According to A. S. Bilton, who is taking the school census of this city, there are fewer empty houses than at this time last year when he was engaged in the same work. He says that he remembers scores of houses vacant last winter, that now have occupants. One instance is in the neighborhood of the Trall Lumber company. Last winter there were few occupied houses in this district, now there are few vacant ones. Mr. Bilton, though far from having all the figures compiled is of the opinion that there has been a substantial increase in the population of Medford in the last 12 months. The school census is in progress in every district in Jackson county.
