

HAWAIIAN JAPS ANGERED WHEN AIRSHIP STOPPED

HONOLULU, T. H., Nov. 21.—For the second time a proposed flight by a Japanese aviator over Honolulu has been cancelled on orders from the United States authorities, upon the eve of the day advertised for the exhibition. The aviator was preparing to make his flight today as permission for him to do so had been cabled from Washington, but Governor Pinkham injected an executive ban last night, intimating that he did so on orders from Washington.

Coming as the second refusal did on the eve of an advertised exhibition it thoroughly exasperated the Japanese colony, which expressed its irritation through the native press.

S. Sheba, editor of the Hawaii Shinpo, published an editorial in his newspaper denouncing what he said was the implication of the refusal—namely, that the Japanese were suspected of espionage and that their friendship was not wanted in Hawaii.

TELEPHONE OFFICIAL LOOKING FOR GOATS

C. F. Cole, district traffic superintendent of the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph company, with headquarters in Eugene, has been looking over the interests of his company throughout Southern Oregon, and while in Medford has been going into matters in connection with the long distance office still maintained here.

Mr. Cole has many friends in Medford who have been perturbed over his apparent distracted condition of mind displayed on the present trip, and it has just leaked out what the disturbing elements are. Mr. Cole recently formed a partnership with an acquaintance in a business venture of some importance whereby the firm, in anticipation of the sudden rise in cost of mohair owing to the European war, secured a flock of Angora goats in preparation of supplying the deficiency in imports formerly coming from Belgium. In order to keep down expenses, and incidentally be in shape to meet competitive prices, the newly formed partnership decided to personally drive the herd of Angoras home themselves, a distance of about twenty miles. The drive proceeded without incident until an open door of a roadside farm house attracted the attention of the flock, which proceeded immediately to take possession. The entire herd of angoras filed through the house, upsetting and eating a large supply of apples, chair ties and bric-a-brac generally so dear to the aesthetic palate of the goat.

In the confusion resulting from the noise of screaming women, barking dogs and yelling farm hands, the flock scattered to the hills and adjacent mountains, and up to the present time only about half the herd has been recovered.

Mr. Cole still has hopes of recovering the whole herd before the war is over and the price of mohair goes back to normal, as his many friends throughout the state have busied themselves in advising him by wire and letter of stray goats being seen all the way from the California to the Washington state lines.

IRRIGATION MEETING AT LIBRARY TODAY

About 200 landowners of the valley are in attendance at the irrigation meeting at the public library, and much interest is being manifested. Colonel R. C. Washburn acted as chairman. Attorney A. E. Reames addressed the meeting, explaining in detail the legal phases of the district and contract system.

Landowners of the valley are meeting this afternoon at the public library to discuss irrigation and consider ways and means for securing same for use in the near future. A large attendance of influential orchardists and landholders are in attendance. A silent argument in favor of water is the fact that the rainfall for November to date is not up to normal, and the ground turned over by the fall plowing is not over-loaded with moisture.

There is a strong sentiment among landowners for irrigation, the "dry" summer converting many of its former opponents. Irrigation would make the Rogue River valley a great garden region as well as a fruit raising section. With thousands of tillable acres barren, this section is today shipping in its potatoes from California and Willamette valley points.

DUNBAR MALE QUARTETTE COMING THANKSGIVING EVE

The Dunbar Male Quartet and Bell Ringers will be here on Thanksgiving evening, November 26th. The entertainment will be in the large hall of the Natatorium.

This is the second number of the entertainment course. The date has unavoidably been changed from November 24th to November 26th. All who have season tickets will please take notice.

The Dunbars carry a peal of over 200 bells, made in Europe under their own supervision, six octaves chromatic and ranging in size from one to 25 pounds. They are unlike other bells in that they are soft and mellow in quality, and sustain their tones so long that the company has often been accused of having a small organ concealed and operated in connection with the bells.

Years of experience have resulted in such a perfect system of manipulation that such compositions as MacDowell's "To a Wild Rose"—Nevin's "Gondoliers" and Chopin's "Rain-drops" prelude are given with a grace and effect absolutely unobtainable on any other instrument.

COSTLY PRODUCTION WONDERFUL FILM

Sensation succeeds sensation in "From Molten Steel to Automobile," the wonderful film feature exhibition produced by the Maxwell Motor company, Inc., of Detroit, Michigan, and to be seen here at the Page Theater by special arrangement. Free tickets may be obtained by applying to Powell Auto Co., the local Maxwell dealer. Do not fail to witness this unique exhibition of amazing motion pictures. You will find the occasion to be thrilling, interesting and highly educational. There is no monotony; only vivid action, life, sparkle, animation, heart interest. Among other things the pictures fascinatingly show how the famous Maxwell "25" automobile is made. The enormous popularity of this car makes this phase of the entertainment particularly interesting.

SCENE FROM "SHORE ACRES" AT THE PAGE THEATER

Shore Acres at Page pleased a large audience last evening. The producers have even excelled the stage version of this beautiful play. Stevenson as the star was most ably supported. Ambushed, a three part feature was most interesting. Francis X. Bushman leading, made this feature doubly interesting. This program of two features, two stars and special musical program was very pleasing. The entire program will be repeated tonight.

GREAT CROWD AT FOOTBALL GAME

High school football enthusiasts of southern Oregon are gathering in this city today for the second game of the Ashland-Medford high school games for the football championship of southern Oregon, being played at the Jackson school grounds. One of the largest crowds in the gridiron history of southern Oregon is in attendance. A delegation of 300 rooters from Ashland, with many from out-of-town points, is in attendance. The rivalry between the two teams is intense, and is reflected in the pranks and acts of their supporters.

This morning it was not known whether Seldon Hill or Narregan of the local team would play, owing to injuries and violation of school rules. The Medford team went through a light practice last night, Coach Moore giving his charges a lecture on using the head and explaining a number of trick plays that will be sprung.

Daintily, promptly, in all the proper styles of Box, Knife and Accordion pleating, hemstitching, picotting, braiding and embroidering.

FREIGHT RATES CUT ON BAKERY GOODS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Material reductions in the freight rates on bakery goods, in less than carloads from Points in Oregon and Washington to destinations in Oregon, Washington, California, Idaho and Montana, were ordered today by the Inter-State Commerce Commission on complaint of the Portland, Oregon, chamber of commerce. Northwestern bakers and manufacturers face spirited competition from eastern shippers of similar products and the rates were held excessive.

STATE GEOGRAPHIC BOARD IN SESSION CHANGING NAMES

The first meeting of the Oregon Geographic Board ever held in Southern Oregon was in session in Medford Friday and Saturday, there being present George H. Himes of Portland, Will G. Steel of Crater Lake, and E. J. Kaiser of Ashland. Considerable business, including the correction of 19 names along the Columbia river prepared by Lewis A. McArthur, a member of the board was transacted. Other names with such data as was at hand were considered and approval deferred. Among these were the names of streams connected with the upper Des Chutes country.

The Geological Survey is compiling a large map of Oregon and this map will be submitted to the Oregon Geographic Board for observation and criticism, hence any parties interested in perfecting the names of points, waterways or any other features of the maps of Oregon are solicited to submit their materials and suggestions to members of the board. There are no funds available but the members of the board will give good attention to anything offered and will be pleased to receive any information for their records, regardless if how small it may seem.

It was the purpose of the meeting to have Southeastern Oregon represented and to recommend to Governor West the appointment of O. C. Applegate of Klamath Falls and Thomas Jones of Vale, Malheur county. This will be submitted to the other members of the board.

The Condition of the Country and the Practice of Economy

Times are good. True, they might be better, but nevertheless the entire country as a whole is prosperous. And the height of prosperity in the past will be overshadowed by the overwhelming prosperity soon to come.

But everyone should study and practice economy, whether times are good or not. We do. In purchasing our merchandise we take advantage of every possible discount, and in transferring it from our shelves to you we eliminate all unnecessary expense. Thus we save money and can quote lowest prices on our goods. You save money by purchasing them.

Everything is exactly as represented here—we offer no premium inducements which are liable to influence you to overbuy and purchase goods you do not need. Such offers defeat economy. What you buy here is worth—what you pay for it—sometimes more, but never less.

Pretty good place to do your shopping, isn't it?
