MARTIN INDICTED BY GRAND JURY

Loris Martin, game poacher of Trail, was indicted by the grand jury Thursday afternoon on a charge of murder, the degree being left open by the inquisitorial body, in accordance with the instructions of the court. Since the abolishment of capital punishment in this state there is no first degree murder, the highest being second degree. An indictment by the grand jury alleging first degree murder by the grand jury would have left a technical opening.

Martin is accused of the slaying of Game Warden A. S. Hubbard at Trail last December, while in the performance of his duties, and has been held in the county jail awaiting trial since. His plea will be self defense, and according to jail companions he is highly hopeful of acquittal or a verdict of manslaughter in one of the lesser degrees.

The case will be one of the hardest fought in the legal annals of Jackson county when it is called upon the petit jury opens next week. Martin is represented by Attorney Evan Reames and Martin's mountaineer friends have come to his assistance. Considerable feeling is being manifested on both sides of the issue.

SHERIFF SHORTAGE REMAINS MYSTERY

But one indictment was returned by the grand jury in the delving into conditions in lodging houses in this city, and now, according to the authorities, the chief witness in the one returned has fled the coop, probably thwarting any prosecution of Mrs. Violet Stone indicted for conducting a house of ill fame on Main street, between Bartlett and Riverside avenues. The reason why more indictments were not returned was due to lack of substantial evidence.

Regarding the verbal and written application of former County Clerk W. R. Coleman, for an investigation into the $21,000 shortage in the accounts of ex-Sheriff Wilbur A. Jones as far as is concerned him (Coleman), no action one way or the other was taken, on the grounds that it would be best for all parties concerned, not to revive a mystery. Coleman asked for an investigation to clear his name of rumors circulated.

FAIL TO PROHIBIT COMPULSORY VACCINATION

SALEM, Ore., Feb. 19.—Senate bill No. 79, by Moser, to prohibit compulsory vaccination, was indefinitely postponed this morning only 11 senators voting in favor of allowing it to go to a third reading. Moser made a plea for passage, saying the law should not compel persons to submit to having poison virus injected into their systems. He read many letters from persons objecting to the present compulsory law in regard to school children. Wood said that Charles E. Ryan, referred to by Moser, is a "mighty good man, but being a Christian Scientist is naturally prejudiced against vaccination." Butler made an argument against the bill, declaring that marks on his own body are due to suffering from smallpox. Attorney Gus Newbury attended to professional matters in Jacksonville this morning.

Why the modern woman insists on Cottolene

Because Cottolene was in the van of the great movement for the improvement of food products and the bettering of household service—that is part of the reason.

Because Cottolene established its leadership as a cooking fat over a quarter of a century ago—that is part of the reason.

But, three times a day there appears on the table the best reason why the modern woman insists on

Cottolene

Cottolene cannot be excelled and never has been equaled for quality, purity, and for producing foods that are more wholesome, more digestible and more delicious.

There is an appetizing appeal in the knowledge that Cottolene is made of the highest grade of pure, fresh, ultra-refined cottonseed oil—so high a grade it is not listed on the market—combined with beef-stearine from clean, fresh, leaf beef suet.

Use Cottolene—one-third less than you would of any ordinary cooking fat—for all your shortening, frying and cake making. Your grocer will deliver a pail of Cottolene at once. Arrange for him to deliver a regular supply.
