ASHLAND HIGH DEFEATS MEDFORD FOOTBALL 13-0

Ashland defeated Medford 13 to 0 Saturday afternoon before the largest crowd that ever saw a football game in southern Oregon. The feature of the game was the refreshing display of school spirit shown by the victors, Medford visitors returning full of praise for this side fight. The Ashland students paraded upon the field, bearing a coffin labeled "Medford—Not Forgotten." The lid of the coffin was lifted and seven pigeons, bearing the Ashland colors, were liberated.

Fumbles cost Medford a chance for victory in the opening quarter. Once when Ashland was weakened by the fast plunging of the local backs and they were within twenty yards of a goal, a fumble lost them the ball. A couple of times a line plunge was ordered when an end run was in order, and this proved costly. In the remaining time Ashland recovered her nerve and tore off yardage with great regularity.

The Ashland team plays in this city next Saturday, and the local team then expects to retrieve its lost honors. They have the best team in their history. This week the team will be put through a rigid course of sprouts by Coach Moore. During the week there will be a couple of rallies to arouse enthusiasm.

ASK NEW TRIAL IN CANTON CASE

Motions for new trials were argued before Judge Calkins of the circuit court Monday in the cases of Major W. J. Canton, convicted of an unnatural crime, and Mrs. Fannie McNulty, convicted of forgery. In the case of Major Canton a decision was taken under advisement, and in the case of Mrs. McNulty the motion denied, and fifteen days' stay allowed pending the filing of an appeal to the supreme court.

The grounds asking for a new trial for Major Canton were insufficiency of evidence and the incompetency of the evidence of Dick Coffman, the chief witness for the state, alleging that his testimony was rehearsed and that the state statutes prohibit the testimony of a person of an unsound mind.

COMB SAGE TEA IN HAIR TO DARKEN IT

Grandma kept her locks dark, glossy, thick with a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's treatment, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage. Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the musky mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy" for about 50 cents a bottle. It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustrous appearance of abundance which is so attractive; besides, prevents dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair.
