SOCKLESS PURVEYOR OF GOSPEL PREACHES

A sockless purveyor of the gospel held forth on Haymarket square this morning to 150 or so. Through the toe of his shoes there protruded a bare foot, and it had been months since he clamped his teeth over yellowed legged chicken, home cooked. His clothes showed the result of crawling down deep in the hay, these chilly nights, and his coffee can hung over his shoulder. About all he seemed to possess was three Bibles and an abiding faith.

The wandering pastor opened his service by reading the passage of Scripture referring to "mansions prepared on high for my children." He has no home on earth, the one beyond invites. He did not harangue about the certainty of hell, but told his hearers to be good and pay their debts and help the poor and live according to their best dictates, and they too would have a mansion in the skies. He took up no collection, contrary to good form, but if he had his sincerity would have netted him the price of a new pair of shoes and a shave.

YALE WINNER OVER PRINCETON

through a hole between Shenk and McLean for an easy touchdown. Le-gore missed the goal. Score: Yale, 19; Princeton, 0.

In Fourth Period

On the first play Yale was penalized 15 yards and Guernsey punted to the Tigers' 25-yard mark. Law came back 20 yards. He failed on a forward pass and punted to Yale's 25-yard mark. Princeton then forced a punt which Dickerman ran back 15 yards. Moore turned Yale's left for 14 yards; Glick hit right tackle for eight and Dickerman took the ball to Yale's 34-yard mark. Moore made ten yards and Brann and Stillman were rushed back into the game. They could not stop the Princeton rally. Dickerman plunked through to the 16-yard mark.

Moore tried Yale's left end, was headed off dogged back, shaking off several tacklers and scoring a touchdown. Law kicked goal. Score: Yale, 19; Princeton, 7.

Princeton kept up its attack after the kick-off. Starting from their 25 yard line Glick, Moore and Dickerman made a first down and three more tries took the ball to the center, Dickerman doing the work. Glick turned left end for five yards. Then Dickerman made first down in two attempts. Next he broke through Yale's right wing for nine more. Each side ran in numerous substitutes.

Glick made a first down on Yale's 26-yard line and added six more through left tackle. The next four plays were Dickerman's and he went two, three, four and seven yards, planting the ball on the four-yard line. Glick went to within a foot of the goal, then was pushed over for another touchdown. Law kicked the goal. Yale, 19; Princeton, 14.

Princeton was off-sides on the kick-off and Law purposely kicked short diagonally. A Princeton man caught it on Yale's forty-three yard line. With only a few minutes left Law tried two forward passes but both grounded. The game ended with Princeton holding the ball near the center of the field.

SEEK BELGIAN REFUGEES FOR LAND IN VALLEY

Steps toward securing the colonization of Belgian refugees in this valley are under way by Joe H. Brown and others. If possible, a hundred or so of the unfortunate people, who have felt the full force of the mailed fist of the kaiser in his wild dream of Germanizing the earth will be brought to this valley and placed upon small farms. Dr. Gowdy has offered to give fifty acres of land as a start, and W. N. Campbell, Dr. Page and others are considering the same course. The Imperial valley of California is taking similar action toward securing new settlers.

The Belgians are the greatest intensified farmers in the world, wasting even less ground in their growing than the Chinese. In their own crowded land they make fourteen blades of grass grow where only one grew before. The introduction of these industrious people to this valley would be the means of placing the real merits of this section before the world as a truck garden section.

Correspondence will be opened at once with the Belgian relief committee of New York in furtherance of the plan. An allotment is already on the way to settle 200 acres of desert land in Wyoming.
