MEDFORD LIQUOR CASES ON TRIAL

The first of the Medford liquor cases, hanging fire in the courts for two years, will be called in the circuit court this afternoon. The defendants are J. H. Bell and Jack Sheridan of the Nash Hotel company charged with selling liquor to minors. Similar charges are filed against nine other Medford saloon owners.

The action was first brought two years ago when an Ashland youth under age, but representing himself as above 21 years, purchased liquor at nine Medford bars. Afterward indictments were returned.

Ed G. Brown of this city was first put on trial, and through his attorney raised the issue that an employer was not responsible for the act of his employee, and that any violation of the law was made without his sanction. The case was appealed to the supreme court, that body recently holding that a saloonkeeper was responsible for the acts of his agent.

JURY LIKELY TO DISAGREE AGAIN IN TOFT TRIAL

The jury in the trial of Ray Toft charged with perjury had failed to reach a verdict up to 2:30 o'clock this afternoon after five hours deliberation, with little prospect of an agreement. A jury disagreed at the first trial. The final instructions of the court were given at 10 o'clock this morning. The penalty for perjury under the state law is an indeterminate sentence of from three to 15 years. The case is attracting unusual interest, the defendant being well known in this city and throughout the valley.

Toft was the principal witness in his own behalf Tuesday afternoon, and charged that he was a victim of a conspiracy. He said that Officer Crawford, who arrested him was his worst enemy, and that he had threatened to arrest him as a result of a business quarrel. Toft did not tell of this animosity at the first trial last fall, and said that it had slipped his mind when interrogated upon this point. Officer Crawford took the stand, and said that he knew nothing of any bitter feeling between him and Toft.

The chief feature of the day was the variance in the testimony given by Toft at the trial last September, and yesterday. On some of the most important details there is a wide difference.

Toft is charged with having committed perjury, when in a trial in the justice court, he swore he did not have possession of stolen goods and the police afterwards found them in his building.

John S. Orth, R. A. Holmes, T. W. Miles, Bert Anderson, Bert Thierolf and Oris Crawford appeared as character witnesses for Toft.

The jury hearing the evidence is composed of A. W. Beebe, B. M. Clute, George Lyman, W. Vogel, John Mitchell, E. E. Cotterill, W. I. McIntyre, J. E. Barkdull, H. Chandler Egan, C. S. Newhall, Earl R. Strahan and W. L. Van Martin.

FINAL TRIBUTE TO LATE C. C. BECKMAN

Interment will be in Jacksonville cemetery. The body will lie in state at the Masonic hall from 12 noon to 2:00 o'clock.

Out of respect to the memory of the departed pioneer Medford banks will close at 2:00 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Medford Masons will attend the funeral in a body, going in a special train from this city.

The family has received scores of condolences by mail and telegraph from all over the state.

JACKSONVILLE SCHOOLS ARE ORDERED CLOSED

Jacksonville public schools were ordered closed today on account of a case of smallpox, one of the Coffman children, on order of County Health Officer Golden. The patient, a boy about 10 years of age, has been complaining for several days, and running around the streets, but not going to school. The restaurant run by the boy's mother has been quarantined. The infection is supposed to have been transmitted from Gold Hill, where the sick boy's brother has been a sufferer from "Manila itch," as the disease is locally termed, which is pronounced a light form of smallpox.

PIUTE OUTLAW STILL AT LARGE; SIX NOW DEAD

DURANGO, Colo., Feb. 24.—Tse-Ne-Gat (Everett Hatch), the Piute Indian, whose efforts to elude arrest by federal officers on the charge of murder, have since Sunday resulted in the death of five Indians and a member of United States Marshal Nebeker's posse, was still at large today, according to reports from Bluff, Utah.

Marshal Nebeker and the majority of his force were reported entrenched in the rocks west of that place and the fugitive Indian, with his father, "Old Polk," and their band of renegade Piutes, who have been aiding them in their fight with the government officers, were believed to be somewhere in the vicinity of Butler, Wash., about eight miles west of Bluff.

Scouts have been sent out by Marshal Nebeker in an effort to find the Indians, and according to reports from Bluff the veteran Indian fighter has expressed a determination to apprehend every member of the band, the number of which is estimated at from fifty to one hundred.

Miss Bertha H. Welsh, formerly head of the domestic science department of the high school, and John Phil Gallagher were married at Caro, Mich., last Thursday, and marked the final chapter in a romance which began when the bride offered to the groom, acting as agent for the E. P. Dutton company of New York, some of the dainty edibles prepared under her direction in the culinary department. City School Superintendent U. S. Collins praised the cooking of his domestic science teacher, and to prove it, introduced Mr. Gallagher.

The ceremony was performed in the Episcopal church at Caro, the Rev. William Gallagher, father of the groom, officiating. The couple are on a honeymoon trip through the east. The groom has charge of the educational department of the E. P. Dutton company, with headquarters in Chicago, where they will make their future home.

RUSSIANS FORCE AUSTRIANS BACK INTO CZERNOWITZ

LONDON, Feb. 24.—Austrian troops and artillery have evacuated the positions they occupied on the Bukovina frontier across the Pruth river from Marnornita, Russia, says a dispatch to the Daily Mail from Marnornita, dated Monday. The retreating forces are said to have moved back to Czernowitz because of the accurate Russian artillery fire.

The Austrians fear, the Mail's correspondent says, is that the Russians are preparing a new offensive in the direction of Czernowitz, and there are no signs of an attempt by the Austrians to make a further advance. The roads are deep in slush and mud because of a thaw.

Marnornita is situated almost at the point of the frontier where Rumania joins those of Galicia, Bukovina and Podolia, a government of Southern Russia.

GERMANS STRIVE FOR CAPTURE OF FORTS IN POLAND

PETROGRAD, via London, Feb. 24.—Officers of the Russian general staff believe that the German plan of operations in northern Poland is to concentrate attention upon the Russian fortresses along the rivers Niemen and Bobr, and with their left wing safely established on Russian territory to make a general southerly movement, meeting the Austro-German forces advancing northward from the Carpathians and acquiring a large section of Poland in addition to that under their control.

The success of this movement is dependent upon the ability to capture the line of fortresses of which Ostrowetz is the first to be singled out. The latest communication from the Russian general staff indicates that the Germans have achieved no success in this initial attempt.
