All communications should be in by Friday. Address society editor, or phone 82-J.

Monday, November 9th, the Medford Rose society will begin the distribution of rose cuttings to the school children of Medford. This work, which will be done annually, was last year in charge of the civic section of the Greater Medford club. From now on it will be in charge of the Rose society.

Eighteen thousand cutting were distributed last year and of these more than 70 per cent grew. The method of planting the cuttings and their after care will be explained to the children in the schools Tuesday morning by Professor F. C. Reimer of the experiment station at Talent.

The cuttings will be prepared in the two store rooms of the college building on North Grape street, just behind the Farmers & Fruit-growers Bank. The use of the rooms was kindly donated by the owner, Mr. J. B. Andrews. The tables are loaned by the Episcopal Ladies' Guild and the chairs by Mr. John Perl.

The following committee of the Rose society has the work in charge:

The work planned for the Wednesday Study club for the past year is proving very interesting. The subject last Wednesday was "Description and Travel." The program was as follows: "English Inns and Their Value to the Traveler," Mrs. Pickel; "Modes of Transportation," Mrs. Haskins; "Description of Wales and Its People," Mrs. Stearns; "The Lake Scenery," Mrs. Hutchison; "Current Events," Miss Robinson. Mrs. Palmer's little sketches of her trip to the lake country added very much to the interest of the meeting.

The regular meeting of Reames chapter will be held Wednesday evening at 7:30. Initiation work.

One of the most unique and artistic Halloween parties ever held in the city, was given Saturday night by the faculty of the Lincoln school to the entire teaching force of the city and the board of education. As the guests in ghostly attire, approached the entrance of Lincoln hall, a sheeted figure holding a jack-o' lantern was seen to be guarding it. As they ascended the steps just inside, a row of black garbed witches with flowing gray hair, stood to receive them. By those who shook hands with them the experience will be long remembered, opposite the entrance to the square hall, a fire glowed in the huge fireplace. Over it a spider was spinning its web. In another corner three witches were stirring the contents of a black cauldron, which ever and anon blazed fitfully. Soft draperies, hanging vases of flowers, grinning jack o' lanterns, black cats and flying bats, with the dim light over all, served to spread a spirit of real enchantment, and to complete the bewilderment of the unaccustomed guests. A realistic rendering of the Blue Beard tale by Witch Jacks, and a real fortune teller were among the varied entertainments of the evening.

The Women's Foreign Missionary society of the Methodist Episcopal church was entertained Friday afternoon by Mrs. I. J. Phipps and Mrs. D. E. Phipps at the home of the former, at her residence, 328 North Riverside.

Twenty-five ladies were present and a very interesting meeting was held with Mrs. J. E. Fusselman as leader. The subject for discussion was the first chapter of the new book on child life in the various countries of the world, entitled "The Child in Its Helplessness." Those who assisted in the program were Mrs. O. C. Power on "The Right of Mother and Child," Miss Rose Fielder on "Superstitions and Cruelty," Mrs. J. E. Fusselman on "The Kind of Care Given Children in Heathenlands," and two readings by Mrs. W. M. Van Scoyoc and Mrs. A. C. Hubbard.

The question "Shall We Have a Membership Contest?" was decided in the affirmative, and Mrs. O. C. Power and Mrs. W. P. Mealey were chosen leaders.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses assisted by Miss May Phipps. The meeting adjourned to meet with Mrs. A. C. Hubbard the first Friday in December.

The last regular meeting of the Greater Medford club was of unusual interest. Mrs. Merrick rendered a very comprehensive report of the state federation meeting at Eugene. Mrs. Ray Pebles read a carefully prepared paper on the explorations of Lewis and Clark, Hudson Bay company and the settling of Astoria. Mrs. Sargent gave a brief but interesting talk on some errors that have crept into the histories concerning early settlements in Oregon. Dr. Shields spoke in behalf of the Southern Oregon normal and dwelt especially on the need of specializing.

The next regular meeting will occur on November 30, promptly at 2:30 p. m. Mrs. E. R. Seely will read a paper on "Pioneer Days." Oregon, the subject under consideration this year, is proving both interesting and instructive. A number of new members have been elected to membership and the year promises much. The new year books may be secured at the library from Miss Robinson.

Among the numerous parties given during Halloween week was one at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Seely on South Oakdale, Saturday evening, given by Misses Ila Walker and Nana Seely. The rooms were beautifully decorated with autumn leaves and ghostly figures and the darkly shaded lights cast their shadows over all. Each one invited came in masquerade and fun was had guessing who the other was. After games were played and fortunes fished from the witch's cauldron, dainty refreshments were served appropriate for the occasion. Those present were: Misses Helen Brown, Catherine Sauter, Marie Myers, Helen Pierce, May Lindley, Nettie Kintley, Josephine Koppas, Vera Jermata, May Fisher, Margaret Zimmer, Isabelle Burbridge, Frances Perry, Helen Straug, Constance Vance, Phyllis Roberts, Nana Seely and Ila Walker.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Priest and Mr. Garrett Priest returned to their home in Gallon, Ohio, Wednesday after several weeks visit in Medford with relatives and friends.

Mrs. George Launsbach has returned from a two months visit in the east.

One of the most enjoyable of the many Halloween parties given in the city was the one given under the auspices of the Epworth League on Friday evening, October 30, in the tent adjoining the church. This was a regular masquerade party, and many and various were the costumes worn by the many young people who were present in their costumes. People of all nationalities were present, and made welcome; the gypsy, the negro, the Irish and even Miss Columbia herself, all met and were made welcome.

Prof. Jolo, the palmist, was present and told your fortune free of charge. Many an aching and sighing heart was thus relieved.

A prize was awarded to Mr. Glen Conwell for best costume; M. A. Berdan was consoled with the baby prize.

The tent for this occasion was tastily decorated in Halloween fashion, with jack-o-lanterns and corn-stalks, while the lucky horseshoe was in evidence. Everybody voted the committee in charge to be past masters in the art of entertaining.

The social hygiene department of the Greater Medford Club met at the home of Dr. Myrtle Lockwood Thursday afternoon to study the topic "Amusements for Boys," up to and including the high school age. Several beautiful pieces of music were rendered, after which the mothers listened to most helpful and interesting papers by Mrs. Mears and Mrs. Holmes, following by discussions. More music completed the program. This meeting proved so helpful the department has decided to repeat it Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the public library. Every mother who has boys below the high school age are urged to be present.

Miss Mildred Wicks entertained on Friday and Saturday nights of last week with slumber parties. The following guests being present: Misses Louise Daddysman, Helen Howard, Elizabeth Hill, Frances Bacon, Jeannette Patterson, Mercedes Barber, Browning Purdin, Hazel Anle, Iris Ashton, Alice Becroft, Lorraine Cowling, Grace Wilson and Laura Gates.

One of the most enjoyable meetings of the year was held by the Rebekahs Tuesday evening. The president of the assembly paid the lodge an official visit and the work was put on in the most creditable manner. Four candidates were initiated. After the regular meeting refreshments were served in the banquet room. A large number were in attendance.

Mrs. Eva Morton and daughter Marie, of Phoenix, left Saturday evening for Portland, where she will spend a few days visiting her sister, before leaving for Zillah, Wash., to join her husband, where he is in the mercantile business. Being old time residents of the valley, they have a large circle of friends who regret their departure.

The Parent-Teachers' Association of the Washington school will meet at the school house Friday, November 13, at 3 o'clock. The subject for discussion will be department work; leaders, Miss Ferguson and Mrs. Power. All mothers interested in our schools should be at the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Jenkins of Long Beach, Cal., and Mrs. H. G. Day of Minnesota are visiting relatives in Medford. Mrs. Jenkins and Mrs. Day are sisters of Mrs. J. W. Lawton and aunts of Hal Pratt of the Medford Furniture and Hardware company.

Rupert Harvey delivered a lecture on Ibsen before the Drama League Monday afternoon, that was largely attended and highly enjoyed. Mr. Harvey in his talk showed a complete mastery of the works of the great Scandinavian dramatists.

The members of the local M. C. club of this city held their weekly meeting Thursday night. After business matters were attended to refreshments were served and a lively evening was spent.

Mrs. Ruth Keisur and daughter, Miss Venita, left this week for an extended visit in the east and middle west. They expect to be absent from the city for several months.

Mrs. May Irvin of Salem, is visiting her brother Dr. E. R. Seely and family of South Oakdale.

Miss Laura Dorn spent Wednesday night in Jacksonville the guest of friends.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Chase of Seattle is visiting in the city.

Saturday evening a very unique masquerade was given by Misses Bernice Balcom, Helen Lydiard and Eva Osborne at the home of the latter. The house was tastefully arrayed in Halloween decorations, which made a charming setting for the different costumes and games of the season. Those present were: Misses Marie Seely, Virginia Carder, Marlon Palmer, Marjorie and Helen Stevens, Mabel Gould, Edna Gore, Hazel Potter and Messrs. Nolo and Robert Lindley, Leon Lawton, Howard Grover, Brian Pierce, Bernard Roberts and Myron Powell.

Mrs. Lincoln McCormack entertained at a delightful bridge tea Wednesday afternoon. Prizes were awarded at each for the highest score after which tea was served. Those present were: Mrs. Stewart Patterson, Mrs. Frank Madden, Mrs. F. H. Hopkins, Mrs. Wm. Sooy-Smith, Mrs. A. Conro Fiero, Madame Fiero, Mrs. Guy Connor, Mrs. Robert Ruhl, Mrs. George Carpenter, Mrs. Dunbar Carpenter, Mrs. Fred Lewis, Mrs. Frank Owens, Mrs. Osborne, Mrs. Geo. H. Daggett, Miss Dorothy Daggett, Mrs. Hubbard, Mrs. Burkquist, Mrs. Andrews.

Mrs. W. L. Hauby left this week for Salem, Mass., where she will remain for several weeks visiting with friends and relatives.

Mrs. Bertha Snyder has gone to southern California, where she will remain for several weeks visiting with friends and relatives.

Mrs. George Coltrin has returned to her home in Nevada after having spent the past few months visiting with relatives in Medford.

Miss Helen McDonald returned Wednesday from Portland where she spent the past three weeks visiting with friends and relatives.

Mr. Howard and Miss Florence Clark gave a short musical program for the high school students Thursday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Ruhl and daughter Roxanna returned home last Sunday from a visit to Rockford, Ill.

Mrs. George C. Ulrich and children returned last Saturday from an extended visit in the east.

Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Jenkins of Long Beach, Cal., are visiting friends and relatives in Medford.

WHO PLAYERS ARE, IN PAIR OF SIXES AT PAGE MONDAY

It has become so common in the past few years for producers on the stage to surround a single star with players of more or less mediocrity, trusting that the star alone may carry the play to success, that it comes as a pleasant surprise to have promise of a company in which all the players have been proved sufficiently good to have become leading players themselves.

This has been done in "A Pair of Sixes," by H. H. Frazee on the theory that each role of that bubbling farce of modern business complications is a "star part." Each must be played with all the fine shadings of vocal and facial expression that make true farce one of the most difficult things to present effectively.

Herbert Corthell, whose round personality flashes through the play in one of the leading male roles, is what has been called a "Broadway player," one of the favored few so well liked by metropolitan audiences that he has been able to step from one production freely, creating new stage characters and never leave New York, playing comic opera, farce or light comedy equally well.

Oscar Figman, last seen here in the principal comedy role of Emma Trentini's "The Firefly," will also be kindly remembered for his excellent work in both "Madame Sherry" and "The Merry Widow."

Orlando Daly has for the past two seasons been leading man for May Irwin in "The Widow by Proxy."

Joy or Grief? Great Question!

This brings to many minds an old and tried family remedy—an external application known as "Mother's Friend."

During the period of expectancy it is applied to the abdominal muscles and is designed to soothe the intricate network of nerves involved. In this manner it has such a splendid influence as to justify its use in all cases of coming motherhood. It has been generally recommended for years and years and those who have used it speak in highest praise of the immense relief it affords. Particularly do those knowing mothers speak of the absence of morning sickness, absence of strain on the ligaments and freedom from those many other distresses usually looked forward to with such concern.

There is no question but what "Mother's Friend" has a marked tendency to relieve the mind and this of itself in addition to the physical relief has given it a very wide popularity among women. You can obtain "Mother's Friend" at almost any drug store. It has helped a host of mothers to a complete recovery. It is prepared only by Bradford Rogelator Co., 301 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Avoid the many worthless substitutes.

A New Departure THE AUTOMATIC ELECTRIC RANGE

Prepare breakfast the night before and set automatic switch—the current will be turned on and off at any time desired.

Roasts can be left in oven and heat turned off automatically when it reaches a certain point.

This automatic feature keeps the food constantly hot and cooking until you want to serve it.

Uniformly dry baking heat is assured by a perfected process of ventilation, which expels all surplus moisture without loss of heat units and insures perfect cooking qualities.
