

ASHLAND AND VICINITY

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Root returned home Wednesday after a month's vacation amid the pleasure centers of California, notably the exposition cities of San Diego and San Francisco.

Miss Mary Young, daughter of Joshua Young, arrived home Wednesday after over a year's absence in attendance upon the leading music schools of the central west.

Mrs. Julia McQuilkin, electrical masseuse, has vacated offices in the Payne block and transferred her practice to Grants Pass.

Herbert K. Hall of Portland is here for an indefinite stay with his father, Rasmus Hall, trying the virtues of lithia water for an obstinate case of chronic rheumatism, with which he has been afflicted for over five years.

Funeral services of Mrs. G. N. Bruce, who died on Tuesday, were held at the residence of George Robinson on Laurel street, Wednesday, interment being in Talent cemetery.

H. S. Palmerice, recently of the clerical force at the Ashland Trading company's store, has joined the postoffice force, having just taken the civil service exams.

Earl Veghte, architect of Klamath Falls, arrived early in the week for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Veghte.

Mrs. Ida Hill of Hill, Cal., returned Wednesday after a visit with her brother, Clarence Lane, of this city, and with friends in Rogue River.

E. L. Maxwell, representing the Buckstaff company of Oshkosh, Wis., manufacturers of undertakers' supplies, and traveling throughout territory extending from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast, was interviewing local firms Thursday.

Miss Bertha Case, sister of Mrs. F. D. Wagner, who for years past has been an art student in Europe, and who has combined with this work the duties of correspondent for a syndicate of American and British papers, writes from Paris recently of interesting events throughout the war zone, notably from the standpoint of the allies.

Mr. Doughterty, representing the Raleigh Medication Company, was selling his wares through here Tuesday.

Miss Helen Lydiard spent Saturday and Sunday with home folks.

Mr. Pence and family of Central Point were visitors at the Caton home last Saturday.

Wren Byrum has returned to the mines in the Applegate district.

Mr. Doughterty, representing the Raleigh Medication Company, was selling his wares through here Tuesday.

Miss Helen Lydiard spent Saturday and Sunday with home folks.

Oliver Pendland who is farming near Talent spent the week end here with his family.

Miss Rose and Miss Mae Nealon returned home from their schools Friday evening and took part in the entertainment Saturday night.

The majority of our farmers have been busy with the spring seeding. While conditions now would point to an even dryer season than last, let us remember that we positively can not judge one season by another in this valley.

Will Atkins of Agate married a while in Table Rock Sunday on the way to the Meadows.

Glen May has taken charge of the Root orchard and will have as his assistant Lawrence Fitzpatrick.

The Jones family, who have occupied the house on the M. M. Root ranch for the last two years, have moved to Medford where Mr. Jones owns property.

The human collar bone with the arrow head embedded in it, plowed out at the Modoc orchard a short time ago, is a given reminder of some of the perils besetting the early settlers in this country whom some are pleased to call "moss backs."

Our orchardists are making preparations to begin the annual spraying of trees for the scale.

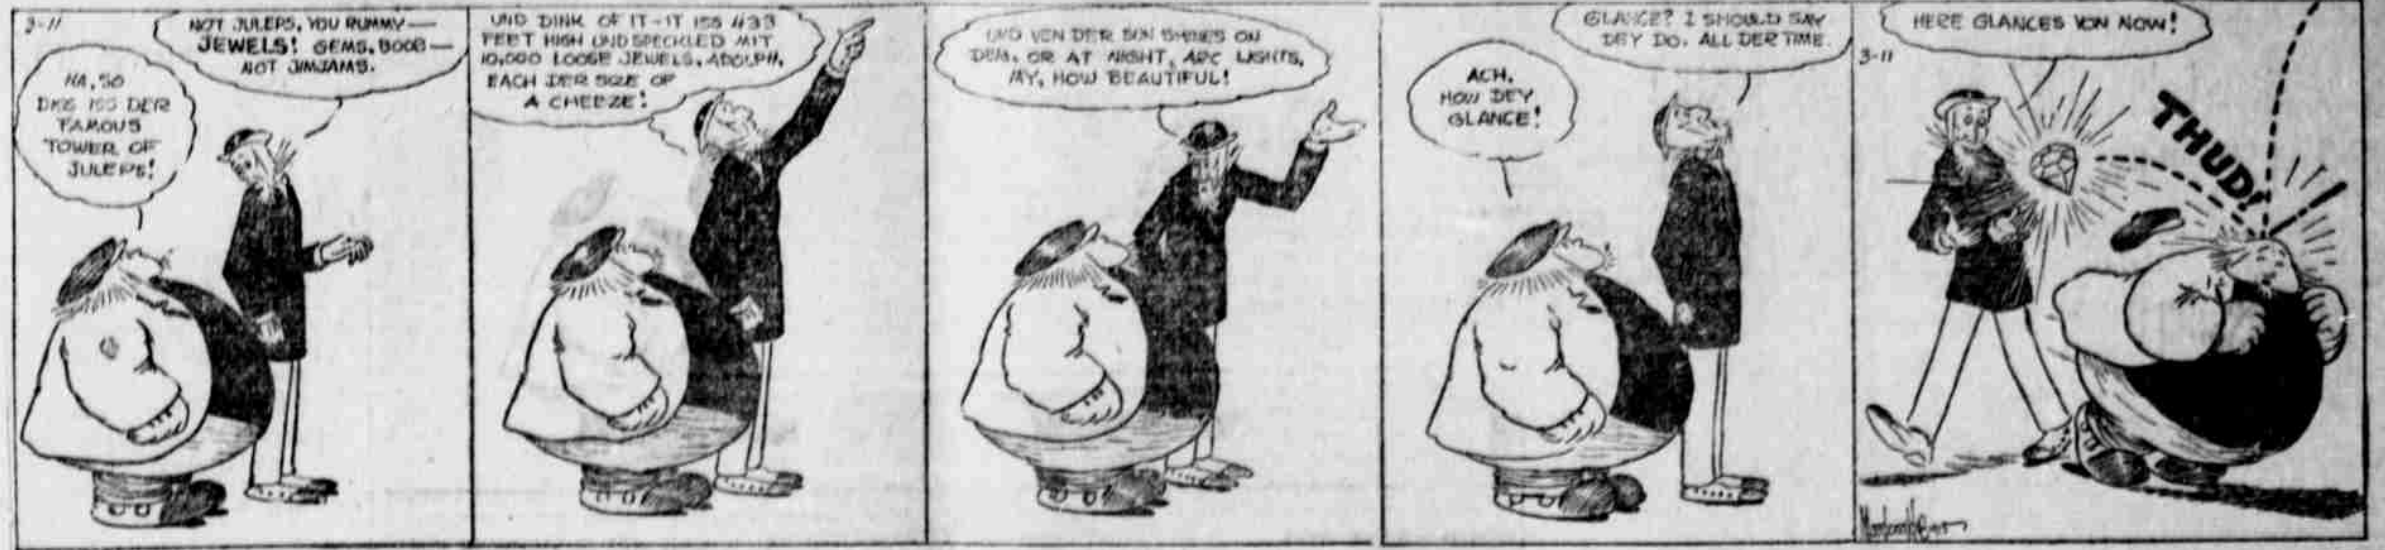

Mr. Merrill, who has been sick for some time has recovered sufficiently to be about his work again and has resumed work on the Lydiard house.

Mr. Waters and family of the Medford paint store, motored out to the Seabrook home Sunday, where they spent the day.

The Modoc orchard has installed a dripping tank for hogs which is probably second to none in the State. They have also installed, for protection against fire, a pipe line from their reservoir on the hill that passes in a few rods of every building on the ranch and wherever it is necessary, hydrants have been installed. A hose cart with 200 feet of hose and a volunteer fire company among the ranch boys completes their fire department.

This week will about finish seeding at the Modoc orchard where several hundred acres of grain have been put in fine shape. All the other work on the ranch seems to be much farther along than generally at this time of the year. Mr. Hall, the foreman, though quiet and unassuming in speech and manner, seems to have the punch to him just the same.

The play "What Happened to Jones," given by members of the Arrow Head Literary Society last Saturday night was well attended despite the fact that entertainments were held in nearly all the surrounding districts the same night and the stormy weather.

There were people present from nearly every precinct in the county and if their applause can be taken as any indication, they appreciated the entertainment immensely.

The many parts were well carried out, each one seeming to try to outdo the other. The "Arrow Heads" are to be congratulated on the success of this play as it is one of the most extensive ever attempted outside of the cities and shows beyond a doubt that they can handle anything they set their heads to.

Clarence L. Hughes of Hornbrook, who was brought here early in the week, critically ill, died March 2. Undertaker Stock accompanied the remains to Hornbrook, where the funeral was held March 5. "Cal" was for years foreman of the Southern Pacific roundhouse at Hornbrook and was deservedly popular with a wide circle of intimate friends.

Miss Mamie Holmes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Holmes, was married at the parental residence on Wednesday to Rowland S. McClure of Lome, Or., the ceremony being performed by Rev. A. R. Blackstone of the Baptist church. The bride is a graduate of the philosophical course at McMinnville college. The couple left for The Dalles Wednesday afternoon, where the groom is a member of the firm of McClure Bros., bond salesmen.

Mr. Fred Collins and Miss Nellie Collins of Jacksonville, who have been spending several days here with relatives, have returned home.

Stanley Lydiard took a load of onions to the Ashland market last week.

Mr. Pence and family of Central Point were visitors at the Caton home last Saturday.

Wren Byrum has returned to the mines in the Applegate district.

Mr. Doughterty, representing the Raleigh Medication Company, was selling his wares through here Tuesday.
