

DICKER IN VOTES STORY CONFIRMED BY AFFIDAVIT

To the Public:
There appeared in the Medford Sun Sunday morning, November 1, an article headed, "Reported Dickier in Votes False," in contradiction of a story in the Mail Tribune of Saturday, October 30, headed, "Women Spurn Dickier in Votes With Standpatters." The refutation is as follows:

"An article headed 'Women Spurn Dickier in Votes With Standpatters' appeared in yesterday's Mail Tribune. We wish to brand this false in every particular.

"MRS. E. B. HANLEY,
"BERT ANDERSON."

In justice to the readers of the Mail Tribune and all parties concerned, I desire to take oath that the story printed in the Mail Tribune was written substantially as it was told me on Main street Saturday morning about 10 o'clock by one of the principals mentioned. Also that the statement was given to me in such manner as to give it the garb of sincere truthfulness.

TEMPERANCE LEAGUE MAKES APPEAL TO VOTERS OF COUNTY

In the book sent out by the secretary of state who makes the arguments for prohibition? The citizens of Oregon representing all the people in the interest of the homes, the boys and girls, the men and women, the schools and churches, the industries and all that goes with a prosperous and growing state. No reward comes to them but the common good to all in the banishment of the saloon.

Who campaigns the state for a Dry Oregon but the citizens who receive no reward, and who are not working for selfish ends but for the common good.

Who makes the arguments for the saloon? The Oregon State Brewers Association.

Who is campaigning the counties and the state against Prohibition? The paid agents of the Brewers, Distillers, and the Saloon Syndicate. They ask selfishly for you to allow them to continue for a license bribe the destruction of men and women, the blighting of the youth of our land and the crippling of industries, and the burdening of the people with taxes.

WILL YOU VOTE FOR THE HOME OR THE SALOON? WILL YOU VOTE FOR THE CITIZENS, OR THE BREWERS? WILL YOU VOTE FOR THE COMMON GOOD, OR A SELFISH AND MIGHTY MONEY POWER, THE WHISKEY SYNDICATE?

Your answer will be given at the polls tomorrow. Vote right 322 X Yes. Be sure to vote, vote early, and give care to your ballot.

Booth Opposed to Woman's Suffrage

(From the Portland Journal.)
Another falsehood, published by the Oregonian in an effort to bolster the candidacy of R. A. Booth for the United States senate, has been nailed by Hon. B. F. Jones of Roseburg, who was a member of the house of representatives of the state legislature at the same time that Mr. Booth was a member of the state senate.

The Oregonian says that as a member of the state legislature Mr. Booth always worked for woman suffrage. Mr. Jones cites the page of the 1907 senate journal which shows that Mr. Booth voted against a resolution submitting the question of equal suffrage to the male voters of the state. He, by his vote, refused even to let the men voters of the state have a chance to vote on the question of whether they should give to the women the same suffrage rights that they possessed. In a message to The Journal, Mr. Jones says: "Under the headlines, Mr. Booth in Advocacy of National Women's Suffrage," the Oregonian of yesterday says: 'As a member of the state legislature and as a private citizen Mr. Booth always worked for and voted for the enfranchisement of women. Now that the women of Oregon enjoy the suffrage privilege, he is working with his characteristic earnestness for the enfranchisement of women in other states. He is in favor of nationwide women's suffrage.'

"Now let us see what R. A. Booth's record is on women's suffrage. At the 1907 session of the legislature I

HEART OF HARNEY IS WARM FOR HANLEY

BURNS, Or., Oct. 25.—(Special to the News.)—So far as Harney county and the big inland empire of Oregon is concerned, there is only one man running this year for the senatorship; that man is Bill Hanley.

From boyhood up Mr. Hanley has lived and worked and helped others in this great stretch of country, and though he has become prosperous and his acres reach far over the horizon, he is as beloved as when he rode the range with the boys.

Down here where the outside world hardly yet touches us; down here where the stage coach and the freight wagon are still the only means of transportation; down here where the day of the cattle king has not yet passed, and where summer heats and winter blizzards make men reliant, hardy and independent, they know Bill Hanley, and they are for him regardless of what ticket he is running on or who else may be in the race.

Hanley is one of the very few cattlemen who ever helped the settler he is one of the few land barons who ever threw open his domain to the farmer; he is one of the mighty scarce one down here who thought more of the settlers' success and the welfare of their families than he did of his longhorns or his lowland pastures.

At his own loss, Mr. Hanley for years has conducted extensive irrigation projects in the great Harney valley. He has always sought to hurry the day when cattle ranges would be no more.

A few years ago, Hanley had about all the hay in the valley. Small farmers faced the hard winter with no feed; hay soared to $20 a ton; Mr. Hanley had no more hay than he needed to bring his cattle through, but he sold hay to the smaller farmers at $10 a ton, half the market price; that was a practical charity that saved cattle and ranchers, after all these years this and similar acts are remembered, and ranchers in this valley, a valley greater than many states in area, are neglecting their fall work in volunteer for the Hanley campaign.
The Harney valley acutely knows what it needs in the way of governmental aid, and it knows that no Oregon senator has ever given this aid; the Harney valley, too, knows Bill Hanley, and it is for him from Bear Canyon to the Malheur and from Vale to the mountains.

Introduced house joint resolution No. 13, amending the constitution to provide equal suffrage. On February 8, 1907, the resolution passed the house by a vote of 31 to 21. On the 11th day of February, 1907, the said resolution came up in the senate and was defeated by a vote of 20 to 7. R. A. Booth was one of the 20 senators who voted against this resolution. See senate journal, 1907, at page 269."

G. A. R. Veteran Gives Advice

To the Editor:

More of common sense and less of partisanship seems to be the prevailing desire among the men and women who make up the greater part of our electorate. Then, I ask, why in the name of common sense should Senator George E. Chamberlain be discarded and his position filled by a new incumbent as United States senator? His supplanter might be of ever so masterful a mind, but it would take a number of years ere he could hope to wield the influence that Chamberlain now exercises.

If I remember aright, there is an unwritten law in the United States senate that new members "should be seen, not heard," the first year. More important than that is the fact of being in sympathy and touch with the dominant party in congress and with the president and his advisors. The prospects are that the party now in power will continue thus to be for at least two years longer, and I am not a democrat, either. How, then, can be achieved the magnificent results as outlined in the grandiloquent speeches and printed words by and for some would-be senators?

High Qualifications

What are Senator Chamberlain's qualifications? "Much every way," but I will give only those along non-partisan lines, that appeal most strongly to me: Because of being the best known, and for the fact that by sheer force of an indomitable will reinforced by a powerful intelligence, he has risen from the once lowly position of a then country school teacher, serving in a then small district, several miles west of Albany, his home town, for many years, to the highest gift that could be bestowed by the people of Oregon, and that in a state overwhelmingly republican. Nor was his advent like that of a meteor flashing across the sky, but by steady uplift through weary years.

Pension Matters

For several years past I have been in quite constant correspondence with him, mainly as regards pension matters, particularly as they related to the Indian war veterans of the north Pacific coast, of which organization I was grand commander. He has made good on every assurance he gave me, and so also have others of Pacific coast delegations in congress with whom I corresponded. Senator Chamberlain, however, as chairman of the senate military affairs committee and also as member of the appropriations committee, held a vantage ground that none of the other senators or representatives possessed. Measures are still on senate and house calendars, helpful to many veterans, to be passed, as I believe, he very materially helped to pass the act of May 11, 1912, making gratifying increases in the pensions of our Civil War veterans, and later very greatly helped to secure a raise to $20 per month for our Indian war veterans. I was anxious, and still am, to have the pensions of widows of such veterans increased to at least the same sum, but I was informed by Senator Miles Poindexter of Washington that this could not be done until the civil war veterans' widows' pensions were first increased, as all now share alike.

Influence With Colleagues

Naturally the principal objection to pensions or increases for civil war veterans or their widows comes from southern members. Senator Chamberlain is a southerner, and being on the committees above named and in hearty sympathy with and politically a part of the majority party in congress, he has more influence and a larger opportunity to secure increased pensions legislation than any other man in the senate.

I believe I can safely predict that if George E. Chamberlain is returned to the United States senate, within two years at farthest the civil war widows first, and then the Indian war survivors, will be granted substantial increases. If he is not returned—well, I won't make any predictions or cherish any hopes for many years.

I adjure all comrades and friends: Let the crowning act of your patriotism along these lines be to return to the United States senate George E. Chamberlain.

FOOD SOURING IN STOMACH CAUSES INDIGESTION, GAS

Wonder what upset your stomach—which portion the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Pape's Diapepsin and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear.
If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapepsin which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. Please, for your sake, don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary.—Adv.
