EATON EXPOSES OREGONIAN'S EFFORT TO ELECT SELLING

PORTLAND, Jan. 8.—To get a hearing before the people of Portland denied him by the press of the city, Representative Eaton of Eugene, candidate for speaker, is delivering public addresses, in which he exposes the connection between big business, seeking legislation, the Portland Oregonian, whose editor, E. B. Piper is seeking the senatorship, and Ben Selling, whom the Oregonian is endeavoring to make speaker.

Oregonian The Dictator.

Mr. Eaton shows how the Oregonian has set itself up as a dictator in Oregon politics, has refused to give his side of the contest, and is endeavoring to force the organization of the legislature so as to gain control of state affairs.

"Mr. Piper, through the Oregonian, supported Dr. Withycombe for governor, and in spite of that handicap Withycombe was elected," continued Mr. Eaton. "This was very gratifying to Mr. Piper. Then Mr. Piper told Dr. Withycombe that he had only one small request to make of him and that was that Dr. Withycombe should appoint W. E. Burke as his private secretary.

"Dr. Withycombe refused. Then Mr. Piper threatened that if he did not make the appointment he could not have the support of the Oregonian for his administration. He still refused.

Piper Organizing House.

Mr. Eaton said that Piper had already organized the senate, assuring the election of W. Lair Thompson of Lake county as president, and when he understood he was not to have control of the executive office he immediately began to organize the house by forcing the election of Mr. Selling as speaker. He said Piper put Burke forward as campaign manager for Selling.

"The people of the state may not be concerned in my opinion of Mr. Burke, but here is an opinion that should be authoritative," said Mr. Eaton, who then read an editorial published in the Oregonian, February 1, 1895, when Burke was a member of the legislature.

Mr. Eaton showed how the Oregonian had refused him space in its columns, how its game to force the election of Selling was a game of bluff from the start, and declared that C. M. Hurlburt, who was discredited before the election by the Republican organizations in Multnomah and Clackamas counties, in which joint district he was a candidate for representative, would be seated in the house of representatives if he gives his support to Selling, and if not his seat will be contested.

HOTELS SEEK TO SUPPLY LIQUORS

PORTLAND, Jan. 8.—Believing that hotel guests are entitled to the same privileges as persons in their own homes, the hotel men desire the privilege of supplying liquor to guests. The hotel men say they do not wish to rescue the saloon and they do not want bars; they are willing to submit to rigid regulations, provided they can furnish liquor to such guests as may desire to drink.

The subject was discussed formally last night by representatives of the hotels, with the governing boards of the various civic organizations.

Discrimination against the traveling public is held to be ruinous to the legitimate hotels. As hotel men, they desire as complete regulation as can be devised for the protection of patrons and liquor would only be served with meals.

The hotel men suggest that property upon which a hotel is situated be held responsible for the observance of all regulations and that the license of the hotel be revoked when attempts are made to evade the regulations. Such a plan would operate against illegitimate hotels and will protect law abiding hotels.

RUSSIANS ARE HOPEFUL, DESPITE GRI MWARFARE

PETROGRAD, Jan. 8, via London.—Russia is celebrating Christmas today. War's shadow has failed to darken the customary Christmas spirit, which is more variously and intensely manifested in the Russian capital than elsewhere in the world.

The Christmas celebration is anything but a brief ceremony. Officially lasting three days, it is often prolonged by festivities well beyond New Years, during which time business is suspended and the stores are closed while the current is given up to one of festive season which breaks the long period of winter.

NEWS FROM COUNTRY CORRESPONDENTS

EAGLE POINT EAGLETS

By A. C. Howlett

I have noticed during the past few days that the people are discussing the possibility, probability and advisability of going into the business of raising sugar beets in Rogue River valley. Some of them of the more conscious kind say they think that it would be a fine thing for the valley if everything works O. K., but whether we can make it a success or not in this section is the question. Since I last wrote for the Mail Tribune I have, on a sly way, been noting what has been said on the subject and find that quite a number of our citizens have been not experimenting but growing the sugar beet in their gardens and some on a larger scale for stock feed and some claim that they have raised them as large as a stove pipe, six inches in diameter, while others claim that they can be raised to profit simply to feed to their cows and we all know who have had any experience with sheep that the beet is one of the best plants grown for sheep. When I call attention to the articles in the two leading papers, in the county, the Medford Mail Tribune and the Medford Sun, some of the wise acres will say, oh, that is only newspaper talk, but when it comes to talking with men who have had a practical experience of ten or fifteen years and that have made good money out of it, this should be considered positive evidence in the case, and if the company is willing to invest a half a million dollars in the venture I can't see how the farmer is taking very great risk in planting a few acres for even if the sugar plant prove to be a failure the beets can be utilized as food for stock, but there seems to be no grounds for fear as our soil will produce almost anything that we put into the ground. In concluding this part of my letter I will suggest that the authorities offer a special prize to the boy or girl who will raise say the best one hundred pounds of sugar beets to be exhibited at the school fair next fall.

Miss Hattie Riley, living near the lower Anelope bridge on the E. P.-Medford road, lost a ladies' satchel containing $27 and a gold ring with an old fashioned English W on it.

Rev. L. L. Simmons announced last Sunday night that Rev. Douglas of Grants Pass would commence a series of meetings here in the Baptist church on Monday, January 18, at 7 p. m.

Welden Sage who has been engaged with Mr. Dodge in the well boring business came in Monday morning for breakfast.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Numan of Jacksonville were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Von der Hellen last Sunday.

T. F. McCabe, one of the wide awake farmers and orchardists, who owns a farm on Rogue river about five miles above here was here for dinner Monday and took the P. & E. for Medford.

Last Sunday we had services in the Catholic church, Rev. Wm. J. Meagher officiating.

Gus Smith who has been working over in California for some time, came in and spent a few days at the Sunny Side and on Monday went out to the country.

Henry French, one of our hustling farmers, orchardists and gardeners, was in town last Monday, and while here renewed his sub to the Weekly Mail Tribune.

Gus Rosenburg, the Eagle Point well digger, gave me his sub to the Daily Mail Tribune last Monday. He wants to start the year right, so begins with reading the leading newspaper of Southern Oregon.

Green and Grant Mathews, who have farms on the routes between here and Trail were in town last Monday.

V. E. Baitson who lives on the Vatchi farm on Rogue river, was in town trying to sell some hides to our local buyer, Jake Jones, last Monday.

Wig Jack, son-in-law of our mayor, John Nichols, was doing business with our merchants last Monday.

W. H. Crandall brought in a lot of apples last Monday and traded them to Mr. Echenburg for a fine fat hog.

The mask ball proved to be a grand success I am informed. There were over a hundred tickets sold and everyone, so far as I can learn, was satisfied unless it would be that the hall is too small for the crowds that attend, there is complaint that they were so crowded that they trod on one another.

Miss Cora Crandall is the guest of Mrs. Wm. Brown at this writing.

Mrs. Thomas Cingcade was doing business last Monday with our merchants.

Word has just come Tuesday 11 o'clock a. m. that Wm. Masall little boy had his arm broken. It is not the one who was here so long getting over an operation for appendicitis, but an older one. It does seem as though their troubles do not come single.

TABLE ROCK TABLETS

With the coming of the new year business in these parts seems to be picking up. Considerable additional men have been added to nearly all the different working forces and our citizens are looking for a year of much prosperity.

Wren Byrum has returned to Star Gulch, where he is working a mining claim.

Lawrence Fitzpatrick was in Medford Wednesday interviewing a doctor in regard to a sore hand that has been causing him much trouble the past week.

J. C. Pendleton attended the telephone meeting at Central Point Tuesday.

Our school board was at Jacksonville Saturday, meeting with the county court in regard to the county school tax levy.

Seven acres of apple trees were taken out last week on the Reese ranch.

William Mayfield of Central Point purchased a bunch of cattle at the Nenlon ranch Wednesday.

Colonel Washburn was a visitor in Medford this week.

—mer Hull, foreman of the Modoc orchard, is visiting friends in Tacoma, Wash.

Professor C. E. Johnson of this place has the honor of being elected to break in the new goat at the I. O. O. F. hall at Eagle Point.

A watch party was held at the schoolhouse last Thursday night to bid farewell to the passing year and to welcome the new. At midnight the mammoth bell in solemn tones proclaimed the change, a toast was drunk to the new year, the beverage used being sweet cider.

No new cases of hog cholera have been reported and it seems that the scare is about over.

Table Rock school teachers have returned to their schools after spending the holiday vacation with home folks.

A. L. Seabrook has several teams at work leveling land and getting it in shape to irrigate.

Several of our citizens were indignant over the term of "mossback" applied to them in a recent issue of the Mail Tribune. Our people are not mossbacks by any means, but they do want to thoroughly understand a proposition before going into it. In other words, they do not buy gold bricks or cash worthless checks like they do in some places.

James Reese reports that the overcoat he thought was tolen at the Beagle dance has been returned to him.

Farmers in this section are not signing up sugar beet acreage as fast as they should, considering what it means to the valley. The two things most needed in this valley today are factories with payrolls and a cheaper way to get our products out than the one now provided by the Southern Pacific. If we can get the first they will help us get the second. The reason some are hesitating is because they can see the plain facts not overdrawn. If some one were to ask us to contract our produce for the next ten years for the actual net profit it has brought us for the last ten years, how many of us would sign up? Yet we will continue to raise these same crops. Then some of us are afraid of the extra work it would mean, yet this is the very thing we need. Many of us are taking things too easy. We should get into something like this, where we would be compelled to stick to it. Work never hurt anyone. Let's buckle up our belts another notch and take it on.

BUTTE CREEK ITEMS

Lee Farlow went to California last week to visit friends.

R. H. Bradshaw and ess Allen have rented Frank Farlow's sawmill and will begin to saw this week.

WHY?

A word to those who are coming back. Land for the past six months has been hanging at rock bottom prices. A great deal of liquidation has taken place in this time. My business alone in the last half of this year has amounted to nearly $100,000 I believe the last four or five deals I haev made represent absolutely the bottom. Land with rental value of $30 an acre will not long remain at $200 an acre. There will be no boom but land values will improve some.

Good roads, irrigation, saw-mill, box factory, cheap power, sugar beets, canning factory, good prices, satisfied customers, perfect days.
