COPPER OUTPUT SHOWS DECREASE OVER YEAR AGO

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 6.—The copper production of the United States in 1914 will show a marked decrease from that of 1913, according to figures and estimates collected by R. S. Butler of the United States geological survey. Reports have been received from all plants known to produce blister copper from domestic ores and refined copper. At an average price of about 13.5 cents a pound, the 1914 output has a value of $152,400,000, compared with $189,795,000 for the 1913 output. The large decrease in production in 1914 was due to curtailment of production during the latter part of the year on account of the reduction in tonnage exported to Europe.

Smelter Production.—The figures showing smelter production from domestic ores represent the actual production of most of the companies for eleven months, and an estimate of the December output. The November figures for a few companies were not available, and these companies furnished estimates for the last two months of the year. According to the statistics and estimates received, the output of blister and Lake copper was 1,129,000,000 pounds in 1914, against 1,224,484,000 pounds in 1913.

Various Statistics

Refined Copper.—The statistics and estimates indicate that the output of refined copper from primary sources, domestic and foreign, for 1914 was 1,493,000,000 pounds, compared with 1,615,067,000 pounds in 1913.

Imports.—According to the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, the imports of pigs, ingots, bars, etc., for the first eleven months of 1914 amounted to 187,433,676 pounds, a total import of 284,782,542 pounds. This compares with an import for the twelve months of 1913 of 400,560,594 pounds.

Exports.—The exports of pigs, ingots, bars, plates, sheets, etc., for the first eleven months of 1914, as determined by the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, amounted to 780,048,777 pounds, compared with an export for the twelve months of 1913 of 926,441,142 pounds.

Domestic Consumption

At the beginning of 1914 there was about 90,000,000 pounds of refined copper in stock in the United States. This, added to the refinery production, gives a total available supply of about 1,583,000,000 pounds of refined copper. On subtracting the export from this, with an estimate for December, it is apparent that the supply available for domestic consumption is materially below the 812,000,000 pounds of 1913, without taking account of stocks held at the close of the year.

Prices.—The average price of copper for 1914 showed a decrease from that of the preceding year, being about 13.5 cents a pound, compared with 15.5 cents in 1913. After the outbreak of the European war copper sold considerable below the yearly average, but toward the close of the year the price showed notable improvement.

Leading Copper-Producing States

Arizona continued in first place among the copper-producing states, but had a notably decreased output. The blister-copper production for 1914 will probably not exceed 380,000,000 pounds, compared with 404,000,000 pounds for 1913.

The production from Montana was the smallest for many years and probably did not greatly exceed the production of 1898, which was 206,000,000 pounds, the smallest output made by the state since 1895. In 1913 Montana produced 285,700,000 pounds.

Michigan, with a production of about 160,000,000 pounds, made a slight gain over the 155,700,000 pounds produced in 1913, but was still much below the normal output for the state.

Utah will show but little change from the 148,000,000 pounds produced in 1913.

Pacific Coast States

The production from Nevada decreased from the 85,200,000 pounds in 1913, and probably will not greatly exceed 60,000,000 pounds for 1914.

New Mexico made an increased production of probably about 10,000,000 pounds over the output of 50,196,000 pounds in 1913.

California will show a decrease of several million pounds from the production of 32,492,000 pounds in 1913.

The production from Alaska will show but slight decrease from the 23,423,000 pounds produced in 1913. The output for 1914 is estimated at 20,850,000 pounds.

The production from Tennessee decreased somewhat from 19,489,000 pounds produced in 1913.
