

BELGIAN FRUIT FROM BATTLEFIELDS SOLD IN LONDON

PORTLAND, Or., Oct. 30.—The exportation of fruit, especially apples, is more than double the volume of last autumn. Fruit men are much surprised, and many explanations have been advanced. Among the causes is demoralization of many European orchards and the means of transportation. From its London representative the Northwestern Fruit Exchange has received the following clipping from the Yorkshire Evening Post:

"In the first week of October it is usual to see the produce markets well stocked with supplies of fruit from the low countries, namely Belgium and Holland. This week not more than 25 per cent of the usual quantity of Belgian supplies and 50 per cent of the Dutch supplies are reaching these markets.

"It is a matter of surprise, however, that any supplies from Belgium are reaching here at all. Apples and pears from Malines and Alost have doubtless been gathered by the women and the old men of Belgium with the din of war in their ears. The supplies are being sent from Ghent and loaded at the coast on to small steamers which make a more or less risky voyage across the North sea to Hull. At least three boatloads of Belgian pears, apples and onions have been landed at Hull this week, and with truth they may be offered to the public this week-end as 'fruit from the Belgian battlefields.'

"This, however, is only made possible by the enterprise of Belgian merchants, who are chartering little steamers and sending them to England under the Dutch flag. The Belgian apples and pears are good, especially the Phillip pears from Malines. These are being sold at 3d (6 cents) a pound, and apples at 2d.

'VARSITY EXTENSION LECTURE TONIGHT

Dr. Warren D. Smith, professor of geology at the University of Oregon, will lecture on "The Philippines, Our Farthest Insular Possessions," in the Medford high school at 8 o'clock tonight, Oct. 29. The lecture will be free to the public and will be under the auspices of the Medford schools, which made the request of the Extension Division of the University of Oregon for Professor Warren D. Smith.

Dr. Smith returned to the United States last summer after ten years of government service in the Philippine Islands. His work took him to every part of the Islands, so that he is able to tell of the people and of conditions of life from his own observations and experience. His lecture is illustrated with a large number of fine slides. Every body is invited.

GERMAN MENACE IDEA IS REFUTED

LONDON, Oct. 29, 3:10 a. m.—The Post publishes the text of a hitherto unpublished letter which the German emperor wrote to Lord Tweedmouth on February 2, 1908, at the time there was a scare in England at the growth of the German navy. Lord Tweedmouth then was first lord of admiralty and the revelation in the following March that Emperor William had written to him caused a great agitation in the country.

Official announcements regarding the letter were made by the German foreign office and by Chancellor von Buelow in the reichstag to the effect that the emperor's letter had made a deep impression regarding the defensive character of the German navy.

MILLION DOLLAR MYSTERY AT IT THEATER TONIGHT

Episode No. 13.—The Secret Agent From Russia. Exasperated at the failures, the Star Chamber of the "Black Hundred" in Russia sends a secret agent from that country. His arrogance and boastfulness of the success of his plan to secure Florence rile Braine and Olga. The secret agent goes about his plan. Olga tells on Florence and during Florence's absence sees a letter that makes her immediately lay plans herself. The secret agent's scheme apparently works well—he rushes into the meeting of the "Black Hundred" loudly proclaiming that he has Florence—he turns to tear the wrap from her head and finds, not Florence, but Olga!

BOOTH'S MANAGER BROTHER-IN-LAW OF ESPEE ATTORNEY

To the Editor: Mr. Booth in his last night's speech mentioned Algie Dixon as the president of the Booth-Kelly company. Mr. Dixon is a graduate of Ashland high school and is Ashland's most successful son, having by sheer ability climbed from the position of a poor orphan boy to the most important business position in all of interior Oregon. Mr. Booth missed a good opportunity of endearing himself and the Booth-Kelly to Medford people by not mentioning the fact that Algie Dixon is related to Medford's most potential son. Not only is this man the most potent and successful in business of all of Medford's sons, but also of Oregon and of all the golden west—a man who has once, it is known, visited this city since. In his early youth he ceased to herd his father's sheep over the chaparral flat where this city now stands, when the only resident here was the festive coyote and the sprightly jack rabbit. Mr. Booth missed an opportunity.

Pape's Diapepsin belongs in your home anyway. Should one of the family eat something which don't agree with them, or in case of an attack of indigestion, dyspepsia, gastritis or stomach derangement at day-time or during the night, it is handy to give the quickest, surest relief known.—Adv.

HAITIAN PRESIDENT FLEES HIS CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—President Zouave of Haiti has been obliged to quit his capital, Port au Prince and seek refuge on a Dutch vessel, according to a report to the state department today from the American legation in Haiti. Officials interpret this to mean that the rebels are in complete control of Port au Prince.

How Hawley Voted On Many Bills

On election day you voters will say who shall represent this district in congress. I want to ask you who are out against trusts, what good will it do you to have a democratic president and then send a congressman to Washington to fight him? Now get right down to brass tacks and do a little reasoning, thinking.

When a public official asks you to return him to any office, I don't care whether it is that of president of the greatest country on earth, or game warden for Clackamas county, that man should only ask it on the record he has made and you should only give it to him on that record.

Don't you know this? The man who has made good, who has done what you voters have elected him to do—who has represented you by his vote and his influence—that man has a claim on you, and I don't care what his politics are, you ought to return him and keep returning him as long as he rings true and delivers the goods.

And the same argument inverted should apply to the man who gives you the Juda Isariot double cross. Now, then, let us look at Congressman Willis Chatham Hawley of this district and see how he has represented you men who made him congressman.

Let us look at his voting record in the house of representatives, take him down the line on the important bills before congress, and see whether he voted in the interests of progressive Oregon, or whether he threw the harpoon into you.

Let us go back a couple of years ago, to March 19, 1914, to be exact, back to the time there went up a howl all over this land to take away from Czar Cannon his autocratic power, through which he practically controlled legislation.

And on this famous roll call, which would limit the speaker's power and give to the minority a voice which would be heard— Where was Hawley? He was with Cannon! He was against resolution.

And then on the resolution to remove Cannon, to declare his office vacant, that a speaker might be elected who was not deaf in the ear turned toward the people.

Where was Hawley? He voted No. He stood by the standpat zar, while sentiment of Oregon was for deposing him. And Hawley knew what this sentiment was.

Where was Hawley on the passage of the Canadian reciprocity bill, a bill that would have had the same effect as reducing the tariff, on many articles? He voted No.

On the matter of creating a tariff board, President Taft's excuse to dodge duty and favor the trusts. He voted Yes, and congress has since abolished this board of politicians.

On the admission of Arizona to statehood. You haven't forgotten this, have you? A matter with so vital a principle involved that every newspaper in the land had editorial comments on it. Taft voted this bill because it gave the Arizonian the recall of judges.

Where was Hawley on the motion to recommit this bill and eliminate the recall provision? "Not voting."

Hawley, supposed to be representing pioneer Oregon, in the recall of public officials; Hawley, posing as a "progressive"; Hawley, living under the laws of a state that provide for the recall of judges, not voting on this bill, which was a topic of discussion in nearly every man's mouth.

Did you men send him down to Washington not to vote? Did you send him there to dodge, when he hadn't sand enough to betray you? And the bill to enlarge congress from 391 to 425. You voters were against this, were you not? "Not voting."

And on the passage of the bill to put agricultural implements on the free list, a law that would have directly benefited every farmer in Oregon.

Where was Hawley? "Not voting."

Did you send Mr. Hawley down to Washington to give the trusts half a vote on this bill that would have permitted you to buy a harvester as cheap as our trusts sell them to the Canadians? Did you elect Hawley not to vote on bills that would benefit you?

And the vote to pass the farmer's free list bill over President Taft's veto, and let in the many trust-controlled articles.

Where was Hawley? He voted "Nay."

And the wool bill, to reduce the tariff on wool articles. This bill, if a law, would have reduced the price of every article from the stockings you wear to the hat on your head.

Where was Hawley? "Not voting."

Did you elect him to go down there and dodge these most important matters, the most important that ever came up in congress? Did you? Did you elect him to vote half a vote for the high-protected woolen mills of Lawrence, Mass., with its $8 per week average payroll?

And on the issue of passing this bill over President Taft's veto, after both houses of congress had passed it— Where was Hawley? "Not voting."

Wouldn't it have answered every purpose to have had Mr. Hawley stay in Salem, Oregon, during the most of the sixty-second congress and have sent his "nay" and "not voting" proxy down to the Joe Cannon diem-ples? Oregon would have gotten just as much on these tariff schedules, and would have saved twenty cents per mile for hauling a "not voting" congressman.

And then on the vote to agree to the senate amendments and pass the cotton bill— Where was Hawley? He voted "nay."

And the bill to put sugar on the free list, one of the most important and one that would have taken $100,000,000 tributes from the sugar trusts and give it to the people— Where was Hawley? "He answered present."

Did you voters send Mr. Hawley down to Washington to vote to lower sugar two cents a pound, or did you send him down there to "answer present" when this bill came up?

Wouldn't you have thought more of him if he had come out and squarely turned you down, than to have sat like a dummy when men with red blood in their veins stood up and fought?

The iron and steel bill, to reduce the duties on metal and manufactured products— Where was Hawley? He voted "Nay."

How many of these were for the interests of the voters of Oregon that Hawley voted against or refused to vote on?

Have you a list of the important matters that Mr. Hawley didn't vote on, and did vote on? How many of them were against the Cannon standpat bunch, that runs our government?

How many of them were for the interests of the beef trust, the wool trust, the steel trust, the sugar trust? How long are you going to send men down to Washington and pay them $7500 a year and twenty cents mileage to betray you?

Think these things over between now and November 3.—Oregon City Courier. Paid Adv.

AN EDITORIAL

By OSWALD WEST Governor of Oregon

OSWALD WEST

OREGON should go dry because there does not exist a single reason on earth why it should stay wet.

The war news from Europe strikes us with horror; yet this great war, with all its carnage, past, present and future, will not prove a drop in the bucket compared with the ravages which are being made through-out the land by booze.

We boast we are the greatest nation upon earth, and in our efforts to preserve this position we boast we must strive constantly to raise, or at least maintain, the standard of our citizenship, and to accomplish this end we must unceasingly fight organized greed and graft, stamp out poverty, vice and crime, protect the home and make life more pleasant for those who have been less fortunate than others. It is idle, however, to talk of progress along those lines so long as King Alcohol occupies the throne.

Who grabs the pay check from the honest workman on Saturday night and makes his wife and little ones go hungry? Mr. Booze.

Who sows the seeds of poverty and distress everywhere? Mr. Booze.

Who loads upon us most of our tax burdens? Mr. Booze.

The Wets protest against our voting the state dry because it will close Paul Wassinger's brewery and be equivalent to the confiscation of his property, but they do not tell you how the brewery was built through the ransacking of homes and the confiscation of pay checks. They do not tell you that every brick in the building represents a broken heart and the color of the building is emblematical of the blood which has dripped therefrom.

Whenever I think of the devil I think of booze, and whenever I think of booze I think of the devil, for the devil is booze and booze is hell.

Old Booze is an outlaw who has been long pursued but never subdued. At no time and under no circumstances should he be given quarter, and it is the duty of every good citizen to stand ready to sand-bag him whenever he sticks his head in sight. All Oregon will have a chance to sand-bag him on November 3, and for the Lord's sake let us make a good job of it.
