct. 19, 11:20 p. m.—An extraordinary performance was given in the Costanzi theater tonight for the benefit of needy emigrants who have returned to Italy. It yielded more than 100,000 lire (about $20,000). Among the singers who appeared was Enrico Caruso, not previously heard in Rome since 1903.

RED CROSS NURSE AND BRITISH OFFICER WED

LONDON, Oct. 20, 3:41 a. m.—Millicent, duchess of Sutherland, who recently went to the war zone as head of a red cross hospital and Major Percy Desmond Fitzgerald of the Eleventh Hussars, were quietly married last week at Bournemouth. The duchess has returned to her red cross work in France.

The duchess of Sutherland is the fourth daughter of the early of Rosalyn. She was married in 1884 to the Duke of Sutherland who died in 1913. She was deeply interested in social questions.

Major Fitzgerald was born in 1873 and has served in South Africa. He was decorated for distinguished service in Ladysmith and the Transvaal.

BURGESS LONGS IN RHYME FOR ROGUE VALLEY

Art Burgess, well known in this city, now with a theatrical organization in the middle west, is the most homesick man in the world. He is pining and longing for a glimpse of the Rogue River valley, Detroit, Chicago, and Omaha, with all their bright lights and gay cafes, and a peak "whose jagged crest, stabs the clear sky of the west."

Mr. Burgess has put his emotions on paper and crooped out as a poet of the class of the Lamplighter of Gold Hill. In a letter to friends in this city, the havoc of the most distressing of all longings is shown. It is not bad poetry, and is as follows:

"When you're longing for the hills, For the mountains, gray and white; When you hunger for the sight Of a peak, whose jagged crest Stabs the clear sky of the west, Well, it hurts, it hurts to know That you're broke—too broke to go.

"When your very lungs cry out For a breath of western air, Blowing cool and sharp and keen From the snow-topped ranges there; And your whole soul fairly cries For the western sun and skies— Well your eyes just mist and blur When you're broke, too broke to stir.

"Man, I'm fairly sick for home, Sick to see the hills again— Crazy peaks as white as foam, Sick for western ways and men, I'm so tired of bud and bloom, I want barrenness and room, It's hell—it's hell to know That you're broke—too broke to go."

SLEUTH'S OFFICE UNDER RAID

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—Representatives of the state's attorney's office raided today the offices of the detective bureau and seized all correspondence and documents relating to crime and criminals. This action was a part of the campaign of the state's attorney, MacLeay Hoyne, to get evidence against police officials and detectives, whom he accuses of participating in the booty of criminals.

The order for the raid was issued on authority of the grand jury, which body also demanded the presence of John J. Halpin, chief of detectives, and James H. Markham, secretary of the detective bureau.

DUTCH PRINCE SLAIN KILLED WHILE PATROLLING

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 20, via London, 5:40 p. m.—The Handelsblad has published a dispatch which declares that Prince Wolrad Frederick Waldeck-Pyrmont, half brother of Emma, dowager queen of the Netherlands, has been killed in the western theater of the war while engaged in patrolling.

Joyful Anticipation of Motherhood

There is apt to be a latent apprehension of distress to mar the complete joy of expectation. But this is quite overcome by the advice of so many women to use "Mother's Friend." This is an external application designed to soothe the muscles and to thus relieve the pressure resting on the nerves, that the natural strain upon the cords and ligaments is not accompanied by those severe pains said to cause nausea, morning sickness and many local distresses.

Many people believe that those remedies which have stood the test of time, that have been put to every trial under the varying conditions of age, weight, general health, etc., may be safely relied upon. And judging by the fact that "Mother's Friend" has been in continual use since our grandmothers' earlier years, and is known throughout the United States it may be easily inferred that it is something that women gladly recommend.

"Mother's Friend" is prepared only in our own laboratory and is sold by druggists everywhere. Ask for a bottle to-day and write for a special book for expectant mothers. Address: Bradford Regulator Co., 207 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

CHAMBERLAIN TO SPEAK WEDNESDAY EVENING AT NAT

Senator George E. Chamberlain will arrive in Medford tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock and will be taken by auto to Ashland, addressing a meeting in that city at 2 o'clock, after which he will return to this city for the address at the Nat in the evening. These two meetings from the point of attendance promise to be the largest in the history of southern Oregon. It is estimated that nearly 10,000 will hear "Our George" during his stay in this section. Some of his old pioneer friends and their families would no more miss an address by him than a meal.

Senator Chamberlain's itinerary for Thursday is as follows: Jacksonville, 10:30 o'clock Thursday; Gold Hill, 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon, and Grants Pass, Thursday evening.

WAR REVENUE BILL ADVANCES A STEP

Cabinet in Session

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—President Wilson's cabinet met today in what probably will be the last regular meeting for several weeks. After adjournment of congress most of the members will leave Washington to make campaign tours and will not return until shortly before election.

JURY DELIBERATES FATE OF GEORGE IN FOUR VERDICTS

The fate of Jim George, accused of the murder of Peter Brown, was placed in the hands of the jury this morning, after instruction of Federal Judge Wolverson gave the twelve men the choice of four verdicts to be returned, as follows, murder in the first degree, murder in the first degree without capital punishment, as provided by federal statute, second degree, and acquittal.

The final pleas in the case were made at a night session of the court Monday. Over a thousand people, a large percentage being women, packed the courtroom. Judge Webster closed for the defense. For hours he pleaded for his client. He read the evidence, he philosophized, he picked the government's case to pieces, and rose to great heights of oratory. It was a master effort. The crowded court room came to hear him talk.

District Attorney Clarence Reames closed for the government, in an address of one and one half hours. Cold logic took the place of flowery and fascinating oratory. He bared one by one the government's links in the chain of evidence, in what friends of the former Medford attorney present classed as the ablest plea ever made to a jury in southern Oregon.

Jim George the defendant throughout the arguments did not waken from the lethargy that has marked his manner since the opening of the trial. While Judge Webster was at the height of his plea he was calmly reading a clipping from a Klamath paper. He was the most disinterested party in the court room.
